SENATE CONFIRMS DEAN ACHESON

House Vote On Minimum Wage Hike Due Soon

Extension Of GOP Anti-Inflation Law Proposed By Spence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Democrats pulled open the throttle today for swift House action on a bill to raise the statutory minimum wage from 40 cents an hour to 75 cents.

Rep. McCormack, of Massachusetts, the Democratic leader, told the House he hopes to get a vote on the measure next week. The increase is one of the basic points in President Truman's economic program.

Other developments came fast today as Congress tried to clear away its pending business for the inaugural whoop-la Thursday:

1. The Senate bucked over the administration's traces and killed a bill to exempt tickets to the inaugural parade and ball from federal amusement taxes. The deciding vote was 47 to 44. The House already had approved the measure.

2. Chairman Spence, of the House Banking Committee, introduced legislation calling for a seven-months extension of the voluntary agreement anti - inflation controls made law by the Republican controlled 80th Congress. He also introduced a bill to extend export controls until June 30, 1951. Both laws now are scheduled to expire February 28.

Acheson Confirmed

3. By a vote of 83 to 6, the Senate confirmed Dean Acheson as Secretary of State, to succeed Gen. George C. Marshall who resigned because of poor health.

4. The Air Force asked Congress for $200,000,000 to enable it to set up a testing range for rockets expected to travel more than 150 miles horizontally.

5. A crowd, estimated by police at 2,000, swarmed to the Capitol to button-hole congressmen for civil rights legislation and to protest the trial of 12 Communist Party leaders in New York. An organization called the Civil Rights Congress sponsored the movement, which it billed as a "freedom crusade." The Justice Department has labeled the Civil Rights Congress a subversive organization.

In urging quick action on the bill to raise minimum wages, McCormack said the Labor Committee should be able to clear the measure with not more than one day's hearings. Republican Leader Martin (Mass.) said, however, that "a bill of this magnitude" should have careful consideration in committee.

The wage rate would apply to most businesses dealing in goods or services which cross state lines.

Education Bill Near Top

The Senate Labor Committee appeared inclined to give top priority to bills authorizing federal aid to education and establishing a national science foundation. After that comes the minimum wage measure, according to present timetables.

Rep. Spence explained that the reason for the proposed extension of the GOP-sponsored voluntary-agreements anti-inflation act was to give Congress time to study President Truman's broader program. Under the law, industries (such as steel) are allowed to make agreements for the allocation of materials in short supply.

The export control law lets the government say what can be shipped out of this country.

The state's refusal to sanction tax exemption for tickets in inauguration festivities was the administration's first set-back in the new Congress. Republicans led the assault on the bill, and got some Democratic help in the voting.

Midwest Lashed By Winter Storms

[By The Associated Press]

Winter slammed the weather-groggy midcontinent with a new flurry of crippling punches Tuesday.

The heaviest snow and sleet and worst cold of the winter lashed parts of the area. In some sections, the triple assault threatened to make winter's previous efforts seem like little more than a dress rehearsal.

Snow piled up at an inch an hour rate in Kansas City, stalling traffic, closing schools and forcing some business houses to shut down. Kansas City was under a seven-inch blanket by noon and another five inches was forecast.

"This as bad a storm as we ever had in this section of the country at any time," said J. R. Lloyd, district weather forecaster.

The snow was general through the midlands. The sneak storm dumped deep snow on parts of Southeast Nebraska, Northeast Kansas, Northwest Missouri, and into Oklahoma.

Winds of 25 to 35 miles an hour over the area were expected to whip the snow into deep drifts.

Blizzard conditions developed in Western and Northern Nebraska and into the Texas panhandle.

Forecasters said 12 to 15 inches of snow may cover Northwest Missouri and Northeast Kansas by Wednesday. A five-inch blanket was predicted for Chicago before the cold wave moves in.

Meanwhile, a sleet storm, spearheading a bitter cold wave, spread a sea of ice from Texas northeastward to Central Illinois and Indiana.

Veteran Speed Flier Uninjured In Plane Crash

NEW BERN, N. C., Jan. 18 (AP)—Al Williams, veteran speed flier from Pittsburgh, Pa., crashed his converted Navy fighter plane here today but walked away from the burning ship unhurt.

Williams blamed the crash on a landing gear failure, adding that either his left wheel "failed to come down" of collapsed when the F8F Bearcat hit the runway.

Observers said the plane slumped to a belly gasoline tank which ignited and burned as the plane streaked down the runway. Williams got out without a scratch but the plane was a total loss.

Chinese Capital Likely To Become Second 'Tientsin'

Defenses Are Found "Exceedingly Weak"

NANKING, Jan. 18 (AP)—Observers said today Nanking may become another "Tientsin"—a prey to artillery fire and encirclement.

They watched the hasty defense preparations around the capital and found the m"exceedingly weak."

(From besieged Peiping, AP Correspondent Spencer Moosa reported that a delegation of prominent citizens is behind Communist lines trying to make peace.

(The delegation was expected to return to the city sometime Wednesday—probably with a Red demand for Peiping's outright surrender.)

Gen. Tang En-Po, charged with defending the capital, is willing to fight. But observers note he has little left to fight with—even for a holding action.

He is believed to have 150,000 men to guard the Yangtze River line. The Reds can throw at him twice that number of men, mostly veterans fresh from wiping out some of Chiang Kai-Shek's best troops on the Suchow front.

Government Offices May Move

As if to underscore the gravity of Nanking's plight, diplomatic sources heard they would be notified soon that government offices were being dispersed as a safety measure.

The notification is expected to say that the Foreign Office itself is being moved south, probably to Canton, one informed source said.

Diplomatic sources said it was unlikely there would be an announcement in Nanking of the move. They expect it to come in the form of notifications to each ambassador. The notifications are now being prepared, Foreign Office informants said.

Most foreign embassies already have decided—since the move has been in the wind for weeks—to reply that because of physical difficulties of moving at this late hour they will remain in Nanking.

Chiang's Plans Unknown

They may yet, however, receive contrary instructions from their capitals. In that case they then would follow the Foreign Office or President Chiang Kai-Shek southward.

One official emphasized the dispersal of the government would not necessarily mean the capital was being moved. The capital will remain at Nanking as long as Chiang is here.

There is no sign from Chiang as to what he will do.

His forces north of the Yangtze, however, are still pulling back to the south to escape possible entrapment.

Nationalist troops pouring into Nanking were seizing both foreign and Chinese properties for billets. Various embassies, including the American, are protesting such seizures.

Truman Asks Cooperation

MYSTERY DEATH FIGURES-- Mrs. Thelma Griffin (left), waitress, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Whiddon, tavern operators, were with Grenville Baker, New York banking family heir, the night he died of a puzzling pistol wound in the head. Tallahassee, Fla., officers are not holding the trio but paraffine casts of their hands have been sent to the FBI in Washington, along with the pistol, to determine if any of them had fired a gun recently. Inaugural Festivity Launched

Senate Votes Not To Exempt Tickets From Federal Tax

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—President Truman rang up the curtain on the super-colossal inauguration festivities tonight with a pep talk asking cooperation in putting through his legislative program and attaining world peace.

"I'm Just Wild About Harry," played a band as the President appeared in the Mayflower Hotel, where 2,500 high officials and others attended a $15-a-plate dinner of the Truman-Barkley Club.

It was the same ballroom in which, nearly a year ago, Mr. Truman told a dinner of young Democrats: "There'll be another Democrat in the White House during the next four years and you are looking at him."

Few believed that prediction then; but Washington tonight wore the air of a mammoth carnival in tribute to the man who made the political miracle come true.

Mr. Truman appealed to the assembled Democrats, to Congress and to the people at large to cooperate with him. He said he and Vice-President-elect Barkley face a tremendous burden.

Need Help With Burden

"We are going to assume that burden," he said, "and we are going to do our best to carry out the things that are necessary to meet the situation with which we are faced, in his country and in the world.

"But, we can't do that unless you, and the Congress, and the people of these United States get behind us and help us carry out those principles that are necessary to get the thing done, to get the peace in this world that we need and that we are going to have."

He also called on the Truman-Barkley Club to continue active in to the 1950 campaign because "we don't want to elect another 80th Congress."

The weatherman pledged reasonable cooperation in the inauguration ceremonies on Thursday, but the Senate threw a financial monkey wrench.

The forecast, for the hour when President is sworn into his present job at better pay, is for wind, clouds and chill. No rain or snow.

But the Senate atmosphere was frigid as it voted, 47 to 44, against exempting tickets to inaugural events from the 20 per cent federal tax. It was the first administration defeat in the new Democratic Congress.

Tickets Sold Tax-Free

The tickets have been sold out, with no tax collected. It was guessed unofficially that the tax on parade, inaugural ball and other tickets might be $60,000.

324-FOOT SUPER-BLIMP ORDERED BY U. S. NAVY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Navy has ordered the world's largest blimp for patrol work along with 136 planes, nine helicopters and other equipment.

This was disclosed today in response to questions about distribution of about $80,000,000 recently approved for aviation purchases by President Truman.

Navy officials said the blimp, which will cost $3,388,000, will be 324 feet long and 71 feet wide, with an 87-foot double-deck control car.

The airship will be twice the size of those used on anti-submarine patrol during the war, but only about one-seventh as large as the dirigibles Akron and Macon which were destroyed in crash-landings. The new blimp will be built by Goodyear Aircraft at Akron, Ohio.

The Navy withheld information on some new planes in the program on the ground that details are secret.

Battling Harry, Health Excellent, Weighs In At 174

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Battling Harry Truman today weighed in for the inauguration Thursday at 174 pounds, in "tip-top shape."

Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, personal physician to the President, told reporters today that Mr. Truman is "in a better state of health and mind than at any time in the past year."

His heft is a little over his "ideal" weight of 165 to 170, Graham said, but isn't up to his past top of 179.

"It's difficult to confine him to reasonable working hours, and he sees too many callers," the physician complained.

Communist Party Chieftain Will Be Tried Separately

Delay In Trial Of 11 Other Reds Refused

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—William Z. Foster, aging and ailing head of American Communists, will be tried on conspiracy charges separately from 11 other indicted party leaders, a federal judge ruled today.

At the same time Judge Harold R. Medina denied applications for a postponement of the trial of the 11 others, members of the party's national board.

Defense attorneys asked delays ranging from 15 to 90 days, contending they had not had enough time to prepare their case.

"I will not only not grant a 15-day or 30-day continuance," Medina said, "I will not grant any continuance."

Before he heard arguments on the postponement Medina sent home a panel of 525 prospective jurors and directed them not to report back until Thursday morning.

Later defense counsel applied to Chief Federal Judge John C. Knox to hear their petition that a judge not of the Southern Federal District of New York sit to hear their challenge of the federal jury system and the way of picking panels in the district.

The defense counsel said the Communist Party filed affidavits charging that the jury system in the Southern District "systematically excludes the poor, negroes, Jews, women and members of minority parties."

Defense counsel were granted 10 minutes to go see Knox. The attorneys however, did not get in to see him.

Medina called them back into the courtroom after the 10-minute recess and said Knox had refused to consider the motion.

All 12 Communist leaders are charged with working for the forcible overthrow of the government. Their trial opened yesterday. They are all free on $5,000 bail. They face 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine each, if convicted.

The severance of Foster's case was granted by Medina on request of United States Attorney John F. X. McGohey, who also asked that the trial of the others proceed.

McGohey had indicated yesterday he would ask for a separate trial for Foster, 67, when the latter failed to appear in court along with the other defendants. Foster is suffering from a heart ailment.

When McGohey entered his motions today, defense counsel immediately launched a bitter attack against them. They contended the government was acting in "unseemly" haste in asking for separate trials.

George W. Crockett, Jr., one of the defense attorneys, said Foster was "absoltely indispensible" to the defense of the other 11.

"He has a fund of information as national chairman of the Communist Party that no one else can have," Crockett said.

Seven Die In Collision

COALINGA, Calif., Jan. 18 (AP)—Seven persons were killed and four other injured today when two trucks collided at an intersection five miles east of Coalinga.

Police Patrolman Jack Carkington said one truck carried about 10 persons believed members of a family of Mexican cotton pickers.

The driver of the other truck was killed.

Lawyer Given Nation's No. 1 Diplomatic Job

Six GOP Senators Oppose; May Take Oath Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Dean Acheson, 55-year-old lawyer-diplomat, won Senate confirmation at the new Secretary of State by an overwhelming 83 to 6 vote today.

Before the vote, Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) served notice that confirmation does not necessarily mean approval of future developments in administration foreign policy. He praised Acheson, but said President Truman's foreign policies may be "impromptu and unpredicted."

But Chairman Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, hailed the vote as a "ratification of our foreign policy of firmness and vigor." He called Acheson eminently qualified to handle the "gigantic" duties of the nation's No. 1 diplomatic post.

Acheson is expected to be sworn in Thursday or Friday as the fifth Secretary of State the nation has had in five years. He succeeds ailing Gen. George C. Marshall, who resigned following a serious operation.

Six Republicans cast the only votes against Acheson. They were Sen. Bridges (N. H.), Capehart (Ind.), Jenner (Ind.), Knowland (Calif.), Langer (N. D.) and Wherry (Neb.).

Wherry told his colleagues he was going to vote against confirmation because, he said, "it is common knowledge that Mr. Acheson has been an appeaser of Russia."

Many Republicans Shift

Other Republicans who had been lukewarm toward President Truman's choice for the all-important diplomatic role had apparently changed their minds, however, in the light of Acheson's own testimony last week.

In public and secret sessions of the Senate Foreign Committee, Acheson had vigorously denied that he was an "appeaser" and had blasted Communism as "fatal" to a free society and to human rights.

Vandenberg said he is convinced that Acheson will pursue "whatever policies are directed by the President of the United States." Then he told the Senate that it cannot—through action on an appointment—"control foreign policy."

"Therefore," he said, "it should be made wholly obvious that we do not underwrite results in terms of foreign policy which will flow from our confirmation of this or any other nominee."

In dealing with contentions that Acheson might be "a softie toward Communism," Vandenberg quoted Acheson's own testimony given to senators last week. At that time, Acheson declared:

"The things I read about myself as an appeaser are so incredible that it is difficult for me to believe that even disinterested malevolence could think them up."

"Knows How To Resign"

Vandenberg went on to praise Acheson's "long and distinguished" career in public service and said he has always found him "reliable," helpful, cooperative and trustworthy." Thus, he said, Acheson is entitled to be "affirmatively recommended."

After stressing his belief that Acheson will follow the Truman line on foreign policy, Vandenberg commented that Acheson has demonstrated he has a rugged character, and the Michigan legislator added succinctly:

"When he fundamentally disagrees, he knows how to resign."

Sen. Wherry, Republican floor leader, told the Senate he still has "a grace doubt in my mind" as to Acheson's views toward Russia.

And Sen. Capehart announced he was voting against Acheson because, he said, he recalled that during the

Crosby Headed For CBS Network

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System announced tonight that Bing Crosby will be heard over CBS next fall. The singer has been heard this season on the American Broadcasting Company network.

The CBS announcement said an arrangement has been reached between the network and Crosby to cover his radio and television appearances for an extended period, although there are no immediate plans for television shows.

William S. Paley, CBS chairman of the board now in Hollywood, commented: "I take great pride in knowing that Bing Crosby will be on the CBS roster of programs commencing next fall and for a long time to come. When he puts his talents to television, he will be among the top personalities, as he has been for so many years in radio and motion pictures."

The network quoted Crosby as saying: "I look forward with great pleasure to my return to the network which gave me my start in radio."

Crosby, one of the nation's top boxoffice attractions in the movies and possessor of a huge radio listening audience, was on CBS in the 1930s when his career was young.

Later he was heard over the National Broadcasting Company network for several years and switched to ABC three years ago.

Wife's Picketing Leads To Scrap; Husband Upheld

BEACONSFIELD, Eng., Jan. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Constance Davis picketed her husband with this sign:

"I am the wife of Daniel Davis and he has left me for another woman."

But Mrs. Davis complained in court today that when she carried the sign past the film studio where her husband works he snatched it from her, tore it up and struck her.

The judge dismissed a charge of assault after Davis testified his wife's picketing had almost cost him his job.

MERGER OF BIG THREE WEST GERMAN ZONES COMPLETELY STALLED

BERLIN, Jan. 18 (AP)—The merger of Big Three occupation zones into a Western German Trizonia is completely stalled, authoritative sources said tonight.

In fact, almost all major Bib Three negotiations on the military government level in Germany are bogged down in disagreements among Britain, the United States and France.

The Western Powers, who fought as one to take Germany apart, now are divided on putting her back together.

Six months of negotiation since the London conference agreed the western zones should have common economic, trade and military government policies have failed to produce any decisive results.

The merger committee appointed by the three military governors has produced few agreed papers. What few that have been agreed upon have not been passed by the military governors.

The committee is composed of Deputy Military Governor Maj. Gen. Nevil C. D. Brownjohn for Britain; Special Advisor Joseph A. Panuch for the United States, and Minister Maurice Sabatier for France.

Palestine Showdown Headed Off By Bevin

Says Britain Planning No 'Aggressive Action' To Back Arab Allies

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP) — Foreign Secretary Bevin headed off a House of Commons showdown debate today on his Palestine policies with an assurance Britain plans no "aggressive action" to support her Arab allies.

He won from angry parliamentary critics a reluctant agreement to defer a full dress debate on the Middle East problem until next week. Then he will face challengers of every political hue, including a large bloc in his own Labor Party, who seem determined to unseat him.

A public discussion of the issue now, Bevin contended, might imperil Egyptian - Jewish armistice talks under way at Rhodes.

"We have been using all our influence in conjunction with the United States," Bevin said, "in the hope of arriving at a complete armistice between the Jews and the Arabs."

He reported "good progress" in those efforts.

Dispatches from Rhodes said the armistice talks seemed to be going smoothly as both sides grappled with issues which wrecked prior peace efforts—definition of Israel's boundaries and withdrawal of troops from the Negev Desert.

Trapped Egyptians Get Supplies

Israel announced she would permit a United Nations convoy to deliver food, tobacco and medical supplies to 3,000 Egyptian troops trapped at Faluja by encircling Israeli forces.

The government of Israel expressed regret over the shooting down of five British planes near the Palestine border January 7, but still insisted it was Britain's fault.

Sir Oliver Franks, the British ambassador to the United States, conferred in Washington with Under secretary of State Robert A. Lovett. He told reporters later he had "some feeling of optimism" over prospects for a Palestine settlement.

Bevin told the house that Britain has made a concession—agreement to release Jewish immigrants of military age from internment at Cyprus "as soon as the Jews provide transport for them."

These men were interned during Britain's Palestine mandate for trying to enter the Holy Land without certificates. Israel has complained that, since the mandate

Truman Slows Up State Assembly

Lane Budget Message Is Due Next Tuesday

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 18 (AP) — President Truman slowed up the Maryland General Assembly today. He will stop it altogether for a time after tomorrow.

In low-gear sessions which saw only one proposal adopted, both houses decided to start a four-day holiday after completion of business Wednesday.

That is because President Truman will be inaugurated in Washington Thursday and there was little inclination to return to Annapolis Friday.

At the same time the House and Senate knew work would be cut out for them next week.

Gov. Lane disclosed he will appear at a night session Tuesday to deliver his budget message.

The budget, which for the first time will cover only one year instead of two, may in the end call for from $130,000,000 to $135,000,000 to run state business through the 1950 fiscal year, which begins next July 1.

Other Messages To Follow

With the budget message out of the way, the Governor will follow up soon afterward with messages on mental hospitals, tuberculosis sanatoria and tidewater fishery problems.

The Senate went into executive session to talk over a couple of things—one whether to have a long holiday, and the other to raise immediately the salaries of desk officers who handle the Legislature's routine business. It was agreed the salaries should be raised. The House went along with that idea, too.

The House, waiting for the Senate signal, then arranged to remain off duty until Monday night.

There was scant activity in committee and chamber sessions today.

The House took the only final action, passing a joint resolution sponsored by Sen. Davis (R-Montgomery) to honor "founders of the American republics" in a session on Washington's birthday.

Much of the corridor activity concerned subjects not yet up for action.

"Ripper" Bill Aftermath

It was learned that Gov. Lane will back a measure to make the Motor Vehicles Commissioner's term run simultaneously with the Governor's. It would be an aftermath to a 1947 "ripper" bill resigned to oust Commissioner W. Lee Elgin which was rejected in a referendum last November.

Legislative chagrin at the condition of mental hospitals was voiced again, this time by Delegates Buffington and Tawney (D-Balto 3rd). They introduced a resolution asking a prompt investigation of the institutions by a seven-member committee.

The House received a bunch of committee reports, including one favoring a bill to retain Dr. Horace E. Flack indefinitely as director of the Department of Legislative Reference. As it stands now, Flack would have to retire when he turns 70 this May.

Another Judiciary Committee report okayed a 1950 referendum on

BIG PIPE LINES BURST INTO GIGANTIC TORCH

BATESVILLE, Ind., Jan. 18 (AP)—Big Inch and Little Inch pipe lines burst into a giant torch tonight, destroying two pumping stations one and one-half miles east of Batesville.

Police Chief Richard Lichter, of Batesville, said he had not reports of anyone hurt. That was an hour after gas burst from the big pipe lines.

"I have no idea how the fire started," Lichter said. "I went out to investigate and was forced back by the heat. The Big Inch and Little Inch lines run only a few feet apart at that point and undoubtedly both of them are burning."

Possibility Heir's Death Accidental, Probers Say

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP) — Officers leaned toward an accidental death theory today in the mysterious plantation trail shooting of a 27-year-old heir to a multi-million dollar banking fortune.

State Attorney William D. Hopkins said the death of Socialite Grenville Baker, of New York, whose grandfather amassed a $100,000,000 fortune on Wall Street as an associate of J. P. Morgan, doesn't look like murder."

Young Baker was found dying of a pistol bullet wound through the head early yesterday shortly after his jeep wrecked. He had been riding in the moonlight along a lonely dirt road, with pretty Thelma Griffin, a young divorced tavern car hop who had met him only a few hours before at a night club.

The State Attorney said "it is very possible" that the discharge of the pistol was accidental. He emphasized, however, that a suicide theory has not been discarded. A coroner's jury last night ruled that Baker was killed by a pistol held by an unknown party.

The shooting occurred on the vast plantation of Baker's mother where the Duke and Duchess of Windsor and other celebrities have been entertained. The plantation, located 12 miles north of this historic Florida capital, is a mecca for hunters.

Officers are not holding Mrs. Griffin and two others who were with Baker at the night club and the Baker home shortly before the tragedy. But Hopkins said they had been asked "not to get very far away" in the event they are wanted for further questioning.

Sheriff Frank Stoutamire sent paraffine casts of the trio's hands to the FBI in Washington, along with the pistol. He asked tests to determine if any of them had fired a gun recently.

Officers at first announced that Baker had been killed in the jeep accident. Then the gunshot wound was discovered. Found beside the body was a 38-caliber pistol in a 48-caliber automatic frame. Eight cartridges were in the pistol, which holds 10 when fully loaded. An empty shell was lying nearby.

"Love Expert" Brings Down House In Court

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18 (AP) — Claude Marsan, the French love doctor, brought down the house today in Municipal Court with a demonstration of his wooing technique, complete with a musical saw serenade and a red-headed model.

Marsan was called by his attorney to re-enact for a jury of nine women and three men a performance which landed him in jail on charges of conducting an obscene show. He did so — with Gallic gestures.

The volatile little Frenchman, whose attire included a white beret, opened his wooing demanstration with two numbers—"Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and "Dark Eyes"—on his musical saw.

But first he electrified the courtroom with a reverberating wolf-type call on the saw. The packed courtroom roared with laughter despite admonitions and poundings by clerk and bailiff. Even Municipal Judge Harold Schweitzer turned away from the jury, doubled up and held his hand over his face.

The attractive model, Miss Barbara Weir, 24, also charged with conducting a lewd show, sat on the counsel table in front of the jury as Marsan proceeded with his wooing and saw serenade. She was dressed in a revealing evening gown, which she pulled up to her knees when Marsan asked her to "show these wolves a little more."

The 39-year-old lecturer demonstrated the American approach in love making, which he said was faulty. This included a rush act and the statement, "Pucker up, babe, I'm coming in on the beam."

"Ah—now the French way," said Marsan, with which he began some soft love talk, partly in French, and kissed his partner's hand, shoulder, cheek and finally her mouth while sitting beside her on the lawyers' table.

The self-styled "great lovaire" faces cross-examination tomorrow.

House Vote On Minimum Wage Hike Due Soon

Extension Of GOP Anti-Inflation Law Proposed By Spence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Democrats pulled open the throttle today for swift House action on a bill to raise the statutory minimum wage from 40 cents an hour to 75 cents.

Rep. McCormack, of Massachusetts, the Democratic leader, told the House he hopes to get a vote on the measure next week. The increase is one of the basic points in President Truman's economic program.

He also introduced a bill to extend export controls until June 30, 1951. Both laws now are scheduled to expire February 28.

Acheson Confirmed

3. By a vote of 83 to 6, the Senate confirmed Dean Acheson as Secretary of State, to succeed Gen. George C. Marshall who resigned because of poor health.

4. The Air Force asked Congress for $200,000,000 to enable it to set up a testing range for rockets expected to travel more than 150 miles horizontally.

Education Bill Near Top

The Senate Labor Committee appeared inclined to give top priority to bills authorizing federal aid to education and establishing a national science foundation. After that comes the minimum wage measure, according to present timetables.

Under the law, industries (such as steel) are allowed to make agreements for the allocation of materials in short supply.

The export control law lets the government say what can be shipped out of this country.

The state's refusal to sanction tax exemption for tickets in inauguration festivities was the administration's first set-back in the new Congress. Republicans led the assault on the bill, and got some Democratic help in the voting.

Meanwhile, a sleet storm, spearheading a bitter cold wave, spread a sea of ice from Texas northeastward to Central Illinois and Indiana.

Veteran Speed Flier Uninjured In Plane Crash

NEW BERN, N. C., Jan. 18 (AP)—Al Williams, veteran speed flier from Pittsburgh, Pa., crashed his converted Navy fighter plane here today but walked away from the burning ship unhurt.

Williams blamed the crash on a landing gear failure, adding that either his left wheel "failed to come down" of collapsed when the F8F Bearcat hit the runway.

Observers said the plane slumped to a belly gasoline tank which ignited and burned as the plane streaked down the runway. Williams got out without a scratch but the plane was a total loss.

Chinese Capital Likely To Become Second 'Tientsin'

Defenses Are Found "Exceedingly Weak"

NANKING, Jan. 18 (AP)—Observers said today Nanking may become another "Tientsin"—a prey to artillery fire and encirclement.

They watched the hasty defense preparations around the capital and found the m"exceedingly weak."

(From besieged Peiping, AP Correspondent Spencer Moosa reported that a delegation of prominent citizens is behind Communist lines trying to make peace.

(The delegation was expected to return to the city sometime Wednesday—probably with a Red demand for Peiping's outright surrender.)

Gen. Tang En-Po, charged with defending the capital, is willing to fight. But observers note he has little left to fight with—even for a holding action.

He is believed to have 150,000 men to guard the Yangtze River line. The Reds can throw at him twice that number of men, mostly veterans fresh from wiping out some of Chiang Kai-Shek's best troops on the Suchow front.

Government Offices May Move

As if to underscore the gravity of Nanking's plight, diplomatic sources heard they would be notified soon that government offices were being dispersed as a safety measure.

The notification is expected to say that the Foreign Office itself is being moved south, probably to Canton, one informed source said.

Diplomatic sources said it was unlikely there would be an announcement in Nanking of the move. They expect it to come in the form of notifications to each ambassador. The notifications are now being prepared, Foreign Office informants said.

Most foreign embassies already have decided—since the move has been in the wind for weeks—to reply that because of physical difficulties of moving at this late hour they will remain in Nanking.

Chiang's Plans Unknown

They may yet, however, receive contrary instructions from their capitals. In that case they then would follow the Foreign Office or President Chiang Kai-Shek southward.

One official emphasized the dispersal of the government would not necessarily mean the capital was being moved. The capital will remain at Nanking as long as Chiang is here.

There is no sign from Chiang as to what he will do.

His forces north of the Yangtze, however, are still pulling back to the south to escape possible entrapment.

Nationalist troops pouring into Nanking were seizing both foreign and Chinese properties for billets. Various embassies, including the American, are protesting such seizures.

Truman Asks Cooperation

MYSTERY DEATH FIGURES-- Mrs. Thelma Griffin (left), waitress, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Whiddon, tavern operators, were with Grenville Baker, New York banking family heir, the night he died of a puzzling pistol wound in the head. Tallahassee, Fla., officers are not holding the trio but paraffine casts of their hands have been sent to the FBI in Washington, along with the pistol, to determine if any of them had fired a gun recently. Inaugural Festivity Launched

Senate Votes Not To Exempt Tickets From Federal Tax

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—President Truman rang up the curtain on the super-colossal inauguration festivities tonight with a pep talk asking cooperation in putting through his legislative program and attaining world peace.

"I'm Just Wild About Harry," played a band as the President appeared in the Mayflower Hotel, where 2,500 high officials and others attended a $15-a-plate dinner of the Truman-Barkley Club.

It was the same ballroom in which, nearly a year ago, Mr. Truman told a dinner of young Democrats: "There'll be another Democrat in the White House during the next four years and you are looking at him."

Few believed that prediction then; but Washington tonight wore the air of a mammoth carnival in tribute to the man who made the political miracle come true.

Mr. Truman appealed to the assembled Democrats, to Congress and to the people at large to cooperate with him. He said he and Vice-President-elect Barkley face a tremendous burden.

Need Help With Burden

"We are going to assume that burden," he said, "and we are going to do our best to carry out the things that are necessary to meet the situation with which we are faced, in his country and in the world.

"But, we can't do that unless you, and the Congress, and the people of these United States get behind us and help us carry out those principles that are necessary to get the thing done, to get the peace in this world that we need and that we are going to have."

He also called on the Truman-Barkley Club to continue active in to the 1950 campaign because "we don't want to elect another 80th Congress."

The weatherman pledged reasonable cooperation in the inauguration ceremonies on Thursday, but the Senate threw a financial monkey wrench.

The forecast, for the hour when President is sworn into his present job at better pay, is for wind, clouds and chill. No rain or snow.

But the Senate atmosphere was frigid as it voted, 47 to 44, against exempting tickets to inaugural events from the 20 per cent federal tax. It was the first administration defeat in the new Democratic Congress.

Tickets Sold Tax-Free

The tickets have been sold out, with no tax collected. It was guessed unofficially that the tax on parade, inaugural ball and other tickets might be $60,000.

324-FOOT SUPER-BLIMP ORDERED BY U. S. NAVY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Navy has ordered the world's largest blimp for patrol work along with 136 planes, nine helicopters and other equipment.

This was disclosed today in response to questions about distribution of about $80,000,000 recently approved for aviation purchases by President Truman.

Navy officials said the blimp, which will cost $3,388,000, will be 324 feet long and 71 feet wide, with an 87-foot double-deck control car.

The airship will be twice the size of those used on anti-submarine patrol during the war, but only about one-seventh as large as the dirigibles Akron and Macon which were destroyed in crash-landings. The new blimp will be built by Goodyear Aircraft at Akron, Ohio.

The Navy withheld information on some new planes in the program on the ground that details are secret.

Battling Harry, Health Excellent, Weighs In At 174

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Battling Harry Truman today weighed in for the inauguration Thursday at 174 pounds, in "tip-top shape."

Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, personal physician to the President, told reporters today that Mr. Truman is "in a better state of health and mind than at any time in the past year."

His heft is a little over his "ideal" weight of 165 to 170, Graham said, but isn't up to his past top of 179.

"It's difficult to confine him to reasonable working hours, and he sees too many callers," the physician complained.

Communist Party Chieftain Will Be Tried Separately

Delay In Trial Of 11 Other Reds Refused

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—William Z. Foster, aging and ailing head of American Communists, will be tried on conspiracy charges separately from 11 other indicted party leaders, a federal judge ruled today.

At the same time Judge Harold R. Medina denied applications for a postponement of the trial of the 11 others, members of the party's national board.

Defense attorneys asked delays ranging from 15 to 90 days, contending they had not had enough time to prepare their case.

"I will not only not grant a 15-day or 30-day continuance," Medina said, "I will not grant any continuance."

Before he heard arguments on the postponement Medina sent home a panel of 525 prospective jurors and directed them not to report back until Thursday morning.

Later defense counsel applied to Chief Federal Judge John C. Knox to hear their petition that a judge not of the Southern Federal District of New York sit to hear their challenge of the federal jury system and the way of picking panels in the district.

The defense counsel said the Communist Party filed affidavits charging that the jury system in the Southern District "systematically excludes the poor, negroes, Jews, women and members of minority parties."

Defense counsel were granted 10 minutes to go see Knox. The attorneys however, did not get in to see him.

Medina called them back into the courtroom after the 10-minute recess and said Knox had refused to consider the motion.

All 12 Communist leaders are charged with working for the forcible overthrow of the government. Their trial opened yesterday. They are all free on $5,000 bail. They face 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine each, if convicted.

The severance of Foster's case was granted by Medina on request of United States Attorney John F. X. McGohey, who also asked that the trial of the others proceed.

McGohey had indicated yesterday he would ask for a separate trial for Foster, 67, when the latter failed to appear in court along with the other defendants. Foster is suffering from a heart ailment.

When McGohey entered his motions today, defense counsel immediately launched a bitter attack against them. They contended the government was acting in "unseemly" haste in asking for separate trials.

George W. Crockett, Jr., one of the defense attorneys, said Foster was "absoltely indispensible" to the defense of the other 11.

"He has a fund of information as national chairman of the Communist Party that no one else can have," Crockett said.

Seven Die In Collision

COALINGA, Calif., Jan. 18 (AP)—Seven persons were killed and four other injured today when two trucks collided at an intersection five miles east of Coalinga.

Police Patrolman Jack Carkington said one truck carried about 10 persons believed members of a family of Mexican cotton pickers.

The driver of the other truck was killed.

Lawyer Given Nation's No. 1 Diplomatic Job

Six GOP Senators Oppose; May Take Oath Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Dean Acheson, 55-year-old lawyer-diplomat, won Senate confirmation at the new Secretary of State by an overwhelming 83 to 6 vote today.

Before the vote, Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) served notice that confirmation does not necessarily mean approval of future developments in administration foreign policy. He praised Acheson, but said President Truman's foreign policies may be "impromptu and unpredicted."

But Chairman Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, hailed the vote as a "ratification of our foreign policy of firmness and vigor." He called Acheson eminently qualified to handle the "gigantic" duties of the nation's No. 1 diplomatic post.

Acheson is expected to be sworn in Thursday or Friday as the fifth Secretary of State the nation has had in five years. He succeeds ailing Gen. George C. Marshall, who resigned following a serious operation.

Six Republicans cast the only votes against Acheson. They were Sen. Bridges (N. H.), Capehart (Ind.), Jenner (Ind.), Knowland (Calif.), Langer (N. D.) and Wherry (Neb.).

Wherry told his colleagues he was going to vote against confirmation because, he said, "it is common knowledge that Mr. Acheson has been an appeaser of Russia."

Many Republicans Shift

Other Republicans who had been lukewarm toward President Truman's choice for the all-important diplomatic role had apparently changed their minds, however, in the light of Acheson's own testimony last week.

In public and secret sessions of the Senate Foreign Committee, Acheson had vigorously denied that he was an "appeaser" and had blasted Communism as "fatal" to a free society and to human rights.

Vandenberg said he is convinced that Acheson will pursue "whatever policies are directed by the President of the United States." Then he told the Senate that it cannot—through action on an appointment—"control foreign policy."

"Therefore," he said, "it should be made wholly obvious that we do not underwrite results in terms of foreign policy which will flow from our confirmation of this or any other nominee."

In dealing with contentions that Acheson might be "a softie toward Communism," Vandenberg quoted Acheson's own testimony given to senators last week. At that time, Acheson declared:

"The things I read about myself as an appeaser are so incredible that it is difficult for me to believe that even disinterested malevolence could think them up."

"Knows How To Resign"

Vandenberg went on to praise Acheson's "long and distinguished" career in public service and said he has always found him "reliable," helpful, cooperative and trustworthy." Thus, he said, Acheson is entitled to be "affirmatively recommended."

After stressing his belief that Acheson will follow the Truman line on foreign policy, Vandenberg commented that Acheson has demonstrated he has a rugged character, and the Michigan legislator added succinctly:

"When he fundamentally disagrees, he knows how to resign."

Sen. Wherry, Republican floor leader, told the Senate he still has "a grace doubt in my mind" as to Acheson's views toward Russia.

And Sen. Capehart announced he was voting against Acheson because, he said, he recalled that during the

Crosby Headed For CBS Network

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System announced tonight that Bing Crosby will be heard over CBS next fall. The singer has been heard this season on the American Broadcasting Company network.

The CBS announcement said an arrangement has been reached between the network and Crosby to cover his radio and television appearances for an extended period, although there are no immediate plans for television shows.

William S. Paley, CBS chairman of the board now in Hollywood, commented: "I take great pride in knowing that Bing Crosby will be on the CBS roster of programs commencing next fall and for a long time to come. When he puts his talents to television, he will be among the top personalities, as he has been for so many years in radio and motion pictures."

The network quoted Crosby as saying: "I look forward with great pleasure to my return to the network which gave me my start in radio."

Crosby, one of the nation's top boxoffice attractions in the movies and possessor of a huge radio listening audience, was on CBS in the 1930s when his career was young.

Later he was heard over the National Broadcasting Company network for several years and switched to ABC three years ago.

Wife's Picketing Leads To Scrap; Husband Upheld

BEACONSFIELD, Eng., Jan. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Constance Davis picketed her husband with this sign:

"I am the wife of Daniel Davis and he has left me for another woman."

But Mrs. Davis complained in court today that when she carried the sign past the film studio where her husband works he snatched it from her, tore it up and struck her.

The judge dismissed a charge of assault after Davis testified his wife's picketing had almost cost him his job.

MERGER OF BIG THREE WEST GERMAN ZONES COMPLETELY STALLED

BERLIN, Jan. 18 (AP)—The merger of Big Three occupation zones into a Western German Trizonia is completely stalled, authoritative sources said tonight.

In fact, almost all major Bib Three negotiations on the military government level in Germany are bogged down in disagreements among Britain, the United States and France.

The Western Powers, who fought as one to take Germany apart, now are divided on putting her back together.

Six months of negotiation since the London conference agreed the western zones should have common economic, trade and military government policies have failed to produce any decisive results.

The merger committee appointed by the three military governors has produced few agreed papers. What few that have been agreed upon have not been passed by the military governors.

The committee is composed of Deputy Military Governor Maj. Gen. Nevil C. D. Brownjohn for Britain; Special Advisor Joseph A. Panuch for the United States, and Minister Maurice Sabatier for France.

Palestine Showdown Headed Off By Bevin

Says Britain Planning No 'Aggressive Action' To Back Arab Allies

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP) — Foreign Secretary Bevin headed off a House of Commons showdown debate today on his Palestine policies with an assurance Britain plans no "aggressive action" to support her Arab allies.

He won from angry parliamentary critics a reluctant agreement to defer a full dress debate on the Middle East problem until next week. Then he will face challengers of every political hue, including a large bloc in his own Labor Party, who seem determined to unseat him.

A public discussion of the issue now, Bevin contended, might imperil Egyptian - Jewish armistice talks under way at Rhodes.

"We have been using all our influence in conjunction with the United States," Bevin said, "in the hope of arriving at a complete armistice between the Jews and the Arabs."

He reported "good progress" in those efforts.

Dispatches from Rhodes said the armistice talks seemed to be going smoothly as both sides grappled with issues which wrecked prior peace efforts—definition of Israel's boundaries and withdrawal of troops from the Negev Desert.

Trapped Egyptians Get Supplies

Israel announced she would permit a United Nations convoy to deliver food, tobacco and medical supplies to 3,000 Egyptian troops trapped at Faluja by encircling Israeli forces.

The government of Israel expressed regret over the shooting down of five British planes near the Palestine border January 7, but still insisted it was Britain's fault.

Sir Oliver Franks, the British ambassador to the United States, conferred in Washington with Under secretary of State Robert A. Lovett. He told reporters later he had "some feeling of optimism" over prospects for a Palestine settlement.

Bevin told the house that Britain has made a concession—agreement to release Jewish immigrants of military age from internment at Cyprus "as soon as the Jews provide transport for them."

These men were interned during Britain's Palestine mandate for trying to enter the Holy Land without certificates. Israel has complained that, since the mandate

Truman Slows Up State Assembly

Lane Budget Message Is Due Next Tuesday

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 18 (AP) — President Truman slowed up the Maryland General Assembly today. He will stop it altogether for a time after tomorrow.

In low-gear sessions which saw only one proposal adopted, both houses decided to start a four-day holiday after completion of business Wednesday.

That is because President Truman will be inaugurated in Washington Thursday and there was little inclination to return to Annapolis Friday.

At the same time the House and Senate knew work would be cut out for them next week.

Gov. Lane disclosed he will appear at a night session Tuesday to deliver his budget message.

The budget, which for the first time will cover only one year instead of two, may in the end call for from $130,000,000 to $135,000,000 to run state business through the 1950 fiscal year, which begins next July 1.

Other Messages To Follow

With the budget message out of the way, the Governor will follow up soon afterward with messages on mental hospitals, tuberculosis sanatoria and tidewater fishery problems.

The Senate went into executive session to talk over a couple of things—one whether to have a long holiday, and the other to raise immediately the salaries of desk officers who handle the Legislature's routine business. It was agreed the salaries should be raised. The House went along with that idea, too.

The House, waiting for the Senate signal, then arranged to remain off duty until Monday night.

There was scant activity in committee and chamber sessions today.

The House took the only final action, passing a joint resolution sponsored by Sen. Davis (R-Montgomery) to honor "founders of the American republics" in a session on Washington's birthday.

Much of the corridor activity concerned subjects not yet up for action.

"Ripper" Bill Aftermath

It was learned that Gov. Lane will back a measure to make the Motor Vehicles Commissioner's term run simultaneously with the Governor's. It would be an aftermath to a 1947 "ripper" bill resigned to oust Commissioner W. Lee Elgin which was rejected in a referendum last November.

Legislative chagrin at the condition of mental hospitals was voiced again, this time by Delegates Buffington and Tawney (D-Balto 3rd). They introduced a resolution asking a prompt investigation of the institutions by a seven-member committee.

The House received a bunch of committee reports, including one favoring a bill to retain Dr. Horace E. Flack indefinitely as director of the Department of Legislative Reference. As it stands now, Flack would have to retire when he turns 70 this May.

Another Judiciary Committee report okayed a 1950 referendum on

BIG PIPE LINES BURST INTO GIGANTIC TORCH

BATESVILLE, Ind., Jan. 18 (AP)—Big Inch and Little Inch pipe lines burst into a giant torch tonight, destroying two pumping stations one and one-half miles east of Batesville.

Police Chief Richard Lichter, of Batesville, said he had not reports of anyone hurt. That was an hour after gas burst from the big pipe lines.

"I have no idea how the fire started," Lichter said. "I went out to investigate and was forced back by the heat. The Big Inch and Little Inch lines run only a few feet apart at that point and undoubtedly both of them are burning."

Possibility Heir's Death Accidental, Probers Say

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP) — Officers leaned toward an accidental death theory today in the mysterious plantation trail shooting of a 27-year-old heir to a multi-million dollar banking fortune.

State Attorney William D. Hopkins said the death of Socialite Grenville Baker, of New York, whose grandfather amassed a $100,000,000 fortune on Wall Street as an associate of J. P. Morgan, doesn't look like murder."

Young Baker was found dying of a pistol bullet wound through the head early yesterday shortly after his jeep wrecked. He had been riding in the moonlight along a lonely dirt road, with pretty Thelma Griffin, a young divorced tavern car hop who had met him only a few hours before at a night club.

The State Attorney said "it is very possible" that the discharge of the pistol was accidental. He emphasized, however, that a suicide theory has not been discarded. A coroner's jury last night ruled that Baker was killed by a pistol held by an unknown party.

The shooting occurred on the vast plantation of Baker's mother where the Duke and Duchess of Windsor and other celebrities have been entertained. The plantation, located 12 miles north of this historic Florida capital, is a mecca for hunters.

Officers are not holding Mrs. Griffin and two others who were with Baker at the night club and the Baker home shortly before the tragedy. But Hopkins said they had been asked "not to get very far away" in the event they are wanted for further questioning.

Sheriff Frank Stoutamire sent paraffine casts of the trio's hands to the FBI in Washington, along with the pistol. He asked tests to determine if any of them had fired a gun recently.

Officers at first announced that Baker had been killed in the jeep accident. Then the gunshot wound was discovered. Found beside the body was a 38-caliber pistol in a 48-caliber automatic frame. Eight cartridges were in the pistol, which holds 10 when fully loaded. An empty shell was lying nearby.

"Love Expert" Brings Down House In Court

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18 (AP) — Claude Marsan, the French love doctor, brought down the house today in Municipal Court with a demonstration of his wooing technique, complete with a musical saw serenade and a red-headed model.

Marsan was called by his attorney to re-enact for a jury of nine women and three men a performance which landed him in jail on charges of conducting an obscene show. He did so — with Gallic gestures.

The volatile little Frenchman, whose attire included a white beret, opened his wooing demanstration with two numbers—"Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and "Dark Eyes" —on his musical saw.

But first he electrified the courtroom with a reverberating wolf-type call on the saw. The packed courtroom roared with laughter despite admonitions and poundings by clerk and bailiff. Even Municipal Judge Harold Schweitzer turned away from the jury, doubled up and held his hand over his face.

The attractive model, Miss Barbara Weir, 24, also charged with conducting a lewd show, sat on the counsel table in front of the jury as Marsan proceeded with his wooing and saw serenade. She was dressed in a revealing evening gown, which she pulled up to her knees when Marsan asked her to "show these wolves a little more."

The 39-year-old lecturer demonstrated the American approach in love making, which he said was faulty. This included a rush act and the statement, "Pucker up, babe, I'm coming in on the beam."

"Ah—now the French way," said Marsan, with which he began some soft love talk, partly in French, and kissed his partner's hand, shoulder, cheek and finally her mouth while sitting beside her on the lawyers' table.

The self-styled "great lovaire" faces cross-examination tomorrow.

Get - Rich - Quick Chas. Ponzi Dies

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 18 (AP)—Get-rich-quick Charles Ponzi, the little man who swindled the American public out of big money in 1920, has died in poverty of a blood clot on the brain.

Partly blind and paralyzed on his left side, he was 71.

The end came at a hospital charity ward here Saturday.

He was flanked in the ward by an old man with a hacking cough and an aged negro who spent most of his time staring quietly at the ceiling.

Ponzi's body was claimed by a legal agent at the public morgue today. The agent will pay for burial with $75 Ponzi managed to save from a small Brazilian government pension.

This was the man who attracted more than $15,000,000 in sucker money to his Boston office in a few months of 1920 with the cry "Double your money in 90 days."

This was the man who stuffed currency into his desks at 29 School Street when the cash boxes were filled and who stuffed it into waste baskets when the desks overflowed.

Ponzi was a slim little Italian ex-convict, only slightly more than five feet tall. He was a former laborer, clerk, fruit peddler and waiter. He was born in Parma, Italy, immigrated to Canada as a youth and entered the United States at the age of 23. He finally set himself up in the importing business in Boston and began his bogus financial career.

Md. Float Gets Official Spot In Inaugural Parade

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 18 (AP)—Maryland's $2,000 float will have an official place in President Truman's inaugural parade in Washington on Thursday after all.

The program of the State Groups Committee for the inauguration was received today at Gov. Lane's office. The Maryland float is listed.

Because the float was constructed within the last 10 days, its entrance in the parade was not noted in the first general order on arrangements, said Director John P. Trimmer, of the State Department of Information.

Vast Air-Sea Armada Seeks Missing Plane

MIAMI, Jan. 18 (INS)—A vast armada of nearly 90 planes and several surface ships searched the Atlantic-Caribbean area today for a missing British South American Airways plane carrying 20 persons.

Officers at the Seventh (Florida) Coast Guard District in Miami, who are coordinating the search in that area, said the search today brought no trace of the missing ship. They added the search would continue.

The four-engined Tudor plane disappeared yesterday on a flight from Bermuda to Kingston, Jamaica.

No American citizens were reported among the 13 passengers or crew of seven.

Mississippi Tornado Kills One, Injures 13

CALEDONIA, Miss., Jan. 18 (AP)—A tornado cut a 100-yard wide swath through this small farming community today, killing one person, injuring 13 others and destroying several homes and buildings.

Mrs. Mary Leonard, 90, died in a hospital at nearby Columbus, Miss., of storm injuries. A negro, Mike Conner, was listed there as critically hurt.

Inaugural

A spokesman for the non-partisan, non-profit inaugural committee said he supposed the committee "will have to pay it—there's no other way."

Nobody was able to say immediately whether the anticipated profit, which was to have gone to charity, would cover the bill.

The committee had thought Congress would, as in past years, approve the exemption. The House did so yesterday but the Senate stunned administration leaders by voting no. And then, on a reconsideration vote, said no again.

There was some talk, however, that the Senate might relent later, and approve the exemption.

Meantime Mr. Truman signed into law a bill giving federal workers here a holiday on Thursday and Friday, making possible a festive four-day inaugural weekend.

The White House announced that he will sign before tomorrow night the measure raising his own salary by $25,000 and boosting his tax-free expense account by $50,000.

Bill Would Add To Judges' Power

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 18 (AP)—A bill "to broaden the powers" of Maryland judges and take legal interpretations out of the hands of juries was introduced today in the General Assembly.

It proposes a constitutional amendment to strip from juries their right to interpret the law involved in criminal cases. The juries would continue to decide on the facts, but the judge would determine the law.

Maryland and Iidiana are the only states where juries still act as judges of both fact and law, a holdover from colonial days. Lawyers have argued that this makes the judge "a mere figurehead." The Court of Appeals has called it an "anachronistic procedure."

Introduced by Delegates James (D-Harford) and Dempsey (D-Balto 3D), the bill was referred to the House Judiciary Committee. If approved by the Legislature, the amendment would be submitted to the voters in a referendum at the 1950 November elections.

The fourth income tax relief bill introduced in the House went through its first reading and was sent to the Ways and Means Committee.

Delegate Potts (D-Wicomico) put in the measure to allow deductions of federal income tax in computing state income tax returns. The committee already has a similar bill introduced last week by Delegate Buffington (D-Balto 3D).

The House has approved and sent to the Senate an administration-backed bill to keep the tax on earned income at two per cent.

Interstate Buses Should Pay Tax, Hammond Says

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 18 (AP)—Attorney General Hall Hammond said today that interstate buses should pay Maryland's two-per cent titling tax for "the privilege of using the roads."

He asked the Maryland Court of Appeals to rule the tax constitutional since "its proceeds are specifically dedicated to road maintenance and construction."

Lawyers for three bus lines described Hammond's argument "ingenious" but said it "completely ignores the many decisions which affirmatively state that the amount of the tax must bear a direct relationship to the use made or to be made of the roads."

election campaign last fall President Truman repeatedly attacked Wall Street interests.

Capehart said Acheson was a partner in a law firm which participated in obtaining United States loans "to Communist-dominated governments." This was an evident reference to a $90,000,000 loan to Red-ruled Poland, which was handled by Acheson's firm while he was Undersecretary of State in 1946. Acheson had left the firm at that time, however.

Capehart said he proposed to join in Mr. Truman's "crusade" against Wall Street by voting Acheson "righ out of the government."

Sen. Taylor (D-Idaho), vice presidential running mate of Henry A. Wallace on the Progressive Party ticket in the November election, told the Senate he was voting for Acheson mainly because he is a civilian.

Churchill Agrees To Wait

Bevin told a questioner he did not ask the Arabs for permission to release the refugees.

Winaston Churchill, wartime prime minister and one of Bevin's most bitter critics, agreed to defer a showdown.

He gave warning, however, that "we shall have to ask for a debate next week."

Churchill who had made a prior request that Britain abandon a "sulky" attitude and recognize the state of Israel, renewed the demand today.

"The house," he added, "must not be prevented from discussing matters of real and burning interest by vague statements of great improvements that are on the way or that important, delicate discussioans are going on."

Mrs. Chambers Cleared

BALTIMORE, Jan. 18 (AP) — A reckless driving charge against Mrs. Whittaker Chambers was dismissed today in Traffic Court.

She was involved in a fatal accident December 15 while driving from the Chambers home at Westminster, Md., to meet her husband, who was arriving from New York after an appearance there before a grand jury in connection with his disclosures about Communist spy activities.

Shakespeare, in his will, bequeathed only his "second best bed with the furniture," to his wife. She was amply provided for, however, by virtue of her rights of dower.

The Constitution itself provides for such a referendum every 20 years.

Chairman Melnicove (D-Balto 4th) said his committee at the same time "agreed to drop" a companion measure to define what would constitute a majority in the vote.

Get - Rich - Quick Chas. Ponzi Dies

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 18 (AP)—Get-rich-quick Charles Ponzi, the little man who swindled the American public out of big money in 1920, has died in poverty of a blood clot on the brain.

Partly blind and paralyzed on his left side, he was 71.

The end came at a hospital charity ward here Saturday.

He was flanked in the ward by an old man with a hacking cough and an aged negro who spent most of his time staring quietly at the ceiling.

Ponzi's body was claimed by a legal agent at the public morgue today. The agent will pay for burial with $75 Ponzi managed to save from a small Brazilian government pension.

This was the man who attracted more than $15,000,000 in sucker money to his Boston office in a few months of 1920 with the cry "Double your money in 90 days."

This was the man who stuffed currency into his desks at 29 School Street when the cash boxes were filled and who stuffed it into waste baskets when the desks overflowed.

Ponzi was a slim little Italian ex-convict, only slightly more than five feet tall. He was a former laborer, clerk, fruit peddler and waiter. He was born in Parma, Italy, immigrated to Canada as a youth and entered the United States at the age of 23. He finally set himself up in the importing business in Boston and began his bogus financial career.

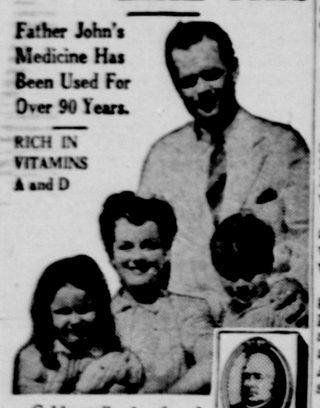

DPs Read Free State

BALTIMORE, Jan. 18 (AP)—Fourty - four Ukrainians, shunted across Europe by the whim of history and spending long, dreary years as "displaced persons," reached their Free State haven today.

IN FAMILIES LIKE THIS

Father John's Medicine Has Been Used For Over 90 Years.

RICH IN VITAMINS A and D

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

Colds strike hardest in families which have low resistance (often due to insufficient vitamin A). Father John's Medicine supplies vitamin A and builds resistance. It also gives quick relief from raspy coughs and throat irritation due to colds by its soothing effect on the throat. It is pure, wholesome, nutritive and good for all the family.

Md. Float Gets Official Spot In Inaugural Parade

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 18 (AP)—Maryland's $2,000 float will have an official place in President Truman's inaugural parade in Washington on Thursday after all.

The program of the State Groups Committee for the inauguration was received today at Gov. Lane's office. The Maryland float is listed.

Because the float was constructed within the last 10 days, its entrance in the parade was not noted in the first general order on arrangements, said Director John P. Trimmer, of the State Department of Information.

Vast Air-Sea Armada Seeks Missing Plane

MIAMI, Jan. 18 (INS)—A vast armada of nearly 90 planes and several surface ships searched the Atlantic-Caribbean area today for a missing British South American Airways plane carrying 20 persons.

Officers at the Seventh (Florida) Coast Guard District in Miami, who are coordinating the search in that area, said the search today brought no trace of the missing ship. They added the search would continue.

The four-engined Tudor plane disappeared yesterday on a flight from Bermuda to Kingston, Jamaica.

No American citizens were reported among the 13 passengers or crew of seven.

Mississippi Tornado Kills One, Injures 13

CALEDONIA, Miss., Jan. 18 (AP)—A tornado cut a 100-yard wide swath through this small farming community today, killing one person, injuring 13 others and destroying several homes and buildings.

Mrs. Mary Leonard, 90, died in a hospital at nearby Columbus, Miss., of storm injuries. A negro, Mike Conner, was listed there as critically hurt.

Inaugural

A spokesman for the non-partisan, non-profit inaugural committee said he supposed the committee "will have to pay it—there's no other way."

Nobody was able to say immediately whether the anticipated profit, which was to have gone to charity, would cover the bill.

The committee had thought Congress would, as in past years, approve the exemption. The House did so yesterday but the Senate stunned administration leaders by voting no. And then, on a reconsideration vote, said no again.

There was some talk, however, that the Senate might relent later, and approve the exemption.

Meantime Mr. Truman signed into law a bill giving federal workers here a holiday on Thursday and Friday, making possible a festive four-day inaugural weekend.

The White House announced that he will sign before tomorrow night the measure raising his own salary by $25,000 and boosting his tax-free expense account by $50,000.

Bill Would Add To Judges' Power

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 18 (AP)—A bill "to broaden the powers" of Maryland judges and take legal interpretations out of the hands of juries was introduced today in the General Assembly.

It proposes a constitutional amendment to strip from juries their right to interpret the law involved in criminal cases. The juries would continue to decide on the facts, but the judge would determine the law.

Maryland and Iidiana are the only states where juries still act as judges of both fact and law, a holdover from colonial days. Lawyers have argued that this makes the judge "a mere figurehead." The Court of Appeals has called it an "anachronistic procedure."

Introduced by Delegates James (D-Harford) and Dempsey (D-Balto 3D), the bill was referred to the House Judiciary Committee. If approved by the Legislature, the amendment would be submitted to the voters in a referendum at the 1950 November elections.

The fourth income tax relief bill introduced in the House went through its first reading and was sent to the Ways and Means Committee.

Delegate Potts (D-Wicomico) put in the measure to allow deductions of federal income tax in computing state income tax returns. The committee already has a similar bill introduced last week by Delegate Buffington (D-Balto 3D).

The House has approved and sent to the Senate an administration-backed bill to keep the tax on earned income at two per cent.

Interstate Buses Should Pay Tax, Hammond Says

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 18 (AP)—Attorney General Hall Hammond said today that interstate buses should pay Maryland's two-per cent titling tax for "the privilege of using the roads."

He asked the Maryland Court of Appeals to rule the tax constitutional since "its proceeds are specifically dedicated to road maintenance and construction."

Lawyers for three bus lines described Hammond's argument "ingenious" but said it "completely ignores the many decisions which affirmatively state that the amount of the tax must bear a direct relationship to the use made or to be made of the roads."

Lawyer Given

election campaign last fall President Truman repeatedly attacked Wall Street interests.

Capehart said Acheson was a partner in a law firm which participated in obtaining United States loans "to Communist-dominated governments." This was an evident reference to a $90,000,000 loan to Red-ruled Poland, which was handled by Acheson's firm while he was Undersecretary of State in 1946. Acheson had left the firm at that time, however.

Capehart said he proposed to join in Mr. Truman's "crusade" against Wall Street by voting Acheson "righ out of the government."

Sen. Taylor (D-Idaho), vice presidential running mate of Henry A. Wallace on the Progressive Party ticket in the November election, told the Senate he was voting for Acheson mainly because he is a civilian.

Palestine Showdown

ended, Britain could claim no valid excuse for holding them further.

Churchill Agrees To Wait

Bevin told a questioner he did not ask the Arabs for permission to release the refugees.

Winaston Churchill, wartime prime minister and one of Bevin's most bitter critics, agreed to defer a showdown.

He gave warning, however, that "we shall have to ask for a debate next week."

Churchill who had made a prior request that Britain abandon a "sulky" attitude and recognize the state of Israel, renewed the demand today.

"The house," he added, "must not be prevented from discussing matters of real and burning interest by vague statements of great improvements that are on the way or that important, delicate discussioans are going on."

Mrs. Chambers Cleared

BALTIMORE, Jan. 18 (AP) — A reckless driving charge against Mrs. Whittaker Chambers was dismissed today in Traffic Court.

She was involved in a fatal accident December 15 while driving from the Chambers home at Westminster, Md., to meet her husband, who was arriving from New York after an appearance there before a grand jury in connection with his disclosures about Communist spy activities.

Shakespeare, in his will, bequeathed only his "second best bed with the furniture," to his wife. She was amply provided for, however, by virtue of her rights of dower.

Truman Slows

whether Maryland should hold a constitutional convention.

The Constitution itself provides for such a referendum every 20 years.

Chairman Melnicove (D-Balto 4th) said his committee at the same time "agreed to drop" a companion measure to define what would constitute a majority in the vote.

To Settle Issues Try Calling A Family Council

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I haven't been getting along too well at home for some time now, and I've just about reached the end of my patience. You see, I'm the oldest child and I have one sister, who is the baby of the family. Therefore, if anything goes wrong at home, or if my sister and I have a fight, I'm always the one to blame according to my mother. My father tries to be fair, but I'm blamed constantly for things I haven't done. I've tried to talk to Mother, but she refuses to listen, and now I'm at a complete loss. Could you give me any advice?"

Nancy Mottram

(A) Perhaps if you could call a family council or just catch them all together some evening, you might be able to put your cards on the table and have each one give his side. This concerns all of you, and you have your rights to be heard as much as anyone else. All you're asking is fairness. You're not asking for favors, only for consideration and a chance to be heard. Once they know definitely how you feel about it, perhaps you'll realize where you've made mistakes and try to do a more compromising and understanding in the future.

• — • — •

(Q) "Dear Nancy: At Christmas time, I dated a college fellow almost every night; and when he went back, he promised to write. He gave me his frat pin, and although we're supposed to be going steady, I haven't heard a word from him. I don't know whether to write or to keep on waiting. What do you think?"

(A) You might give him a week more, and since you're going steady, there would be nothing wrong in the first letter coming from you. If that is the case, make it chatty and newsy, and stay away from point-blank questions, such as "What have you been doing?" and "Why haven't you written?" There's probably a very good explanation, and he'll tell you himself in his first letter.

• — • — •

(Q) "Dear Nancy: My best friend and I have always liked to double date; but she and the boy I go out with are feuding, and everytime the four of us go anywhere together, it almost ends in bloodshed. Nothing I've done has succeeded in patching up their quarrel or friendship. I've done everything I could think of and it hasn't worked. Can you give me any advice?"

(A) Since nothing you say or do has any effect, give it up for a while and see if they can't settle down, forget their little disagreement, and be big enough to apologize and make up, for their friend's sake, as well as their own. And in the meantime, you'd be wise to keep 'em apart. Single date or go out with other couples; but until those two can be in the same room without raising the roof, keep away from trouble.

Nancy can help with all your teen-age problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Radio And Television Sets In Automobiles

In New York City and Washington simultaneously, hot arguments are developing over whether radios should be permitted in taxicabs. The City Hack Bureau in Gotham has already issued an order for the 1,000 taxis that still have radios to get rid of them in a week.

In the nation's capital, Prosecutor Clark King says listening to the radio violates an ordinance requiring drivers to give "full time and attention" to their driving. (So, presumably, does conversation).

In New York, a taxi spokesman says not a single accident in recent years could be blamed upon a radio. In Washington, Mr. King cited the testimony of a defendant who failed to get out of the way of a fire truck because the radio prevented him from hearing the sirens. Another driver, he said, unconsciously increased his speed from 25 to 50 miles an hour during a tense moment in a radioed baseball game.

What could conceivably happen to the driver listening to race results when he has picked the winner?

A representative of the Automobile Association of America, horning into the argument via Washington, says there are many advantages to an auto radio. On the highway, for instance, it helps keep a driver awake. But he agreed that the driver who listens to a radio in heavy traffic is an "extremely careless driver."

No state has laws which forbid listening to the radio while driving, but auto deaths have approached 40,000 in the United States in a single year. That figure is slight evidence that driving still isn't so simple that added distractions do not matter.

Delegate Whitworth, chairman of the Allegany county delegation to the Maryland General Assembly, probably had such thoughts when he introduced a bill last week to prohibit the use of television sets in automobiles. There is no doubt that a television set would distract a driver more than a radio does because the latter device requires only listening to the entertainment it provides while to get the benefit of the former requires watching the screen. And no driver can do that and at the same time keep his eye on the road. The passage of such a bill would ban the use of television sets in cars owned and driven by Marylanders. But what about out-of-state autoists and tourists with such equipment? Will the Whitworth measure forbid the use of television by them while passing through the Free State? If it doesn't, it should.

Truman Administration Intends Spending Regardless

As the present outpouring of presidential messages attests, "tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect," the New Deal slogan as formulated by Harry Hopkins, is actually the rule of political life with Harry Truman. He does not forgive a Republican Congress for cutting taxes by about $4,000,000,000, and is out to get all that money back—which, you might say, is his fiscal program in a nutshell.

So his constant strategy is to underestimate the national income in advance in order to provide a plausible basis for tax increases. The four billion which he wants now is to come from some form of corporation taxation, from higher rates on income taxpayers in the middle and upper bracket and—as been noted from time to time by writers on this page—by taking under the guise of increased "social security," some two billion more from persons in the lower brackets and applying it to the general expenses of government. In the last analysis these extractions come from the counties, cities and towns, whose share of the national tax income has dropped since 1929 from 47 per cent to 11 per cent.

Republicans and conservative Democrats in Congress owe it to the country to resist the Truman program. As Calvin Coolidge said after the other World War, the only legislative act which benefits everybody and injures nobody is one reducing the general tax burden. This means resistance to what purport to be social security measures but are really a device for double-tapping small incomes; resistance also to projects which would deprive corporations of the funds to meet depreciation and to carry on. Necessarily it means economy all along the line, with release of hundreds of thousands of official chair-warmers—and a mandate to the Federal government to keep its hands off the functions and revenues of local governments.

On the backs of the American people is a national debts of $252,000,000,000. That's never to be forgotten.

Great Britain Has Run On The Wig Market

It's lucky for the British Labor government that W. S. Gilbert has long been dead. What a glorious opportunity for merriment Sullivan's collaborator would have found in the absurdities of nationalized medicine.

The latest is a run on the British wig market. Thanks to the ruling of Aneurin Bevin, Pooh-Bah of the national health service, bald-headed men and women are entitled to wigs at public expense. Applications are now pouring in at the rate of 200 wigs a week, and the government expects an ultimate demand for 100,000 a year. Since each wig now costs $40 a head, this means an outlay of a cool $4,000,000 a year. In addition, a providential government guarantees to have each wig cleaned and dressed every two months. To make matters worse, the wearers, who have been content for years with one wig now demand two. All of which means a series of firstclass aches for the well-shocked head of Mr. Bevan and the balding but unwigged brow of Prime Minister Attlee.

Perhaps, by what the psychical researchers call "precognition," Gilbert foresaw this governmental farce when he wrote the libretto for "The Mikado." You will recall that the "logical Mikado" decreed that the Lord High Executioner Koko could not perform his functions until he had had experience—in other words, "can't cut off another's head until he's cut his own off." The position of Bevan, forced by the logic of his socialism into even greater absurdities in the field of state medicine, daily recalls the plight of Koko.

The American Congress, soon to debate the Administration plan for Federal health insurance, can benefit from Britain's horrible example at no expense whatever—except perhaps a stitch in the side.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

(Copyright: 1949: By The Chicago Tribune)

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Diaper Rash

Diaper rash is common because the skin of infants is delicate and unusually susceptible to irritation. A new detergent may solve this problem; reports indicate that when used properly, even the most stubborn eruptions have vanished in less than a week.

Dr. Van Dellen

This type of outbreak is most likely to develop when diapers are not changed at intervals during the day and night. The secretions contain bacteria which decompose the urine and form ammonia, the chemical that is responsible for the rash. Now and then the fault lies in laundering the diapers with strong alkaline soap and inadequate rinsing. At any rate, the areas in and about the buttocks, genitalia, and thighs become inflamed and macerated. In more severe cases, eczema ensues with oozing, blistering lesions. Occasionally, the condition is so marked that the secretions are flecked with blood. To the best of our knowledge, there is little or no itching.

By keeping the parts dry with dusting powder or exposing the skin to the air periodically, and pinning the diaper beneath rather than on the infant, the rash will often disappear. Exposure to ultraviolet light is helpful also in obstinate cases. A mild ointment like zinc oxide may be applied to the inflammed regions at night, when it is necessary to keep the baby covered.

The best method, however, is to attack the problem at its source. The diapers are washed as usual and in the past it was common practice to rinse them in boric acid or a dilute solution of bichloride of mercury. The latter was not an ideal antiseptic, as many women were afraid to use it because of its poisonous qualities. In addition, it corroded gold rings and in this respect was a nuisance. Physicians, too, were hesitant about recommending it because they feared that an incorrect concentration of the drug might be employed....

The latest antiseptic to be suggested is a detergent consisting of one of the quarternary ammonium compounds. It is a product known as "diapene" with one of the longest chemical names I have ever heard: para di-isobutyl-cresoxy-theoxy-ethyl di-methyl benzyl ammonium chloride monohydrate. Experiments show that dilutions of 1 to 200,000 parts will destroy the causative germs. It is non-irritating and harmless. All that is required is to place the washed diapers in a basin and allow them to soak for 10 mintes in a 1 to 25,000 solution of this substance. The cloths are then wrung out and hung up to dry. The antiseptic is absorbed by the diapers and kills the organisms present. With no bacteria, ammonia cannot form.

Reuel A. Benson and his colleagues at the New York medical college used diapers treated with diapent on 50 youngsters who were suffering from diaper rash. At the end of three days, dermatitis had receded in 31 and cleared completely in 18. By the end of the week, the condition had isappeared in all but one. The mothers were encouraged and stated they no longer detected the odor of ammonia on diapers that were sterlized in this fashion.

DISINTEGRATION

J. P. writes: I have been told that no one ever dies of old age; that some disease must kill. Is this correct?

Reply

Yes, but the answer depends upon whether we consider old age a normal stage in life or an abnormal condition produced by hardening of the arteries or a worn-out glandular system. In this strict sense, old age is a period in which we die because one or more vital organs cease to function. If an individual succumbs during the forties, would it be proper to say that he died of middle age.

ALLERGY CAUSES ECZEMA

Mrs. E. K. writes: My one year old baby has had eczema since he was five months old. What can be done about it?

REPLY

Eczema is an allergic disorder and, in most instances, an irritant in the baby's diet is responsible. Milk is a common offender and switching to a substitute such as soybean or goat milk may help. Local remedies are of secondary importance but the most popular are the coal tar ointments. The antihistaminic drugs sometimes prove beneficial.

FORCEFUL SINGING

J. B. writes: Could rupture occur in the abdomen from singing?

Reply

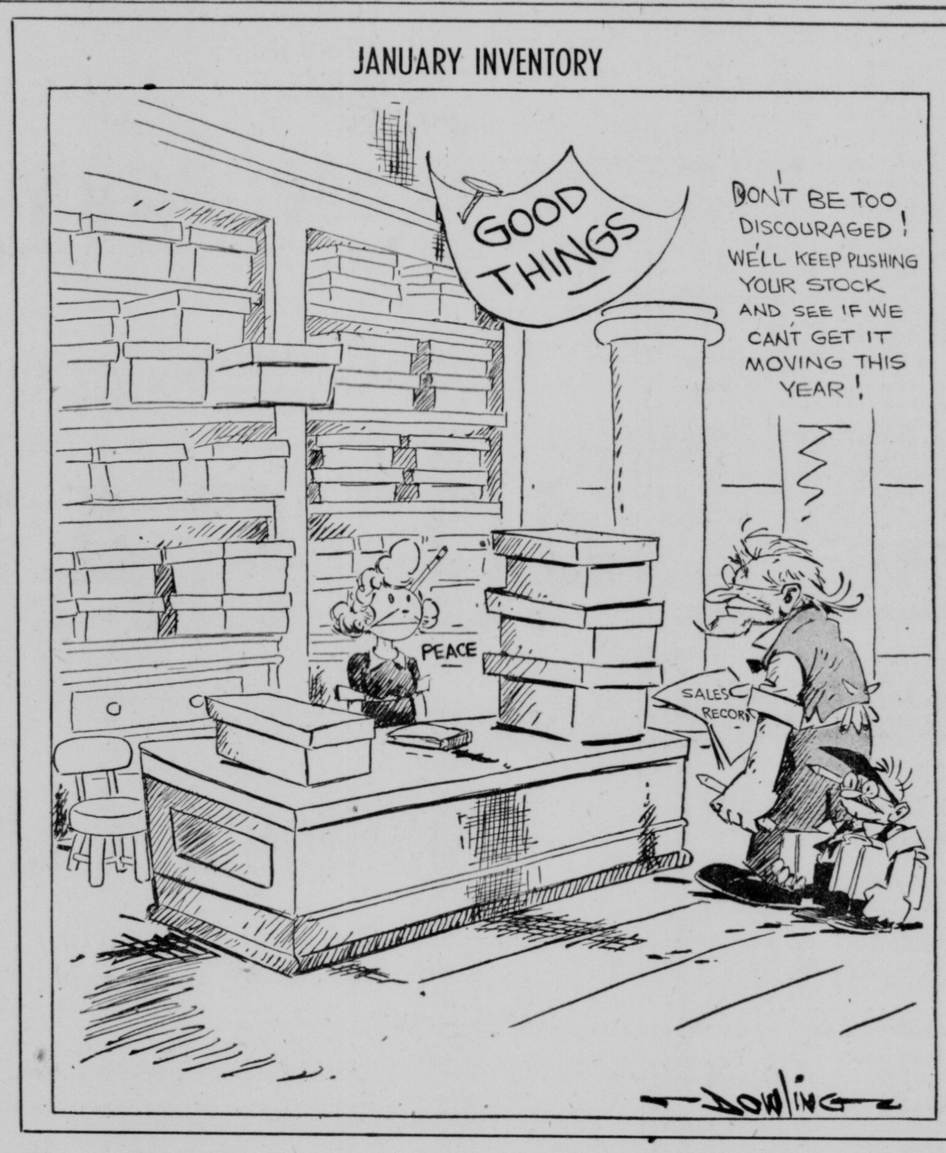

Any strain can produce abdominal hernia if the muscles are weak or a defect in in the wall exists. I doubt if the abnormality could occur in this manner in normal individuals. Should singing prove this much of a strain, it means that the chest is not being utilized to its fullest extent.

Collecting Calcium

Mrs. W. S. writes: Older persons are told to drink milk because of the calcium it provides yet this is listed as one of the foods that causes fatty deposits in the arteries, thus inviting coronary thrombosis. Will you please state your opinion?

Reply

You are confusing calcium and cholesterol. In laboratory experiments with animals, foods high in cholesterol have produced hardening of the arteries; but we have no proof that this occurs in human beings. Calcium deposits are a late manifestation and do not enter into the cause.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Could Stimulate Polio Fund; ASCAP Head Volunteers Cooperation On Making Truman Recordings; Eleanor Kefauver, 7, Loyal To Tennessee

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—January is a month when we have come to think of inaugurating Presidents and of raising money for children who cannot walk.

In addition to children, newspapermen became so long accustomed to a President who also could not walk, that they have been a little slow to realize that the President of the United States can now drop in on his friends on Capitol Hill without the least effort, and can amble in and out of the Capitol's entrances as fast as anyone else when he takes the oath of office.

For so many years was it necessary to build long, slanting ramps up inclines in order to avoid steps for the President, that people in Washington became quite accustomed to it and took it for granted.

And during all the years Franklin Roosevelt was in office, the newspapers, including those hostile to him, said almost nothing about his infirmity. Even in private conversation people did not talk too much about the fact that the President could not walk. They just felt sorry for him and didn't mention it.

Only on his birthday was his infirmity brought home to the public, and then in order to help others stricken with his dread affliction.

An Idea For Truman

Today this column recalls these facts because as Franklin Roosevelt's birthday again approaches, and as the span of years since his death increases, it is only natural that the money-raising effort which he inspired should somewhat diminish. Therefore here is an idea which may help revitalize it—an idea by which one President can help the work started by another.

Harry Truman not only can walk, but he can play the piano. And despite the advice of his daughter to stick to his few favorite tunes, a lot of people think he plays rather well. They enjoy hearing him.

Only a very few of the American people, however, have had the pleasure of hearing him. He has played at the dinners of his Oklahoma oil heiress friend, Mrs. Perle Mesta. He has played at the Press Club, and in the privacy of the White House.

And while it might not be dignified for the President of the United States to play before a large audience, there could be nothing wrong with Harry Truman's making two or three records for the American people for the benefit of Roosevelt's infantile paralysis fund.

For instance, if the President should make a phonograph record of his old favorites, "Missouri Waltz" and "Anchors Aweigh," I predict they would sell in the millions.

Furthermore if daughter Margaret sang to her father's accompaniment, more millions would accumulate for the infantile paralysis fund.

ASCAP Offers Cooperation

To test out the idea, I put it before Fred Alhert, head of ASCAP (American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers). Alhert has written a good many songs himself, including two which sold over two million—"I'll Get By," and Bing Crosby's theme song, "Where the Blue of the Night Meets the Gold of the Day." So he can be considered something of an authority on music. Furthermore, as head of ASCAP he is something of an authority on the sale of records.

Fred Alhert's reaction was immediate. He volunteered to obtain a waiver of all royalty rights from the authors of Harry Truman's favorites, and also offered to pay a good share of the cost of making the records. The only reason he didn't offer to pay all the cost was because he feared the sale would run into so many millions it would bankrupt ASCAP.

Anyway, there is an idea—an idea by which one President can help cure the affliction which struck another president. The records could be dedicated: "To a crippled president who helped a crippled nation—from Harry Truman."

Tennessee—Hub of U.S.A.

Eleanor Kefauver, seven-year-old daughter of the Senator from Tennessee, believes that all the U.S.A. revolves around her daddy's state. At least that was her excuse for inviting all the girls in her class to ride on the Tennessee float in the inaugural parade.

Senator and Mrs. Kefauver didn't know about their daughter's hospitality until one of the mothers called up and asked what her little girl was supposed to wear in the parade. Whereupon Mrs. Kefauver asked Eleanor about it.

Eleanor explained that since the Tennessee float depicted a garden scene there was no reason why a crowd of little girls shouldn't be seen in the garden. Furthermore, added Eleanor: "All the girls in my class have some connection with Tennessee."

"Why what about Evelyn Ellender," remonstrated Mrs. Kefauver, "she comes from South America."

"Yes, but she had to come through Tennessee to get to Washington."

In the end, Eleanor was overruled. She herself will ride on the Tennessee float, along with one little girl from every Tennessee congressman's family. But her schoolmates were ruled out, and Mrs. Kefauver has been busy calling up their mothers to explain. She doesn't know exactly how many people Eleanor has invited, so she is still worried for fear some of them may turn up at parade time.

Inaugural-Go-Round

Out-of-town detectives imported to augment the Secret Service are being paid $30 a day during the four-day inaugural. Five hundred of them, drafted from neighboring cities, wear a secret insignia to identify themselves to each other... Ex-Sen. Curley Brooks of Illinois, Republican, who arranged the money for the inaugural, now can't get more than two seats for himself. He thought he was making the preparations for the Republicans. Now he is defeated, and the Democrats are spending the money. No wonder Senators are calling the inauguration "Curley Brooks' Wake." . . . Ten thousand Dewey buttons turned up in Washington this week, distributed by the freedom train. What happened was that the American Heritage Foundation was able get salvaged Dewey buttons at bargain rates and covered them over with freedom slogans . . . Oklahoma's flying L quartet, which is bringing its barbershop harmony to the inaugural, usually sings without accompaniment. But the boys are trying to arrange a special accompanist for inaugural night—a pianist by the name of Harry Truman.

Payroll Taxes Could Do What Communists Want Done In U. S.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—Payroll taxes could conceivably bankrupt America and do exactly what the Communists want done to undermine American stability.

This in substance is the view expressed by Senator A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, Democrat, in a speech just delivered.

"Before there is a resort to force," said Mr. Robertson, "we may expect an all-out communistic effort to wreck the democracies of the world financially. In Europe that effort takes the form of physical sabotage of economic rehabilitation. In this country it takes the form of creating discontent, stimulating demands for public spending which are extravagant even though they are not directly socialistic, and infiltrating our national life by government action and competition which either is socialistic or which inevitably will hamper individual enterprise.

"Without impugning the motives of many of those who are advocating so-called social legislation, therefore, I think it may be in order for us to examine the possible effect on our way of life of some current proposals."

Sifts Truman's Recommendations

The Virginia senator then analyzes the recommendations of the President for larger taxes on payrolls. He adds:

"If the old age and survivors insurance tax goes to the predicted 5.2 per cent and the unemployed tax stays at 3 per cent and a proposed disability insurance plan costs 3.5 per cent, as estimated by the Social Security Board, this amounts to a combined rate of nearly 16 per cent on payrolls. To that must be added the cost of whatever additional benefits are provided under the old age and survivors insurance program. . . .

"At one hearing before the ways and means committee on the subject some economists placed a total of such payroll taxes at 20 per cent.

"If the tax should reach that rate and with Mr. Ewing's proposal that the tax apply to incomes up to $4,800, the half paid by employees would go as high as $40 a month in addition to all other taxes."

Mr. Robertson said that before embarking on any such program Congress should "determine whether or not the people of the nation can finance it without ultimate socialization of our economy."

Most important of all, of course, is the impact of the payroll taxes on prices and on the costs of production. The assumption that payroll taxes can be added without hurting the economic system is fallacious. Senator Robertson makes the point this way:

"Increased taxes on business have been proposed on incomes as well as payrolls. The imposition of payroll taxes has a three-way effect:

"(1) In adding to the cost of production they will reduce the level of profit when the present sellers' market turns to a buyers' market, as eventually it will.

"(2) They increase the cost of the finished item to the consumer and tend to nullify other efforts to reduce the high cost of living.

"(3) Payroll taxes are charged as a cost of doing business and are deducted from gross income before computing the net taxable income and thus reduce the government's income-tax revenue, each $1,000,000,000 of such taxes resulting in a loss of about $300,000,000 in income taxes."

Socialism In Great Britain

The Virginia senator referred in this connection significantly to the socialism of Great Britain when he said:

"The United Kingdom now owns a fifth of all industry of Great Britain. The British injection of socialism into its private enterprise system has recently been extended to the field of medical care. If it takes a British patient as long to get well in a government hospital as it does in this country, the plan is going to be expensive. Recent statistics in this country show that the average patient spends thirty days in a federal hospital but only seven days in a private hospital."

The whole problem of payroll taxes will become one of the most controversial issues of the present session of Congress. The expense of social-welfare legislation has been erroneously figured on a one-year basis. But the progressive increases required in future years may well bring a serious question concerning the integrity of the dollar. Its purchasing power will be more and more devalued if the taxing power for social-welfare legislation is stretched to the limit while the $252,000,000,000 national debt remains virtually unchanged for an indefinite period of time. It seems utterly unlikely that America can pay 20 per cent of all payrolls for social welfare and pay other taxes high enough to yield a surplus over expenses to pay off the national debt. Besides, there is evidently no serious intention to limit or reduce future expenses.

Pres. Truman's Program For Attleeization Of America

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

It might just as well have been Prime Minister Atlee speaking to the British Parliament. The social welfare state is now on our doorstep because Republican party leaders have refused to trace its paternity back to Attlee, Mussonini, Hitler and Stalin.

Mussolini said, "Nothing outside the State; everything for the State; nothing against the State." The State can't fix prices, wages and rent. The State may confiscate private property without compensation. The State can and should build and operate steel plants when it decides to do so; and then, anything else. Anything whatever!

Mr. Truman describes his program as the great tasks to which God has called us. With all respect, I wish he had not asked God to help him pay his campaign debts.

In the Middle Ages, church politicians, pretending to speak for God, were strong for the "just price" and the "just wage"—something to be determined by the politicians and not by willing sellers and buyers in a free market.

Social Welfare Program

The social welfare state is thus presented as having very pious parents, whereas, in fact, as becomes plainer day by day, its law is the law of the wolf-pack—who has the most votes? Shall rents be controlled? Who has the votes? Shall we tax everyone, or only the more successful? Who has the votes? Shall we keep up food prices for farmers, or bring them down for city housewife? Who has the votes? Or, even better, shall we subsidize potatoes to keep them high, and subsidize the consumers so they can't buy the potatoes? All this in the name of Jehovah and Thomas Jefferson! Sweet land of subsidy, of thee I sing.

Mr. Truman's message outlined the Beveridge Plan for America. Step by step, one control calling for the next, it has proceeded to its fatal end in England, now kept out of the bankruptcy courts by the American dole. "Winning" two world wars did not alone bring Britain to its sorry pass. Before World War I began, politicians in England began to ride to power on "nine pence for four pence." You put in four pence, and the politicians will tax someone else (or print the money) to pay you nine pence. Something for nothing. Sops to saps!

In its "Reconstruction Program" thirty years ago, the British Labor Party called for a "national minimum" for everyone, no matter whether they worked or shirked. Mr. Truman calls it the minimum wage. The British called for "Public Health, Housing and Education Acts." Mr. Truman calls for "federal aid." As if the Washington politicians can "aid" anyone! If so, why do they vote us to raise their salaries? "Why don't they "raise" themselves?

For Government Control

The British Socialists, in 1917, demanded a reduction in hours, with no reduction in pay, or increase of output. Well, we have it. Its other name is inflation—more dollars for no more goods—which robs everyone, and the poorest the most. They called for the "elimination from the control of industry of the private capitalist." Mr. Truman would put the government in control.

And then, he asks us—you and me—to give him six billion dollars more (raising the anti, with God's help, from four billions to six between Wednesday and Monday) so he can tax us into prosperity.

One thing that may stop this mad course is the fear of Congressmen that the burden of these new taxes and red-tape may throw us into an economic tailspin for which they will have no answer to angry voters only 650 days from now. Meantime, if the Republican Party will swap off its New Dealers for Senator George, of Georgia, and Bob Doughton, of North Carolina, we may prevent the complete Attleeization of America.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Why Any Income?

The president seems to feel that $6,000 a year is a lot of money; that anyone earning upward of $6,000 is in the middle bracket and should be taxed heavily. It is an interesting point of view because what is involved is the proletarizing of the American people.

For three centuries on this continent, it has been our theory that a man worked to improve the economic and social status of himself and his family. Not having grown out of a feudal society, and with no landed aristocracy of birth existing here, each individual enjoyed equality of opportunity to use his talents and his brawn to his best advantage. Here was, by that process, developed the highest standard of living known to man—and the greatest degree of independence within the law known anywhere on the face of the earth. It was that which attracted immigrants from every country to ours.

The income payments to individuals generally rose, in 1947, reaching the high average of $1,323 per capital. For comparative purposes, it may be cited that the average for 1929 was $680 per capita. If the average is $1,323 per capita, there must be a pull in both directions; apparently what the president seeks is to level down the top to bring up the bottom. In a word, his tax program is unrelated to revenue required by the government but is a process in a social revolution, the characteristic of which is not the redistribution of wealth, but the leveling of income.

The largest number of income tax payments is on incomes between $1,000 and $10,000 a year. It can thus be assumed that the middle bracket starts at $10,000 and runs to $50,000 a year. Above $50,000 the income tax payments begin to taper off. If the income tax exists to penalize high earnings, and therefore the more competent, then the penalties could with greatest fairness be placed on those receiving incomes of more than $50,000 a year, which, of course, would include the President of the United States as a result of recent legislation.

The President, instead, would start the penalties on supervisory workers, management, lawyers, doctors, high school principals, college professors, public officials, including members of congress, his cabinet, mayors, governors, judges and such. In a word, he wants to level downward by taxing the intellectual and managerial leadership of the nation.

The loss to the individual will not be as great as the loss to the nation. Free men work for their families or they sloth off. The incentive to achievement is generally the betterment of the family, the provision of a better home, superior education, increased opportunities for those whom one loves. If that incentive is removed, the breadwinner can see no advantage in the extra effort which once brought him an increased income and now produces only a vague collection, the bulk of which is to be transferred to the Treasury of the United States.

The glorified dollar-a-year self-sacrificer for government service possessed either (A) inherited wealth, (B) accumulated means, or (C) he was subsidized by the enterprise which released him for service to the government. The man who did not possess at least one of these means naturally could not provide for himself or his family on a dollar a year. What made his services so valuable to the government, in time of war, was his experience, his competence and his position gained elsewhere at some one else's expense.

To achieve distinction, he had to be both ambitious and competent and his rewards had been in the social manifestations of increased earnings. Medals buy no nice dresses for mamma.

Mr. Truman would remove that incentive to achievement and level everyone down to the average of a small shopkeeper, a condition with which he, as a person, is more familiar than he is with great accomplishments through individual efforts. Any man rarely goes beyond his personal experience and knowledge. But Mr. Truman is now dealing with great affairs and the fate of a nation. He can, without restraint, do more damage to the future of this country through taxation than by war; he can wreck our society.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

We flew into Lackland Field here in San Antonio and after playing an afternoon performance for the officers, men, and WAFs of the airbase, we did an evening show for the civilians. When we landed at the airfield, General Charles Born and Mayor Callahan greeted me simultaneously and I was a little embarrassed. Did you ever try to salute and shake hands at the same time?

There was a squadron of lovely WAFs standing there at attention and the General asked me to inspect the troops. No comment.

During the performance Doris Day and Irene Ryan were presented lovely bouquets by two privates and then Sergeant Anna L. Ripterton walked up and gave me a beautifully wrapped cabbage. That's the first time I was ever on a stage and got a vegetable handed to me.

Later on General Born invited the entire cast to a party and dinner and he insisted that Les Brown's orchestra eat first. Yes sir, the General just confirmed the fact that he's a very brave man.

The highlight of our evening performance at the Municipal Auditorium was when Fire Commissioner South made me an honorary fire chief. I must remember to ask him to give me back my matches.

Radio And Television Sets In Automobiles

In New York City and Washington simultaneously, hot arguments are developing over whether radios should be permitted in taxicabs. The City Hack Bureau in Gotham has already issued an order for the 1,000 taxis that still have radios to get rid of them in a week.

In the nation's capital, Prosecutor Clark King says listening to the radio violates an ordinance requiring drivers to give "full time and attention" to their driving. (So, presumably, does conversation).

In New York, a taxi spokesman says not a single accident in recent years could be blamed upon a radio. In Washington, Mr. King cited the testimony of a defendant who failed to get out of the way of a fire truck because the radio prevented him from hearing the sirens. Another driver, he said, unconsciously increased his speed from 25 to 50 miles an hour during a tense moment in a radioed baseball game.

What could conceivably happen to the driver listening to race results when he has picked the winner?

A representative of the Automobile Association of America, horning into the argument via Washington, says there are many advantages to an auto radio. On the highway, for instance, it helps keep a driver awake. But he agreed that the driver who listens to a radio in heavy traffic is an "extremely careless driver.

No state has laws which forbid listening to the radio while driving, but auto deaths have approached 40,000 in the United States in a single year. That figure is slight evidence that driving still isn't so simple that added distractions do not matter.

Delegate Whitworth, chairman of the Allegany county delegation to the Maryland General Assembly, probably had such thoughts when he introduced a bill last week to prohibit the use of television sets in automobiles. There is no doubt that a television set would distract a driver more than a radio does because the latter device requires only listening to the entertainment it provides while to get the benefit of the former requires watching the screen. And no driver can do that and at the same time keep his eye on the road. The passage of such a bill would ban the use of television sets in cars owned and driven by Marylanders. But what about out-of-state autoists and tourists with such equipment? Will the Whitworth measure forbid the use of television by them while passing through the Free State? If it doesn't, it should.

Truman Administration Intends Spending Regardless

As the present outpouring of presidential messages attests, "tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect," the New Deal slogan as formulated by Harry Hopkins, is actually the rule of political life with Harry Truman. He does not forgive a Republican Congress for cutting taxes by about $4,000,000,000, and is out to get all that money back—which, you might say, is his fiscal program in a nutshell.

So his constant strategy is to underestimate the national income in advance in order to provide a plausible basis for tax increases. The four billion which he wants now is to come from some form of corporation taxation, from higher rates on income taxpayers in the middle and upper bracket and—as been noted from time to time by writers on this page—by taking under the guise of increased "social security," some two billion more from persons in the lower brackets and applying it to the general expenses of government. In the last analysis these extractions come from the counties, cities and towns, whose share of the national tax income has dropped since 1929 from 47 per cent to 11 per cent.

Republicans and conservative Democrats in Congress owe it to the country to resist the Truman program. As Calvin Coolidge said after the other World War, the only legislative act which benefits everybody and injures nobody is one reducing the general tax burden. This means resistance to what purport to be social security measures but are really a device for double-tapping small incomes; resistance also to projects which would deprive corporations of the funds to meet depreciation and to carry on. Necessarily it means economy all along the line, with release of hundreds of thousands of official chair-warmers—and a mandate to the Federal government to keep its hands off the functions and revenues of local governments.

On the backs of the American people is a national debts of $252,000,000,000. That's never to be forgotten.

Great Britain Has Run On The Wig Market

It's lucky for the British Labor government that W. S. Gilbert has long been dead. What a glorious opportunity for merriment Sullivan's collaborator would have found in the absurdities of nationalized medicine.

The latest is a run on the British wig market. Thanks to the ruling of Aneurin Bevin, Pooh-Bah of the national health service, bald-headed men and women are entitled to wigs at public expense. Applications are now pouring in at the rate of 200 wigs a week, and the government expects an ultimate demand for 100,000 a year. Since each wig now costs $40 a head, this means an outlay of a cool $4,000,000 a year. In addition, a providential government guarantees to have each wig cleaned and dressed every two months. To make matters worse, the wearers, who have been content for years with one wig now demand two. All of which means a series of firstclass aches for the wig-shocked head of Mr. Bevan and the balding but unwigged brow of Prime Minister Attlee.

Perhaps, by what the psychical researchers call "precognition," Gilbert foresaw this governmental farce when he wrote the libretto for "The Mikado." You will recall that the "logical Mikado" decreed that the Lord High Executioner Koko could not perform his functions until he had had experience—in other words, "can't cut off another's head until he's cut his own off." The position of Bevan, forced by the logic of his socialism into even greater absurdities in the field of state medicine, daily recalls the plight of Koko.

The American Congress, soon to debate the Administration plan for Federal health insurance, can benefit from Britain's horrible example at no expense whatever—except perhaps a stitch in the side.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

(Copyright: 1949: By The Chicago Tribune)

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Diaper Rash

Diaper rash is common because the skin of infants is delicate and unusually susceptible to irritation. A new detergent may solve this problem; reports indicate that when used properly, even the most stubborn eruptions have vanished in less than a week.

Dr. Van Dellen

This type of outbreak is most likely to develop when diapers are not changed at intervals during the day and night. The secretions contain bacteria which decompose the urine and form ammonia, the chemical that is responsible for the rash. Now and then the fault lies in laundering the diapers with strong alkaline soap and inadequate rinsing. At any rate, the areas in and about the buttocks, genitalia, and thighs become inflamed and macerated. In more severe cases, eczema ensues with oozing, blistering lesions. Occasionally, the condition is so marked that the secretions are flecked with blood. To the best of our knowledge, there is little or no itching.

By keeping the parts dry with dusting powder or exposing the skin to the air periodically, and pinning the diaper beneath rather than on the infant, the rash will often disappear. Exposure to ultraviolet light is helpful also in obstinate cases. A mild ointment like zinc oxide may be applied to the inflammed regions at night, when it is necessary to keep the baby covered.

The best method, however, is to attack the problem at its source. The diapers are washed as usual and in the past it was common practice to rinse them in boric acid or a dilute solution of bichloride of mercury. The latter was not an ideal antiseptic, as many women were afraid to use it because of its poisonous qualities. In addition, it corroded gold rings and in this respect was a nuisance. Physicians, too, were hesitant about recommending it because they feared that an incorrect concentration of the drug might be employed....

The latest antiseptic to be suggested is a detergent consisting of one of the quarternary ammonium compounds. It is a product known as "diapene" with one of the longest chemical names I have ever heard: para di-isobutyl-cresoxy-theoxy-ethyl di-methyl benzyl ammonium chloride monohydrate. Experiments show that dilutions of 1 to 200,000 parts will destroy the causative germs. It is non-irritating and harmless. All that is required is to place the washed diapers in a basin and allow them to soak for 10 mintes in a 1 to 25,000 solution of this substance. The cloths are then wrung out and hung up to dry. The antiseptic is absorbed by the diapers and kills the organisms present. With no bacteria, ammonia cannot form.

Reuel A. Benson and his colleagues at the New York medical college used diapers treated with diapent on 50 youngsters who were suffering from diaper rash. At the end of three days, dermatitis had receded in 31 and cleared completely in 18. By the end of the week, the condition had isappeared in all but one. The mothers were encouraged and stated they no longer detected the odor of ammonia on diapers that were sterlized in this fashion.

DISINTEGRATION

J. P. writes: I have been told that no one ever dies of old age; that some disease must kill. Is this correct?

Reply

Yes, but the answer depends upon whether we consider old age a normal stage in life or an abnormal condition produced by hardening of the arteries or a worn-out glandular system. In this strict sense, old age is a period in which we die because one or more vital organs cease to function. If an individual succumbs during the forties, would it be proper to say that he died of middle age.

ALLERGY CAUSES ECZEMA

Mrs. E. K. writes: My one year old baby has had eczema since he was five months old. What can be done about it?

REPLY

Eczema is an allergic disorder and, in most instances, an irritant in the baby's diet is responsible. Milk is a common offender and switching to a substitute such as soybean or goat milk may help. Local remedies are of secondary importance but the most popular are the coal tar ointments. The antihistaminic drugs sometimes prove beneficial.

FORCEFUL SINGING

J. B. writes: Could rupture occur in the abdomen from singing?

Reply

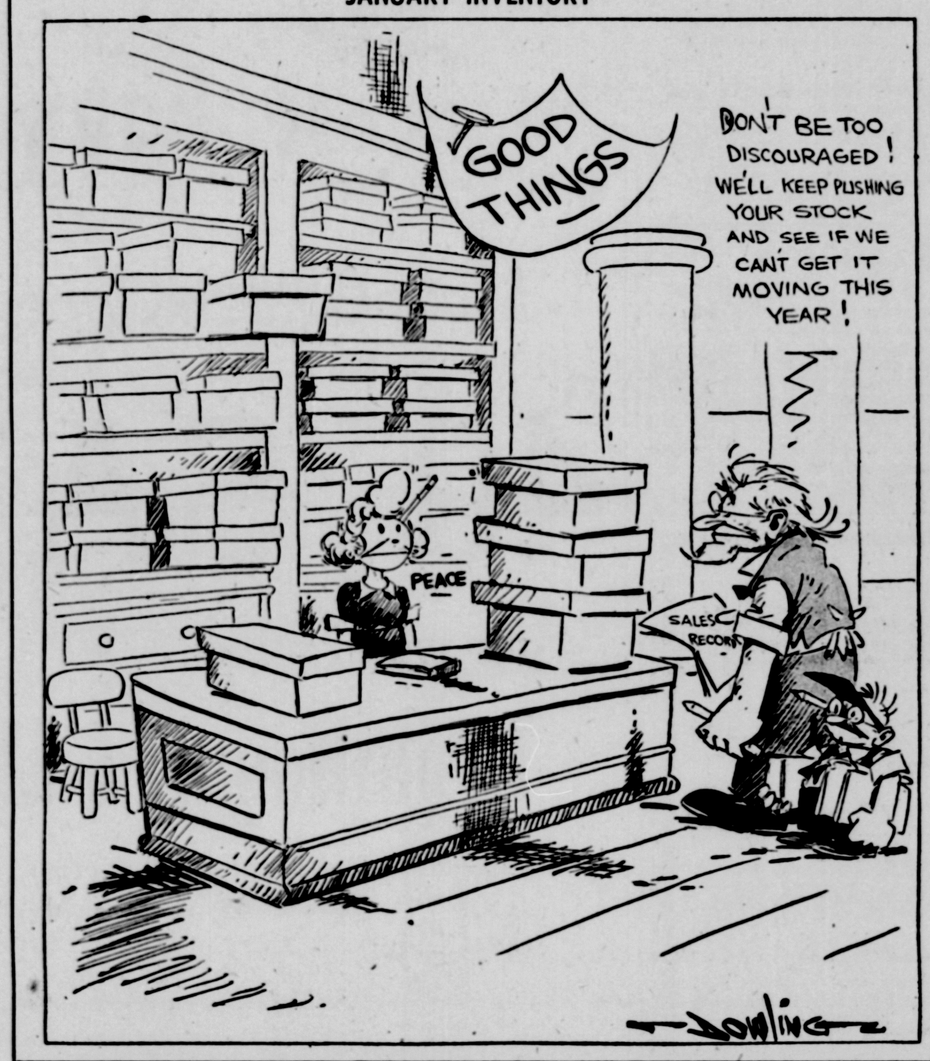

Any strain can produce abdominal hernia if the muscles are weak or a defect in in the wall exists. I doubt if the abnormality could occur in this manner in normal individuals. Should singing prove this much of a strain, it means that the chest is not being utilized to its fullest extent.

Collecting Calcium

Mrs. W. S. writes: Older persons are told to drink milk because of the calcium it provides yet this is listed as one of the foods that causes fatty deposits in the arteries, thus inviting coronary thrombosis. Will you please state your opinion?

Reply

You are confusing calcium and cholesterol. In laboratory experiments with animals, foods high in cholesterol have produced hardening of the arteries; but we have no proof that this occurs in human beings. Calcium deposits are a late manifestation and do not enter into the cause.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Could Stimulate Polio Fund; ASCAP Head Volunteers Cooperation On Making Truman Recordings; Eleanor Kefauver, 7, Loyal To Tennessee

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—January is a month when we have come to think of inaugurating Presidents and of raising money for children who cannot walk.

In addition to children, newspapermen became so long accustomed to a President who also could not walk, that they have been a little slow to realize that the President of the United States can now drop in on his friends on Capitol Hill without the least effort, and can amble in and out of the Capitol's entrances as fast as anyone else when he takes the oath of office.

For so many years was it necessary to build long, slanting ramps up inclines in order to avoid steps for the President, that people in Washington became quite accustomed to it and took it for granted.

And during all the years Franklin Roosevelt was in office, the newspapers, including those hostile to him, said almost nothing about his infirmity. Even in private conversation people did not talk too much about the fact that the President could not walk. They just felt sorry for him and didn't mention it.

Only on his birthday was his infirmity brought home to the public, and then in order to help others stricken with his dread affliction.

An Idea For Truman

Today this column recalls these facts because as Franklin Roosevelt's birthday again approaches, and as the span of years since his death increases, it is only natural that the money-raising effort which he inspired should somewhat diminish. Therefore here is an idea which may help revitalize it—an idea by which one President can help the work started by another.

Harry Truman not only can walk, but he can play the piano. And despite the advice of his daughter to stick to his few favorite tunes, a lot of people think he plays rather well. They enjoy hearing him.

Only a very few of the American people, however, have had the pleasure of hearing him. He has played at the dinners of his Oklahoma oil heiress friend, Mrs. Perle Mesta. He has played at the Press Club, and in the privacy of the White House.

And while it might not be dignified for the President of the United States to play before a large audience, there could be nothing wrong with Harry Truman's making two or three records for the American people for the benefit of Roosevelt's infantile paralysis fund.

For instance, if the President should make a phonograph record of his old favorites, "Missouri Waltz" and "Anchors Aweigh," I predict they would sell in the millions.

Furthermore if daughter Margaret sang to her father's accompaniment, more millions would accumulate for the infantile paralysis fund.

ASCAP Offers Cooperation

To test out the idea, I put it before Fred Alhert, head of ASCAP (American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers). Alhert has written a good many songs himself, including two which sold over two million—"I'll Get By," and Bing Crosby's theme song, "Where the Blue of the Night Meets the Gold of the Day." So he can be considered something of an authority on music. Furthermore, as head of ASCAP he is something of an authority on the sale of records.

Fred Alhert's reaction was immediate. He volunteered to obtain a waiver of all royalty rights from the authors of Harry Truman's favorites, and also offered to pay a good share of the cost of making the records. The only reason he didn't offer to pay all the cost was because he feared the sale would run into so many millions it would bankrupt ASCAP.

Anyway, there is an idea—an idea by which one President can help cure the affliction which struck another president. The records could be dedicated: "To a crippled president who helped a crippled nation—from Harry Truman."

Tennessee—Hub of U.S.A.

Eleanor Kefauver, seven-year-old daughter of the Senator from Tennessee, believes that all the U.S.A. revolves around her daddy's state. At least that was her excuse for inviting all the girls in her class to ride on the Tennessee float in the inaugural parade.

Senator and Mrs. Kefauver didn't know about their daughter's hospitality until one of the mothers called up and asked what her little girl was supposed to wear in the parade. Whereupon Mrs. Kefauver asked Eleanor about it.

Eleanor explained that since the Tennessee float depicted a garden scene there was no reason why a crowd of little girls shouldn't be seen in the garden. Furthermore, added Eleanor: "All the girls in my class have some connection with Tennessee."

"Why what about Evelyn Ellender," remonstrated Mrs. Kefauver, "she comes from South America."

"Yes, but she had to come through Tennessee to get to Washington."

In the end, Eleanor was overruled. She herself will ride on the Tennessee float, along with one little girl from every Tennessee congressman's family. But her schoolmates were ruled out, and Mrs. Kefauver has been busy calling up their mothers to explain.

She doesn't know exactly how many people Eleanor has invited, so she is still worried for fear some of them may turn up at parade time.

Inaugural-Go-Round

Out-of-town detectives imported to augment the Secret Service are being paid $30 a day during the four-day inaugural. Five hundred of them, drafted from neighboring cities, wear a secret insignia to identify themselves to each other... Ex-Sen. Curley Brooks of Illinois, Republican, who arranged the money for the inaugural, now can't get more than two seats for himself. He thought he was making the preparations for the Republicans. Now he is defeated, and the Democrats are spending the money. No wonder Senators are calling the inauguration "Curley Brooks' Wake." . . . Ten thousand Dewey buttons turned up in Washington this week, distributed by the freedom train. What happened was that the American Heritage Foundation was able get salvaged Dewey buttons at bargain rates and covered them over with freedom slogans . . . Oklahoma's flying L quartet, which is bringing its barbershop harmony to the inaugural, usually sings without accompaniment But the boys are trying to arrange a special accompanist for inaugural night—a pianist by the name of Harry Truman.

Payroll Taxes Could Do What Communists Want Done In U. S.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—Payroll taxes could conceivably bankrupt America and do exactly what the Communists want done to undermine American stability.

This in substance is the view expressed by Senator A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, Democrat, in a speech just delivered.

"Before there is a resort to force," said Mr. Robertson, "we may expect an all-out communistic effort to wreck the democracies of the world financially. In Europe that effort takes the form of physical sabotage of economic rehabilitation. In this country it takes the form of creating discontent, stimulating demands for public spending which are extravagant even though they are not directly socialistic, and infiltrating our national life by government action and competition which either is socialistic or which inevitably will hamper individual enterprise.

"Without impugning the motives of many of those who are advocating so-called social legislation, therefore, I think it may be in order for us to examine the possible effect on our way of life of some current proposals."

Sifts Truman's Recommendations

The Virginia senator then analyzes the recommendations of the President for larger taxes on payrolls. He adds:

"If the old age and survivors insurance tax goes to the predicted 5.2 per cent and the unemployed tax stays at 3 per cent and a proposed disability insurance plan costs 3.5 per cent, as estimated by the Social Security Board, this amounts to a combined rate of nearly 16 per cent on payrolls. To that must be added the cost of whatever additional benefits are provided under the old age and survivors insurance program. . . .

"At one hearing before the ways and means committee on the subject some economists placed a total of such payroll taxes at 20 per cent.

"If the tax should reach that rate and with Mr. Ewing's proposal that the tax apply to incomes up to $4,800, the half paid by employees would go as high as $40 a month in addition to all other taxes."

Mr. Robertson said that before embarking on any such program Congress should "determine whether or not the people of the nation can finance it without ultimate socialization of our economy."

Most important of all, of course, is the impact of the payroll taxes on prices and on the costs of production. The assumption that payroll taxes can be added without hurting the economic system is fallacious. Senator Robertson makes the point this way:

"Increased taxes on business have been proposed on incomes as well as payrolls. The imposition of payroll taxes has a three-way effect:

"(1) In adding to the cost of production they will reduce the level of profit when the present sellers' market turns to a buyers' market, as eventually it will.

"(2) They increase the cost of the finished item to the consumer and tend to nullify other efforts to reduce the high cost of living.

"(3) Payroll taxes are charged as a cost of doing business and are deducted from gross income before computing the net taxable income and thus reduce the government's income-tax revenue, each $1,000,000,000 of such taxes resulting in a loss of about $300,000,000 in income taxes."

Socialism In Great Britain

The Virginia senator referred in this connection significantly to the socialism of Great Britain when he said:

"The United Kingdom now owns a fifth of all industry of Great Britain. The British injection of socialism into its private enterprise system has recently been extended to the field of medical care. If it takes a British patient as long to get well in a government hospital as it does in this country, the plan is going to be expensive. Recent statistics in this country show that the average patient spends thirty days in a federal hospital but only seven days in a private hospital."

The whole problem of payroll taxes will become one of the most controversial issues of the present session of Congress. The expense of social-welfare legislation has been erroneously figured on a one-year basis. But the progressive increases required in future years may well bring a serious question concerning the integrity of the dollar. Its purchasing power will be more and more devalued if the taxing power for social-welfare legislation is stretched to the limit while the $252,000,000,000 national debt remains virtually unchanged for an indefinite period of time. It seems utterly unlikely that America can pay 20 per cent of all payrolls for social welfare and pay other taxes high enough to yield a surplus over expenses to pay off the national debt. Besides, there is evidently no serious intention to limit or reduce future expenses.

Pres. Truman's Program For Attleeization Of America

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

It might just as well have been Prime Minister Atlee speaking to the British Parliament. The social welfare state is now on our doorstep because Republican party leaders have refused to trace its paternity back to Attlee, Mussonini, Hitler and Stalin.

Mussolini said, "Nothing outside the State; everything for the State; nothing against the State." The State can't fix prices, wages and rent. The State may confiscate private property without compensation. The State can and should build and operate steel plants when it decides to do so; and then, anything else. Anything whatever!

Mr. Truman describes his program as the great tasks to which God has called us. With all respect, I wish he had not asked God to help him pay his campaign debts.

In the Middle Ages, church politicians, pretending to speak for God, were strong for the "just price" and the "just wage"—something to be determined by the politicians and not by willing sellers and buyers in a free market.

Social Welfare Program

The social welfare state is thus presented as having very pious parents, whereas, in fact, as becomes plainer day by day, its law is the law of the wolf-pack—who has the most votes? Shall rents be controlled? Who has the votes? Shall we tax everyone, or only the more successful? Who has the votes? Shall we keep up food prices for farmers, or bring them down for city housewife? Who has the votes? Or, even better, shall we subsidize potatoes to keep them high, and subsidize the consumers so they can't buy the potatoes? All this in the name of Jehovah and Thomas Jefferson! Sweet land of subsidy, of thee I sing.

Mr. Truman's message outlined the Beveridge Plan for America. Step by step, one control calling for the next, it has proceeded to its fatal end in England, now kept out of the bankruptcy courts by the American dole. "Winning" two world wars did not alone bring Britain to its sorry pass. Before World War I began, politicians in England began to ride to power on "nine pence for four pence." You put in four pence, and the politicians will tax someone else (or print the money) to pay you nine pence. Something for nothing. Sops to saps!

In its "Reconstruction Program" thirty years ago, the British Labor Party called for a "national minimum" for everyone, no matter whether they worked or shirked. Mr. Truman calls it the minimum wage. The British called for "Public Health, Housing and Education Acts." Mr. Truman calls for "federal aid." As if the Washington politicians can "aid" anyone! If so, why do they vote us to raise their salaries? "Why don't they "raise" themselves?

For Government Control

The British Socialists, in 1917, demanded a reduction in hours, with no reduction in pay, or increase of output. Well, we have it. Its other name is inflation—more dollars for no more goods—which robs everyone, and the poorest the most. They called for the "elimination from the control of industry of the private capitalist." Mr. Truman would put the government in control.

And then, he asks us—you and me—to give him six billion dollars more (raising the anti, with God's help, from four billions to six between Wednesday and Monday) so he can tax us into prosperity.

One thing that may stop this mad course is the fear of Congressmen that the burden of these new taxes and red-tape may throw us into an economic tailspin for which they will have no answer to angry voters only 650 days from now. Meantime, if the Republican Party will swap off its New Dealers for Senator George, of Georgia, and Bob Doughton, of North Carolina, we may prevent the complete Attleeization of America.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Why Any Income?

The president seems to feel that $6,000 a year is a lot of money; that anyone earning upward of $6,000 is in the middle bracket and should be taxed heavily. It is an interesting point of view because what is involved is the proletarizing of the American people.

For three centuries on this continent, it has been our theory that a man worked to improve the economic and social status of himself and his family. Not having grown out of a feudal society, and with no landed aristocracy of birth existing here, each individual enjoyed equality of opportunity to use his talents and his brawn to his best advantage. Here was, by that process, developed the highest standard of living known to man—and the greatest degree of independence within the law known anywhere on the face of the earth. It was that which attracted immigrants from every country to ours.

The income payments to individuals generally rose, in 1947, reaching the high average of $1,323 per capital. For comparative purposes, it may be cited that the average for 1929 was $680 per capita. If the average is $1,323 per capita, there must be a pull in both directions; apparently what the president seeks is to level down the top to bring up the bottom. In a word, his tax program is unrelated to revenue required by the government but is a process in a social revolution, the characteristic of which is not the redistribution of wealth, but the leveling of income.

The largest number of income tax payments is on incomes between $1,000 and $10,000 a year. It can thus be assumed that the middle bracket starts at $10,000 and runs to $50,000 a year. Above $50,000 the income tax payments begin to taper off. If the income tax exists to penalize high earnings, and therefore the more competent, then the penalties could with greatest fairness be placed on those receiving incomes of more than $50,000 a year, which, of course, would include the President of the United States as a result of recent legislation.

The President, instead, would start the penalties on supervisory workers, management, lawyers, doctors, high school principals, college professors, public officials, including members of congress, his cabinet, mayors, governors, judges and such. In a word, he wants to level downward by taxing the intellectual and managerial leadership of the nation.

The loss to the individual will not be as great as the loss to the nation. Free men work for their families or they sloth off. The incentive to achievement is generally the betterment of the family, the provision of a better home, superior education, increased opportunities for those whom one loves. If that incentive is removed, the breadwinner can see no advantage in the extra effort which once brought him an increased income and now produces only a vague collection, the bulk of which is to be transferred to the Treasury of the United States.

The glorified dollar-a-year self-sacrificer for government service possessed either (A) inherited wealth, (B) accumulated means, or (C) he was subsidized by the enterprise which released him for service to the government. The man who did not possess at least one of these means naturally could not provide for himself or his family on a dollar a year. What made his services so valuable to the government, in time of war, was his experience, his competence and his position gained elsewhere at some one else's expense.

To achieve distinction, he had to be both ambitious and competent and his rewards had been in the social manifestations of increased earnings. Medals buy no nice dresses for mamma.

Mr. Truman would remove that incentive to achievement and level everyone down to the average of a small shopkeeper, a condition with which he, as a person, is more familiar than he is with great accomplishments through individual efforts. Any man rarely goes beyond his personal experience and knowledge. But Mr. Truman is now dealing with great affairs and the fate of a nation. He can, without restraint, do more damage to the future of this country through taxation than by war; he can wreck our society.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

We flew into Lackland Field here in San Antonio and after playing an afternoon performance for the officers, men, and WAFs of the airbase, we did an evening show for the civilians. When we landed at the airfield, General Charles Born and Mayor Callahan greeted me simultaneously and I was a little embarrassed. Did you ever try to salute and shake hands at the same time?

There was a squadron of lovely WAFs standing there at attention and the General asked me to inspect the troops. No comment.

During the performance Doris Day and Irene Ryan were presented lovely bouquets by two privates and then Sergeant Anna L. Ripterton walked up and gave me a beautifully wrapped cabbage. That's the first time I was ever on a stage and got a vegetable handed to me.

Later on General Born invited the entire cast to a party and dinner and he insisted that Les Brown's orchestra eat first. Yes sir, the General just confirmed the fact that he's a very brave man.

The highlight of our evening performance at the Municipal Auditorium was when Fire Commissioner South made me an honorary fire chief. I must remember to ask him to give me back my matches.

PITCHING IN A PINCH

By JOHN W. WHEELER

The well known bull in a China shop acts like a butterfly compared to Wheeler in Hollywood. You can't always be right, but it seems as if you can always be wrong.

First a stranger gets the impression that most of the movie group belong to a couple of large families with surnames of Darling and Dear. From morning to night, you hear Lana Darling or Madeleine Dear, each having apparently several sisters and brothers and cousins. Of course, if you ever listen to your wife talking on the telephone, as who doesn't, you realize there must be a lot of relatives scattered all over the country. Then besides, there is the school whose members go around calling each other "Angel." These usually come from the deep South.

One of the press agents invited me to lunch at a studio and corralled three or four well-known characters to sit at the table, including Mervyn LeRoy and Lana Turner, and it was very nice of him, too. Mr. LeRoy started to tell me about a picture called "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," which impressed me very much so when he paused for breath, I thought I would try to keep the conversational ball in the air and asked innocently enough,

"What part do you play in it?"

There was a shocked silence, and no one seemed to think I was related to either the Dear or Darling family. Finally the press agent turned to my daughter and whispered,

"Please tell your father Mr. LeRoy is one of the biggest directors in Hollywood."

Miss Turner, who is too well known to require description, jumped into the breach by saying to me,

"Oh Mr. WILSON, I have been dying to meet you, but I must hurry off to the hairdresser's." Lana Darling had then been there about ten minutes.

"Why do you go to the hairdresser's?" I asked. "Your hair looks all right to me."

"I have to get it dyed," she smiled, "for a part I'm playing," she added.

Later I was invited to a super-duper Hollywood party which started about midnight and required black-tie as the saying goes, but I had not come equipped so was talked into the idea that the combination of my costume and personality would get me by. It was a gorgeous affair in a tent with a block-long bar and about ten men in white coats behind it. I skulked in corners, because of my clothes, until I recognized a friendly, female face, but was not sure which branch of the Darling family it belonged to. So I began to fish.

"How long have you been in Hollywood?" I asked brightly, thinking it might be Clare Boothe Luce whom I hadn't seen in about five years. The lady was pretty all right.

"Oh, for the last ten or twelve years," said my friend, so I realized my first guess was no good.

It reminded me of the friend of Theodore Roosevelt's sister who had not seen her for several years and met her unexpectedly on the train one day and was doubtful about her identity. She began to ask questions.

"What is your brother doing now?"

"Oh, just the same old thing," replied Mrs. Robinson. "He's still President of the United States."

Anyway, everything turned out fine, for my friend realizing I was floundering admitted she was Anita Colby, and I confided I had thought for a minute she was Clare Luce. She pretended to be flattered. By four-thirty, when I went back to the hotel, my costume had become an entirely secondary matter, and I felt kind of sorry for the boys in black ties. Most of them wouldn't know by then whether I had on overalls or remember or care. Following strictly the Emily Post rules, I sought out and thanked my hostess and host.

I missed an eight o'clock plane I was scheduled to take for San Francisco the next morning and, while having a leisurely breakfast and not enjoying it very much, I ran into an old friend who had also attended the party.

"What are you going to do today?" I asked him.

"I am not sure," he answered, "but judging by the way I feel now I think along about noontime I will cut my throat."

For some reason these parties suggest the story of the man who probably attended one. When he awoke the next morning, the sun was streaming in, and there was a monkey sitting on the foot of his bed. He blinked his eyes and stared at it. Then he reached for a shoe and took careful aim with this warning,

"If you're a monkey, you're in a hell of a fix and, if you're not a monkey, I'm in a hell of a fix."

It turned out to be an organ grider's pet which had climbed in through the open window. The shoe missed the target.

PITCHING IN A PINCH

By JOHN W. WHEELER

The well known bull in a China shop acts like a butterfly compared to Wheeler in Hollywood. You can't always be right, but it seems as if you can always be wrong.

First a stranger gets the impression that most of the movie group belong to a couple of large families with surnames of Darling and Dear. From morning to night, you hear Lana Darling or Madeleine Dear, each having apparently several sisters and brothers and cousins. Of course, if you ever listen to your wife talking on the telephone, as who doesn't, you realize there must be a lot of relatives scattered all over the country. Then besides, there is the school whose members go around calling each other "Angel." These usually come from the deep South.

One of the press agents invited me to lunch at a studio and corralled three or four well-known characters to sit at the table, including Mervyn LeRoy and Lana Turner, and it was very nice of him, too. Mr. LeRoy started to tell me about a picture called "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," which impressed me very much so when he paused for breath, I thought I would try to keep the conversational ball in the air and asked innocently enough.

"What part do you play in it?"

There was a shocked silence, and no one seemed to think I was related to either the Dear or Darling family. Finally the press agent turned to my daughter and whispered,

"Please tell your father Mr. LeRoy is one of the biggest directors in Hollywood."

Miss Turner, who is too well known to require description, jumped into the breach by saying to me,

"Oh Mr. WILSON, I have been dying to meet you, but I must hurry off to the hairdresser's." Lana Darling had then been there about ten minutes.

"Why do you go to the hairdresser's?" I asked. "Your hair looks all right to me."

"I have to get it dyed," she smiled, "for a part I'm playing," she added.

Later I was invited to a super-duper Hollywood party which started about midnight and required black-tie as the saying goes, but I had not come equipped so was talked into the idea that the combination of my costume and personality would get me by. It was a gorgeous affair in a tent with a block-long bar and about ten men in white coats behind it. Mary Ryan Prendergast To Be Bride Of R. C. Mattingly

Ceremony To Be Performed Today

Miss Mary Ryan Prendergast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Francis Prendergast, 511 Washington Street, will become the bride of Robert Claude Mattingly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thomas Mattingly, Narrows Park, today.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at a nuptial mass at 11 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny officiating.

Miss Ann Prendergast, Baltimore, will be her sister's maid of honor and Miss Dorothy Prendergast and Miss Patricia Prendergast will be the bridesmaids. Daniel Mattingly will serve as his brother's best man and the ushers will be William Kelly, Edmund Kean, Karl Muller and Lindberg Cook, Hagerstown.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by her father, is wearing a white taffeta brocade gown, fashioned with empress neckline, long fitted sleeves slashed on the hand, molded bodice tapering to a point in the front and back, and a wide skirt with long train over a hoop petticoat. Her full length veil of French illusion is gathered to a narrow brocade halo and cascades from a wreath of natural lily of the valley. She is carrying a bouquet of lily of the valley and white lilacs.

All her attendants will be attired in identical gowns of white Paris faille made with long fitted bodice, buttoned down the front, small round collar, wide cap sleeves and bouffant skirt with short train sheered to the pointed bodice. With them they will wear gauntlets matching their gowns and wreaths of baby ivy caught in the back with clusters of iris petals. They are carrying cascade bouquets of iris and ivy leaves.

Mrs. Prendergast has chosen a steel gray silk crepe gown for her daughter's wedding. It is made with a square neckline, and short sleeves. With it she will wear long white gloves, mink furs and a pink felt hat with petal brim edged with narrow brown satin and trimmed with pink and brown velvet flowers. A spray of pink roses and violets will complete her costume.

Mrs. Mattingly is wearing a black velvet costume with V neckline and cape sleeves; a black hat with pink satin brim and trimmed with a black feather and veiling. She also will have white gloves and a corsage of pink camellias.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Catholic Girls Central High School and attended Georgetown Visitation College. She is a former member of the sports staff of the Baltimore Sun and the editorial staff of the Montgomery Independent Standard in Bethesda. For the past seven months she has been associated in business with her father.

Her fiance is a graduate of LaSalle High School. He entered the Army after graduation and trained at Specialist School, Fort Belvoir, Va., and served approximately eight months in the Medical Detachment of the 29th Engineers in Manila. He will enter the University of Kentucky, Lexington, February 1, where he will major in physical education.

Mr. and Mrs. Prendergast will entertain members of the immediate families with a wedding breakfast honoring their daughter and her bridal party, at their home following the ceremony. The bridal motif is to be carried out in the decorations with an arrangement of white flowers on the mantel in the dining room and a miniature bridal bouquet matching the bride's adorning the tiered wedding cake. Other rooms will be decorated with bouquets of white flowers with American Beauty roses, white flowers with iris and jonquils and white flowers with snapdragons.

For traveling the bride has chosen a dark green wool crepe suit with matching hat trimmed with bronze flowers and beading. With it she will have bronze shoes and bag and a fur coat. Mr. Mattingly and his bride will reside in Lexington.

Recent parties given for Miss Prendergast included a linen shower and supper by Miss Betty McDonough at her home, 317 Washington Street. A pink and blue color scheme was carried out with arrangements of snapdragons and delphinium. The gifts were concealed beneath a pink and white umbrella. Covers were laid for 12 guests.

Mrs. Wilton Syckes and Mrs. Warren Hendricks entertained with a buffet supper and miscellaneous shower at the former's home, Braddock Road. Assorted spring flowers and silver candelabra of pink and white tapers were used in the decorations. Sixteen guests attended.

Republican Women To Meet Tomorrow

The Republican Women's Club will hold its monthly business session at 8 tomorrow night with Mrs. Paul M. Fletcher presiding.

A card and various games party will follow. Prizes will be awarded and Refreshments will be served.

Committees in charge include Tables, Mrs. Albert Nichols, Mrs. Vada Barncord, Mrs. Agnes Speicher, Mrs. Hugh Hotchkiss and Mrs. Guy Kave; Prizes, Miss Ada Miller, Mrs. William Strickler, Mrs. Jennie Lancaster, Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Fletcher ;and Mrs. Jessie White chairman of Refreshments.

Mrs. Thomas Honored At Birthday Party

FROSTBURG—Clarence Thomas, Eckhart Mines, entertained Friday evening with a surprise birthday party in honor of his wife, Mrs. Angie Pearl Thomas, who was observing her 51st birthday. Vocal and instrumental music were the diversions.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Himmelwright, Mr. ad Mrs. Henry Lapp, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas, Mrs. Helen Thomas, Mrs. Anna Holsinger, Mrs. Rella Porter, Mrs. Katherine Nelson, Misses Olive Thomas, Harriet Jane Carter, Donna Jean Thomas, Beulah Holsinger, Joelinda Jean Thomas, Susan Thomas, Sheila Ann Thomas and Fred and Robert Thomas.

Gleaners To Meet

The Gleaners Bible Class of First Methodist Church will meet at 7:30 Friday for it's monthly business session, continuing the change of meeting dates.

A musical program by pupils of the Stewart Music Studio will feature the entertainment. Refreshments will be served at the social hour.

St. Mary's Club Haven will hold it's weekly dance from 8:30 until 11:30 tonight with music by the Black Diamonds.

Pythian Sisters Name Committees, Plan Social

Manhattan Temple No. 8 Pythian Sisters met Monday night at the Junior Order hall and Mrs. Thelma Poland, most excellent chief, addressed the group and appointed her committees for the year.

Plans were also formulated for a Valentine party to be held at the meeting February 7. Each member is asked to bring a Valentine for the party. A special program will be presented under the direction of the Entertainment committee and refreshments will be served by the Social committee.

Urging attendance Mrs. Poland suggested every member bring a member to the meetings and it was decided to continue the "Open Door." Routine business was also transacted.

Mrs. Joseph Biggs, Mrs. Margaret Hixson and Mrs. Ada Twigg were named for the Ways and Means committee; Mrs. Poland, Mrs. Reba McKee, past chief; and Mrs. Anna Kirby excellent senior, comprise the Sick and Visiting committee; Mrs. Gertrude Rice, Mrs. Ann Drenning and Mrs. Elsie Lehr, Entertainment and Mrs. Myrtle Browning, Mrs. Viola Hudson and Mrs. Laura Stevenson, Social.

Mr., Mrs. Warner Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Warner observed their 30th wedding anniversary with a family dinner last night at their home, Baltimore Pike.

The former Miss Helen Ryan, daughter of Mrs. Nettie Ryan, formerly of Sunbury, Pa., and who for the past several monthes has been residing with her daughter, and the late Henry Warner, was married to Mr. Warner, son of the late Walter and Lillie Warner, this city, January 18, 1919.

Their wedding ceremony was solemnized in Trinity Methodist Church with the Rev. Wheeler officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner are the parents of one son, Lee, who assists his parents in operating their service station and resturant. Mr. Warner was employed as an ICC inspector and machinist for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company for 23 years prior to his resignation to begin his service station and resturant 17 years ago. He is a member of the Knights of Pythias and the Dramatic Order of Knights of Krassen.

The Philathea Bible Class of Centre Street Methodist Church will meet at 7:45 tomorrow in the church parlor.

Women's Sport Club Appoints 1949 Committees

Miss Mary Hartman and her staff of officers assumed their duties at the meeting of the Women's Sport Club, Monday night at Central YMCA. Other new officers are Mrs. Martha Gerkins, vice president; Miss Ann Lottig, secreatry and Miss Beatrice Smith, treasurer.

Committees for the year named are membership, Mrs. Evelyn Ruehl, Miss Jerry Huff and Miss Catherine Diehl; nominating, Mrs. Marian Sharp, Mrs. Eleanor Lavin, Mrs. Lillian Klavauhn; publicity, Miss Mary J. Schellhaus, Miss Catherine Lippold and sunshine, Mrs. Marie Dunlap, Mrs. Mildred George and Mrs. Alberta Treiber.

Social committees were named for the next three months. They are Miss Mary Aleda Raphel, chairman with Mrs. Eleanor Jolly and Mrs. Mary Mewshaw, for February; Mrs. Esther Lehrl chairman, with Mrs. Mary Humbertson and Mrs. George, March; and Miss Alta Earl, chairman with Mrs. Thelma Fisher and Mrs. Veronica Schleiffman for April.

The officers dinner will be held tonight at the Ali Ghan Country Club, beginning at 6:30, at which time retiring officers, will be honored. A bowling dinner will be held in May. Thirty members attended the meeting.

LaVale PTA To Have Moving Picture

The PTA of LaVale School will meet at 8 tomorrow night in the school auditorium.

A moving picture, "Human Growth" will be shown for the parents. No children under 12 years of age will be admitted.

Mary Ryan Prendergast To Be Bride Of R. C. Mattingly

Ceremony To Be Performed Today

Miss Mary Ryan Prendergast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Francis Prendergast, 511 Washington Street, will become the bride of Robert Claude Mattingly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thomas Mattingly, Narrows Park, today.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at a nuptial mass at 11 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny officiating.

Miss Ann Prendergast, Baltimore, will be her sister's maid of honor and Miss Dorothy Prendergast and Miss Patricia Prendergast will be the bridesmaids. Daniel Mattingly will serve as his brother's best man and the ushers will be William Kelly, Edmund Kean, Karl Muller and Lindberg Cook, Hagerstown.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by her father, is wearing a white taffeta brocade gown, fashioned with empress neckline, long fitted sleeves slashed on the hand, molded bodice tapering to a point in the front and back, and a wide skirt with long train over a hoop petticoat. Her full length veil of French illusion is gathered to a narrow brocade halo and cascades from a wreath of natural lily of the valley. She is carrying a bouquet of lily of the valley and white lilacs.

All her attendants will be attired in identical gowns of white Paris faille made with long fitted bodice, buttoned down the front, small round collar, wide cap sleeves and bouffant skirt with short train sheered to the pointed bodice. With them they will wear gauntlets matching their gowns and wreaths of baby ivy caught in the back with clusters of iris petals. They are carrying cascade bouquets of iris and ivy leaves.

Mrs. Prendergast has chosen a steel gray silk crepe gown for her daughter's wedding. It is made with a square neckline, and short sleeves. With it she will wear long white gloves, mink furs and a pink felt hat with petal brim edged with narrow brown satin and trimmed with pink and brown velvet flowers. A spray of pink roses and violets will complete her costume.

Mrs. Mattingly is wearing a black velvet costume with V neckline and cape sleeves; a black hat with pink satin brim and trimmed with a black feather and veiling. She also will have white gloves and a corsage of pink camellias.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Catholic Girls Central High School and attended Georgetown Visitation College. She is a former member of the sports staff of the Baltimore Sun and the editorial staff of the Montgomery Independent Standard in Bethesda. For the past seven months she has been associated in business with her father.

Her fiance is a graduate of LaSalle High School. He entered the Army after graduation and trained at Specialist School, Fort Belvoir, Va., and served approximately eight months in the Medical Detachment of the 29th Engineers in Manila. He will enter the University of Kentucky, Lexington, February 1, where he will major in physical education.

Mr. and Mrs. Prendergast will entertain members of the immediate families with a wedding breakfast honoring their daughter and her bridal party, at their home following the ceremony. The bridal motif is to be carried out in the decorations with an arrangement of white flowers on the mantel in the dining room and a miniature bridal bouquet matching the bride's adorning the tiered wedding cake. Other rooms will be decorated with bouquets of white flowers with American Beauty roses, white flowers with iris and jonquils and white flowers with snapdragons.

For traveling the bride has chosen a dark green wool crepe suit with matching hat trimmed with bronze flowers and beading. With it she will have bronze shoes and bag and a fur coat. Mr. Mattingly and his bride will reside in Lexington.

Recent parties given for Miss Prendergast included a linen shower and supper by Miss Betty McDonough at her home, 317 Washington Street. A pink and blue color scheme was carried out with arrangements of snapdragons and delphinium. The gifts were concealed beneath a pink and white umbrella. Covers were laid for 12 guests.

Mrs. Wilton Sykes and Mrs. Warren Hendricks entertained with a buffet supper and miscellaneous shower at the former's home, Braddock Road. Assorted spring flowers and silver candelabra of pink and white tapers were used in the decorations. Sixteen guests attended.

Bruce Gives Two Jail Terms On Assault Charges

Found guilty by a jury on charges of assaulting Alex Timney, owner of a Lonaconing lunch room, early on the morning of New Year's Day, two Georges Creek men were sentenced to terms in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday by Associat Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr.

They are Lester Boch, 22, Lonaconing, who was given a two-year sentence, and Noah Earl Beeman, 23, National, who was given an eight-month term.

Judge Bruce pointed out that Boch had been involved in a robbery case some months ago and was on parole when the assault on Timney took place.

"Although you have not been tried on a charge of violating your parole, the court notes that you have not heeded the consideration given you to mend your ways," Judge Bruce told Boch.

Beeman was let off with a lighter sentence, but the court commented that he also had been involved in a similar incident some time ago although he was not convicted at the time.

In an appeal heard yesterday Judge Bruce found Tilman Haines, Eckhart, not guilty of drunken and reckless driving. Haines had appealed a conviction in Trial Magistrates' Court.

An assault conviction appeal against Patrick Gordon before a magistrate was dismissed because the court found the records of the trial magistrate were not complete.

W. E. Lewis, Sr., who appealed a conviction of reckless driving told the court that he appeared to be driving in an erratic manner on Route 220 at Rawlings because his car's steering wheel was too loose and because one of his tires was partially deflated.

State Trooper Thomas Barton said Lewis' machine was "weaving all over the road" just before he stopped Lewis.

Man Gets Jail Term After 26 Arrests

Frank Corrick, this city, arrested 26 times in the past nine months in misdemeanor charges, was sentenced yesterday in Trial Magistrates' Court to serve six months in the Maryland House of Correction after he pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge.

Police took him into custody early yesterday morning when he was found sleeping in the basement at the home of Mrs. Hazel Burke, South Mechanic Street, who testified the defendant "did a swell job" of getting into the cellar due to its location.

Mrs. Burke told Magistrate Frank A. Perdew she started to descend the cellar steps to check the furnace and noticed a man's feet stretched out near the hot water heater. Frightened, she aroused her sleeping husband and police were called.

Court records show that Corrick was sentenced to five months in the House of Correction November 28, 1947, a similar charge. He served two 30-day jail sentences here last August and September on larceny counts. The majority of his arrests were for drunkenness.

Bonds Forfeited On Stop Sign Counts

Five motorists forfeited bonds totaling $12.25 yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court for failing to observe sign regulations at Route 49 and Vocke Road.

Failing to appear for hearings were Fred W. Knisley, Midlothian; Michael J. Manley, 10 Blair Street, Frostburg; George H. McCormick, 33 West Main Street, Lonaconing; Benjamin H. Lewis, 144 Greene Street, Frostburg, and Eugene M. Flynn, Route 5. Each forfeited $2.45 for not observing stop signs.

State Trooper Harry Holsinger arrested the quintet January 8.

George Williams, Route 1, was fined $3.45 on a charge of passing another vehicle when the way ahead was not clear. Trooper George E. Coddington nabbed him Sunday on Route 40 in LaVale.

Charged with exceeding 30 at Narrows Park yesterday, William Martin Hartsock, Route 6, forfeited $6.45.

Roland E. Emerick, Ellerslie, forfeited $2.45 for operating a vehicle without a muffler January 9 in LaVale, and Frank D. Cuthberson, Beechwood Street, Lonaconing, forfeited the same amount on a similar charge, preferred January 10 at Route 49 and Vocke Road.

Two Injured Slightly In Auto Accidents

Police accident reports revealed slight injuries to a child on a tricycle and a pedestrian Saturday when they were hit by automobiles.

A car driven by Donald W. Hager, 29, of Route 1, traveling South on North Mechanic Street, struck Robert J. Buzzard, 6, of 632 North Centre Street, as the child's tricycle ran off the curb into the street.

Hager, according to the report, took the boy to Memorial Hospital where he was treated for bruised legs.

In the other mishap a machine operated by C. F. Theis, 60, of 216 Maple Avenue, Keyser, W. Va., brushed a pedestrian on the B. and O. Railroad crossing at Harrison Street, knocking him to the street.

Theis said he took the man, Alexander Mitchell, 109 Polk Street, to his home where he said he was not injured enough to be taken to the hospital.

No charges were filed by police in either case.

Press Sipple, 85, Fort Ashby, W. Va., was treated yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital for a mashed small finger of the right hand which he caught in a shed door.

Mrs. Anna McFarland, 65, Route 1, Frostburg, was treated at Memorial Hospital last night after she caught her right index finger in a washing machine.

Purple Heart Asks Convention Aid

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners was asked for aid in holding the national convention of the Military Order of the Purple Heart here in August, by a committee from Chapter No. 166 of the organization, yesterday.

George M. Leib, spokesman for the committee, said between 700 and 1,000 delegates from all over the country would be here August 16 to 20, and that the local chapter is small and needs help in defraying the expenses of the convention. Expenses will total $10,000, Leib said.

The City of Cumberland has given $2,000, and Leib requested the county board to give $1,000. Members of the board told Leib they wanted time to consider the proposal. An answer on the request will be made by February 15, the board told Leib.

It was pointed out by Leib that a convention of the size to be held here would attract thousands of dollars in business to the community and also would greatly publicize Cumberland. He added that with unemployment at a record peak in the area any publicity which the city could obtain would be to its advantage.

Leib said visitors from all over the nation would come here, that opportunities available in this section could be put across and new industries might result.

Other members of the committee were Duke Iles, Herbert McFarlane, and Maurice Tichnell.

The board also passed a resolution approving the "March of Dimes" campaign for Allegany county.

A proposed bill to be submitted to the legislature under which the community of Cresaptown would have a special taxing area for installation of a much-needed water system was approved by the board.

Herbert Llewellyn, Stanley Moore, Dewey Llewellyn and Raymond Spriggs appeared before the board seeking repairs to a dirt road running from Lonaconing to Westernport by way of the Meese Farm. The board referred the group's request to the county engineer for investigation.

Allegany County Has Lowest Tax Rate In Maryland, Survey Shows

A recent survey shows the Allegany County tax rate was the lowest of any county in Maryland during 1948. It was $1.67 per $100 of assessed property on a 15-month basis rather than the usual 12-month.

The unusual circumstance resulted from the fact that Allegany wound up the preceding fiscal year with a whopping carryover—$494,400—due to a collection of back taxes.

Index To Prosperity

The low tax rate, mirroring the county's general solvency, also is an index to the stable prosperity of this area with its extensive coal mines, its huge Celanese of America plant near Cumberland, the county seat, Kelly - Springfield Tire Company, West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company plant at Luke and other industries.

Another factor making for economic stability here was accounted for today by James E. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners.

Unlike more southerly counties, there was no great influx of purely war industry here, which boomed during hostilities, only to burst after V-J day with accompanying exodus of suddenly jobless workers.

"Our working people stayed on their continuing jobs in the mines, the factories, the fields and orchards," he said.

In 1948 the total levy amounted to $2,619,800, Stevenson reported. About 30,000 taxpayers among a total population of 86,000 countians footed the bill.

As is almost universally true in county taxation, school appropriations represented a large share of the levy — $997,161. This took care of maintenance of existing schools.

Two Million School Loan

Three new ones are financed by a $2,000,000 bond issue floated two weeks ago and are to be built at Mount Savage, Ellerslie, and Lonaconing.

Other large budget items: Debt bonds (retirement), $201,000; debt bond coupons, $117,281; roads and bridges, $325,000; general public assistance, $83,902; insane asylum, $50,000; county infirmary and nursing home, $75,000; county home, $62,500, and contingent fund, $69,619.

The 1949 tax rate is to be set, contrary to custom, at the beginning of the fiscal year, July 1. Heretofore, the levy had been drawn up the third Tuesday in April.

The change brings complications. Taxes which had been collectible July 1 now probably will be paid starting September 1. The rearrangement necessitates a switch in the discount periods. Persons paying taxes in June, July and August previously received discounts, provided for by another budget item of $85,000. With the later collecting deadline the rebate months will be changed.

The complexities caused by the new levying date must be resolved by the State Legislature, it was reported.

Council Approves Petition To PSC For Air Service

The Mayor and City Council approved a petition requesting the approval of the Public Service Commission of the State of Maryland for intra-state airline passenger service of All American Aviation, Inc., at a special session yesterday in City Hall.

Prepared by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, the petition stated the case of the city in regard to its need for transportation by air.

Similar to one presented to the federal government the statement declared that there is only one railroad and one main bus line offering passenger service between Cumberland and larger cities.

It was explained that Cumberland is in the center of a trading area comprising 175,000 persons and isolated by topography from central eastern trading sections.

In addition, it related, there are various large industries whose personnel would find it convenient with interstate business.

The petition added that the federal government had spent $2,000,000 in building the municipal airport at Wiley Ford, that the city had expended about $300,000, and that in the four years since its completion there has been no air service procured here.

It said that since the federal government had warranted heavy expenditures for the field, air service should be approved by the Public Service Commission.

In other action taken by the council this morning, a floral wreath was voted to be sent to the family of Julius Damm, veteran city employe who died Monday.

The spleen acts as a gland, secreting hormones into the blood stream.

In an appeal heard yesterday Judge Bruce found Tilman Haines, Eckhart, not guilty of drunken and reckless driving. Haines had appealed a conviction in Trial Magistrates' Court.

An assault conviction appeal against Patrick Gordon before a magistrate was dismissed because the court found the records of the trial magistrate were not complete.

W. E. Lewis, Sr., who appealed a conviction of reckless driving told the court that he appeared to be driving in an erratic manner on Route 220 at Rawlings because his car's steering wheel was too loose and because one of his tires was partially deflated.

State Trooper Thomas Barton said Lewis' machine was "weaving all over the road" just before he stopped Lewis.

Man Gets Jail Term After 26 Arrests

Frank Corrick, this city, arrested 26 times in the past nine months in misdemeanor charges, was sentenced yesterday in Trial Magistrates' Court to serve six months in the Maryland House of Correction after he pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge.

Police took him into custody early yesterday morning when he was found sleeping in the basement at the home of Mrs. Hazel Burke, South Mechanic Street, who testified the defendant, "did a swell job" of getting into the cellar due to its location.

Mrs. Burke told Magistrate Frank A. Perdew she started to descend the cellar steps to check the furnace and noticed a man's feet stretched out near the hot water heater. Frightened, she aroused her sleeping husband and police were called.

Court records show that Corrick was sentenced to five months in the House of Correction November 28, 1947, a similar charge. He served two 30-day jail sentences here last August and September on larceny counts. The majority of his arrests were for drunkenness.

Bonds Forfeited On Stop Sign Counts

Five motorists forfeited bonds totaling $12.25 yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court for failing to observe sign regulations at Route 49 and Vocke Road.

Failing to appear for hearings were Fred W. Knisley, Midlothian; Michael J. Manley, 10 Blair Street, Frostburg; George H. McCormick, 33 West Main Street, Lonaconing; Benjamin H. Lewis, 144 Greene Street, Frostburg, and Eugene M. Flynn, Route 5. Each forfeited $2.45 for not observing stop signs.

State Trooper Harry Holsinger arrested the quintet January 8.

George Williams, Route 1, was fined $3.45 on a charge of passing another vehicle when the way ahead was not clear. Trooper George E. Coddington nabbed him Sunday on Route 40 in LaVale.

Charged with exceeding 30 at Narrows Park yesterday, William Martin Hartsock, Route 6, forfeited $6.45.

Roland E. Emerick, Ellerslie, forfeited $2.45 for operating a vehicle without a muffler January 9 in LaVale, and Frank D. Cuthberson, Beechwood Street, Lonaconing, forfeited the same amount on a similar charge, preferred January 10 at Route 49 and Vocke Road.

Two Injured Slightly In Auto Accidents

Police accident reports revealed slight injuries to a child on a tricycle and a pedestrian Saturday when they were hit by automobiles.

A car driven by Donald W. Hager, 29, of Route 1, traveling South on North Mechanic Street, struck Robert J. Buzzard, 6, of 632 North Centre Street, as the child's tricycle ran off the curb into the street. Hager, according to the report, took the boy to Memorial Hospital where he was treated for bruised legs.

In the other mishap a machine operated by C. F. Theis, 60, of 216 Maple Avenue, Keyser, W. Va., brushed a pedestrian on the B. and O. Railroad crossing at Harrison Street, knocking him to the street.

Theis said he took the man, Alexander Mitchell, 109 Polk Street, to his home where he said he was not injured enough to be taken to the hospital.

No charges were filed by police in either case.

Press Sipple, 85, Fort Ashby, W. Va., was treated yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital for a mashed small finger of the right hand which he caught in a shed door.

Mrs. Anna McFarland, 65, Route 1, Frostburg, was treated at Memorial Hospital last night after she caught her right index finger in a washing machine.

RELIEF AT LAST For Your COUGH

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Purple Heart Asks Convention Aid

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners was asked for aid in holding the national convention of the Military Order of the Purple Heart here in August, by a committee from Chapter No. 166 of the organization, yesterday.

George M. Leib, spokesman for the committee, said between 700 and 1,000 delegates from all over the country would be here August 16 to 20, and that the local chapter is small and needs help in defraying the expenses of the convention. Expenses will total $10,000, Leib said.

The City of Cumberland has given $2,000, and Leib requested the county board to give $1,000. Members of the board told Leib they wanted time to consider the proposal. An answer on the request will be made by February 15, the board told Leib.

It was pointed out by Leib that a convention of the size to be held here would attract thousands of dollars in business to the community and also would greatly publicize Cumberland. He added that with unemployment at a record peak in the area any publicity which the city could obtain would be to its advantage.

Leib said visitors from all over the nation would come here, that opportunities available in this section could be put across and new industries might result.

Other members of the committee were Duke Iles, Herbert McFarlane, and Maurice Tichnell.

The board also passed a resolution approving the "March of Dimes" campaign for Allegany county.

A proposed bill to be submitted to the legislature under which the community of Cresaptown would have a special taxing area for installation of a much-needed water system was approved by the board.

Herbert Llewellyn, Stanley Moore, Dewey Llewellyn and Raymond Spriggs appeared before the board seeking repairs to a dirt road running from Lonaconing to Westernport by way of the Meese Farm. The board referred the group's request to the county engineer for investigation.

Local Property Sold

Deed of a sale of a Louisiana Avenue property by Edward L. Helmstetter and Dorothy I. Helmstetter, his wife, to Edward Mason Twigg and his wife, Virginia Hardy Twigg.

Tax stamps affixed indicated the amount of sale to be about $10,500. The property is described as Lot 26 of Block 19 of Johnson Heights Addition. The property is about 15 by 130 feet.

Allegany County Has Lowest Tax Rate In Maryland, Survey Shows

A recent survey shows the Allegany County tax rate was the lowest of any county in Maryland during 1948. It was $1.67 per $100 of assessed property on a 15-month basis rather than the usual 12-month.

The unusual circumstance resulted from the fact that Allegany wound up the preceding fiscal year with a whopping carryover—$494,400—due to a collection of back taxes.

Index To Prosperity

The low tax rate, mirroring the county's general solvency, also is an index to the stable prosperity of this area with its extensive coal mines, its huge Celanese of America plant near Cumberland, the county seat, Kelly - Springfield Tire Company, West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company plant at Luke and other industries.

Another factor making for economic stability here was accounted for today by James E. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners.

Unlike more southerly counties, there was no great influx of purely war industry here, which boomed during hostilities, only to burst after V-J day with accompanying exodus of suddenly jobless workers.

"Our working people stayed on their continuing jobs in the mines, the factories, the fields and orchards," he said.

In 1948 the total levy amounted to $2,619,800, Stevenson reported. About 30,000 taxpayers among a total population of 86,000 countians footed the bill.

As is almost universally true in county taxation, school appropriations represented a large share of the levy—$997,161. This took care of maintenance of existing schools.

Two Million School Loan

Three new ones are financed by a $2,000,000 bond issue floated two weeks ago and are to be built at Mount Savage, Ellerslie, and Lonaconing.

Other large budget items: Debt bonds (retirement), $201,000; debt bond coupons, $117,281; roads and bridges, $325,000; general public assistance, $83,902; insane asylum, $50,000; county infirmary and nursing home, $75,000; county home, $62,500, and contingent fund, $69,619.

The 1949 tax rate is to be set, contrary to custom, at the beginning of the fiscal year, July 1. Heretofore, the levy had been drawn up the third Tuesday in April.

The change brings complications. Taxes which had been collectible July 1 now probably will be paid starting September 1. The rearrangement necessitates a switch in the discount periods. Persons paying taxes in June, July and August previously received discounts, provided for by another budget item of $85,000. With the later collecting deadline the rebate months will be changed.

The complexities caused by the new levying date must be resolved by the State Legislature, it was reported.

Council Approves Petition To PSC For Air Service

The Mayor and City Council approved a petition requesting the approval of the Public Service Commission of the State of Maryland for intra-state airline passenger service of All American Aviation, Inc., at a special session yesterday in City Hall.

Prepared by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, the petition stated the case of the city in regard to its need for transportation by air.

Similar to one presented to the federal government the statement declared that there is only one railroad and one main bus line offering passenger service between Cumberland and larger cities.

It was explained that Cumberland is in the center of a trading area comprising 175,000 persons and isolated by topography from central eastern trading sections.

In addition, it related, there are various large industries whose personnel would find it convenient with interstate business.

The petition added that the federal government had spent $2,000,000 in building the municipal airport at Wiley Ford, that the city had expended about $300,000, and that in the four years since its completion there has been no air service procured here.

It said that since the federal government had warranted heavy expenditures for the field, air service should be approved by the Public Service Commission.

In other action taken by the council this morning, a floral wreath was voted to be sent to the family of Julius Damm, veteran city employe who died Monday.

The spleen acts as a gland, secreting hormones into the blood stream.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The feud between Harold Ross, brilliant but irascible editor of the New Yorker, and Raoul Fleischman, baking magnate who put up the capital that launched the magazine, is unending and famous. The late Russell Maloney, who was on the New Yorker staff for years, swore that when Fleischman and Ross passed each other in the hall, Ross would mutter, "Yeast," Fleischman would answer "Pest" — and never the brains did meet!

A New York lady, freshly arrived at the village of Truro, on Cape Cod, for a vacation, was endeavoring vainly to engage a taciturn native in conversation. Her bright remarks about the cottages, and dunes, and the views of the sea went unanswered. In desperation she hazarded, "What quaint, quaint people one sees around here." Unexpectedly the native replied, "You're absolutely right, ma'am," he said, "but, thank God, they all go home after Labor Day."

City of the Mind

The late Sir Robertson Nicoll once remarked that one reason why Dickens broke down before he should was because of his lack of "a love of literature." He said that "he had no city of the mind to flee to, and as the strain of public life became harder he broke down under it, simply for want of shelter."

I wonder if there are not many people who for want of a "city of the mind" to which to flee at times, break down under the strain of anxiety, fear, and irresolution. The great metropolis, the city of New York, is one of the most remarkable cities in the world, outside of its being the largest. It is made up of so many attractions that it would almost take a lifetime merely to search its most fascinating secrets and places of interest. No wonder it has been called "the "Unbelievable City."

This "city of the mind" has as many attractions if it is entered. A taste for literature, art, music, science, and hundreds of other enlightening topics can well be stored there for anyone's search. Interests—hundreds of them—await anyone. Out of ourselves we may wander and learn. It is this that may keep one alive unto himself. Interests multiply. They often breed fast and furiously—and happily so—mellowing and rounding out a life.

In a single library of a few hundred volumes there may be this "city of the mind," with its alleys and broad highways of knowledge. Each awaiting discovery and appreciation. Even in a single book I have been deeply stirred and inspired. I have a small volume of less than fifty pages that I recently read which has so inspired me that I have gone back to it again and again, so that I have made it a regular refuge of hope.

This is what this "city of the mind" should be—a refuge, a place where there may be a happy abandonment of all worry or regrets, and a meeting place for new beginnings. To many Nature has been just this. Thoreau made it his "city of the mind," as many another has who was distinguished in other lines. More than bread and meat is serenity of soul!

Public Opinion Favors Negroes In South Games

Campanella, Robinson Can Play Despite Klan

By STERLING SLAPPEY

ATLANTA, Jan. 19 (AP)—The general idea in Atlanta — official and public—is that negroes Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella can play baseball here, despite the Ku Klux Klan.

Last week when Branch Rickey announced that his Brooklyn Dodgers would play the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association in April and that the negroes would be in the lineup, the Ku Klux Klan set up a howl.

Grand Dragon Dr. Samuel Green said he would most certainly look into laws governing whites and negroes playing with and against each other in athletics in Georgia.

The Atlanta city attorney and the Georgia attorney general said today they do not know of any laws which would prohibit Robinson and Campanella playing here.

The Fulton county attorney said the county has no jurisdiction over such.

Attorney General Eugene Cook said: "We have no law dealing with segregation except in the school system, transportation, marriage and such. There is no prohibition in Georgia against negroes playing baseball with the white people."

Jack Savage, city attorney, said he "knew of no city ordinance against whites and negroes playing baseball together."

Fifty persons listed in the Atlanta telephone directory were called and asked what they thought of allowing Robinson and Campanella to play April 8, 9 and 10.

Forty said they thoroughly approved one man commented, "if the Klan is against it I'm for it. Its a swell idea. I haven't seen a ball game since I was a kid. I'll see one of these."

Four said it made no difference to them.

Six opposed, their answers varying from "it will cause trouble" to "it's just not a good idea."

One of the 40 approving wanted to bet $5 that a higher percentage of persons in Atlanta thought well of the idea than could be found in Brooklyn.

The Atlanta Constitution conducted a symposium Saturday among ten pedestrians. Eight wanted to allow Robinson and Campanella to play. Two opposed.

It was pointed out that negroes and whites have appeared together often on southern stages and that after all "a baseball player is nothing but an entertainer."

Grand Dragon Green, of the KKK said his investigation has been begun.

Apparently however, unless some forgotten law is resurrected or the state legislature now in session passes a new one before April, the Dodgers and Crackers will play baseball against each other.

The games will be on a week end and probably will draw near capacity crowds of some 20,000 each.

The sassafras tree bears leaves in three different shapes.

TROUT, WHITE SIGN DETROIT CONTRACTS

DETROIT, Jan. 18. (AP)—Two more pitchers signed 1949 Detroit Tiger contracts today, joining Hal Newhouser who accepted terms last week.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout, who won 10 games and lost 14 last season while troubled with a sore arm, signed after a salary conference with general manager Billy Evans.

Relief Pitcher Hal White's signed contract arrived by mail. White won two games and lost one in 1948.

McKenley Sets Record, Bartrum Beats LaBeach

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 18. (AP)—Herb McKenley, Olympic middle distance runner from Jamaica, cracked the Australian record for 300 yards today in an international track meet. He ran the distance in 30.4 seconds. The old mark was 30.7 seconds.

Lloyd LaBeach, another Jamaica Olympic athlete, was defeated in a 100-yard dash by John Bartrum, Australia's Olympic sprinter. In a previous meeting Saturday the decision was reversed.

Australians Issue Davis Cup Challenge

MELBOURNE, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Lawn Tennis Association of Australia decided tonight to issue a Davis Cup challenge immediately.

Whether a team actually will be sent to America will be determined at the association's annual meeting in Melbourne Feb. 2 after the delegates have been informed of the final recommendations by the selectors.

All selectors will meet at Adelaide to make their final choice after the Australian championships. Tentative bookings for the team have been made to leave Sydney by boat June 30.

Akin to Automatic Propulsion!

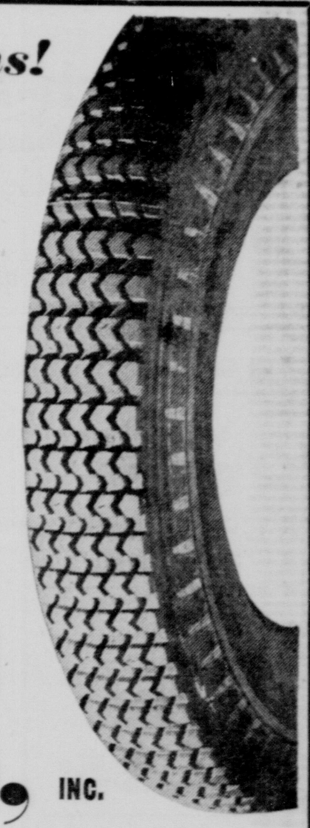

White sidewall tires available at additional cost.

When the great new Cadillac engine was in the final stages of development, a Cadillac engineer made a test run up Pike's Peak. "It felt," he said upon his return, "as if the car were moving by automatic propulsion." When you drive a 1949 Cadillac—powered by this magnificent new engine—you will understand what the engineer was talking about. The power flow is so smooth—and the supply of power so seemingly inexhaustible—that the driver is scarcely aware of the engine's existence. Owners are finding that this smooth, even, effortless flow of power does far more than increase the car's agility. It adds immeasurably to handling ease and maneuverability. It increases the confidence of the person at the wheel, and thereby makes him a better driver. And it increases the car's over-all safety to a remarkable degree. It has long been true that a search for the finest leads inevitably to Cadillac. But, today, the sign posts are marked so plainly that searching is not required. There is, literally, nowhere else to go—if you want the ultimate in motor car quality and satisfaction.

Public Opinion Favors Negroes In South Games

By STERLING SLAPPEY

ATLANTA, Jan. 19 (AP)—The general idea in Atlanta — official and public—is that negroes Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella can play baseball here, despite the Ku Klux Klan.

Last week when Branch Rickey announced that his Brooklyn Dodgers would play the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association in April and that the negroes would be in the lineup, the Ku Klux Klan set up a howl.

Grand Dragon Dr. Samuel Green said he would most certainly look into laws governing whites and negroes playing with and against each other in athletics in Georgia.

The Atlanta city attorney and the Georgia attorney general said today they do not know of any laws which would prohibit Robinson and Campanella playing here.

The Fulton county attorney said the county has no jurisdiction over such.

Attorney General Eugene Cook said: "We have no law dealing with segregation except in the school system, transportation, marriage and such. There is no prohibition in Georgia against negroes playing baseball with the white people."

Jack Savage, city attorney, said he "knew of no city ordinance against whites and negroes playing baseball together."

Fifty persons listed in the Atlanta telephone directory were called and asked what they thought of allowing Robinson and Campanella to play April 8, 9 and 10.

Forty said they thoroughly approved one man commented, "if the Klan is against it I'm for it. Its a swell idea. I haven't seen a ball game since I was a kid. I'll see one of these."

Four said it made no difference to them.

Six opposed, their answers varying from "it will cause trouble" to "it's just not a good idea."

One of the 40 approving wanted to bet $5 that a higher percentage of persons in Atlanta thought well of the idea than could be found in Brooklyn.

The Atlanta Constitution conducted a symposium Saturday among ten pedestrians. Eight wanted to allow Robinson and Campanella to play. Two opposed.

It was pointed out that negroes and whites have appeared together often on southern stages and that after all "a baseball player is nothing but an entertainer."

Grand Dragon Green, of the KKK said his investigation has been begun.

Apparently however, unless some forgotten law is resurrected or the state legislature now in session passes a new one before April, the Dodgers and Crackers will play baseball against each other.

The games will be on a week end and probably will draw near capacity crowds of some 20,000 each.

The sassafras tree bears leaves in three different shapes.

TROUT, WHITE SIGN DETROIT CONTRACTS

DETROIT, Jan. 18. (AP)—Two more pitchers signed 1949 Detroit Tiger contracts today, joining Hal Newhouser who accepted terms last week.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout, who won 10 games and lost 14 last season while troubled with a sore arm, signed after a salary conference with general manager Billy Evans.

Relief Pitcher Hal White's signed contract arrived by mail. White won two games and lost one in 1948.

McKenley Sets Record, Bartrum Beats LaBeach

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 18. (AP)—Herb McKenley, Olympic middle distance runner from Jamaica, cracked the Australian record for 300 yards today in an international track meet. He ran the distance in 30.4 seconds. The old mark was 30.7 seconds.

Lloyd LaBeach, another Jamaica Olympic athlete, was defeated in a 100-yard dash by John Bartrum, Australia's Olympic sprinter. In a previous meeting Saturday the decision was reversed.

Australians Issue Davis Cup Challenge

MELBOURNE, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Lawn Tennis Association of Australia decided tonight to issue a Davis Cup challenge immediately.

Whether a team actually will be sent to America will be determined at the association's annual meeting in Melbourne Feb. 2 after the delegates have been informed of the final recommendations by the selectors.

All selectors will meet at Adelaide to make their final choice after the Australian championships. Tentative bookings for the team have been made to leave Sydney by boat June 30.

Akin to Automatic Propulsion!

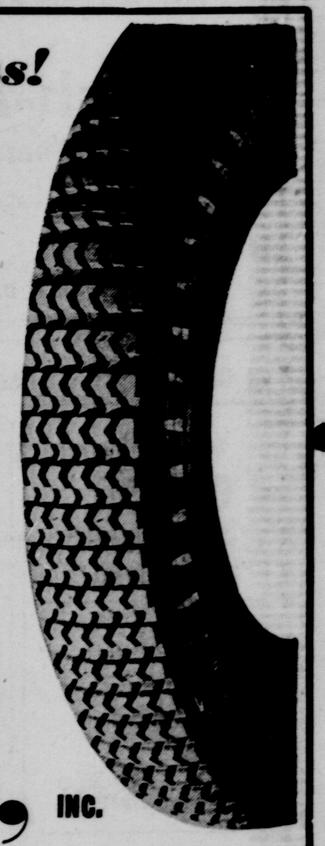

White sidewall tires available at additional cost.

When the great new Cadillac engine was in the final stages of development, a Cadillac engineer made a test run up Pike's Peak. "It felt," he said upon his return, "as if the car were moving by automatic propulsion." When you drive a 1949 Cadillac—powered by this magnificent new engine—you will understand what the engineer was talking about. The power flow is so smooth—and the supply of power so seemingly inexhaustible—that the driver is scarcely aware of the engine's existence. Owners are finding that this smooth, even, effortless flow of power does far more than increase the car's agility. It adds immeasurably to handling ease and maneuverability. It increases the confidence of the person at the wheel, and thereby makes him a better driver. And it increases the car's over-all safety to a remarkable degree. It has long been true that a search for the finest leads inevitably to Cadillac. But, today, the sign posts are marked so plainly that searching is not required. There is, literally, nowhere else to go—if you want the ultimate in motor car quality and satisfaction.

Fort Ashby Trims LaSalle, Fort Hill Seeks 10th In Row

Eagles Sweep Series, Notch 37-33 Victory

Win In Final Period, Boatman Tops Attack

Coach Tom Small's Fort Ashby High School Eagles swept its season series with LaSalle High of Cumberland by rallying in the final period to defeat the Explorers last night at Fort Ashby by the score of 37-33.

It was LaSalle's eighth setback against only three wins. Fort Ashby has won five and lost four.

The score was knotted at 11-11 in the first period, LaSalle held a 23-18 edge at halftime and the teams battled to a 29-29 deadlock in the third period. The Eagles grabbed the lead as the final period opened and maintained it to the final whistle.

Fort Ashby defeated the Explorers earlier in the season by the score of 37-32.

Darrell Boatman was the chief point getter for Fort Ashby with 16 tallies on six field goals and four free throws. Kitzmiller headed the losers with nine points.

LaSalle hooped 13 of 20 free throws, including "Chuck" Sitter's five for five.

The Explorers were outscored from the field 11 to 10 and 15 to 13 at the charity line.

George Blauch, Fort Ashby forward, made his exit on personal fouls. Lineups:

GRID LEAGUE FAILS TO REACH DECISION

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 (AP)—All America Conference club owners huddled for six hours without a decision today to determine whether the three year old circuit will merge with the rival National loop or continue the costly professional football feud.

Twenty AAC representatives met at the office of Ben Lindheimer, chairman of the league's executive committee, in a showdown over the loop's future.

Lindheimer said that based on the day's discussion, the conference prospects for next season appeared "very bright." He did not elaborate as to whether this had to do with continuance of the AAC or a merger with the National League.

Lindheimer added that the meeting would be resumed at his office at 11 a. m. EST., tomorrow.

Fort Hill Girls Win Over Alumnae, 32-20

Fort Hill High School's girls' team won a challenge contest from the Fort Hill Alumnae last night on the Fort Hill court by the score of 32 to 20.

Wanda Cameron was high scorer for the victors with eight field goals and 16 points while Lechliter was runner-up with eight markers. Hudson topped the grads with seven points and Hilton collected six.

Scheib Asks $10,000, Refuses $8,000 Offer From Philadelphia A's

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18. (AP)—Righthander Carl Scheib who won 14 games for the Philadelphia Athletics last season and hit 2.98 as a pinch-hitter, said today he wants a $10,000 salary for his 1949 pitching chores.

The 22-year-old Gratz, Pa. native now living in suburban Willow Grove turned down an $8,000 offer from the American League club owned and managed by Connie Mack.

Scheib didn't mention anything specific but he hinted his '48 pay was not enough for a 14-game winner (he lost eight) and figures Mack should make up for the oversight.

Davis High Bows To Powerful UHS Basketeers, 57-42

Morgantown Team Cuts Loose In 4th Quarter

DAVIS, W. Va., Jan. 18—Coach Weider Pell's Davis High Schol Wildcats gave the powerful University High cagers a great battle for three periods tonight but weakened in the final period and lost to Coach Homer Fizer's basketeers by the score of 57-42.

The score was tied at 14, 16, 18, 27 and 29 and the lead changed hands several times during the first three quarters.

Morgantown trailed at the quarter, 14-12, but led at the half, 27-23 and at the close of the third stanza, 39-33. In the final period Davis was outpointed 18 to 9.

Solomon sparked the winners' attack with 22 points on eight field goals and six foul goals while Hunt contributed 15 points. Moore was Davis High's "big gun" with 13 markers.

Leahy Will Quit As Athletic Head

Will Retain Position As Irish Head Coach

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 18 (AP)—Frank Leahy said today he would step down this year as athletic director at Notre Dame but would retain his position as head coach of the Irish.

Leahy said his assistant, Ed (Moose) Krause, probably would succeed him as athletic director.

At the same time, Leahy said reports that he was considering accepting an offer to coach a professional football team were "absolutely false."

"I am very happy at Notre Dame and I contemplate making no change," he said.

It had been reported that Leahy would confer with officials of the Washington Redskins of the National Football League tomorrow relative to becoming head coach of the Redskins.

Leahy, here to attend a banquet of the Norfolk Sports Club, said he was going to Washington tonight after the banquet to see "a friend who is a stockholder in the Redskins but who also has a business of his own" and is not a Redskin "official."

He said he had scheduled no conferences with Redskin officials and that the visit to Washington "had no bearing on the matter."

Queried by local newsmen relative to his relinquishing the athletic directorship at South Bend, Leahy said "Yes, I expect that development will take place sometime during the year."

HOWARD HIGH SCORES 8TH STRAIGHT, 50-40

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Jan. 18 — Howard High School's cagers notched their eighth consecutive victory tonight at the expense of Dunbar High School of Fairmont, 50-40.

Moorefield Beats Romney, Franklin Tops Circleville

Jackets Score 58-29, Panthers Cop, 50-47

Moorefield's Yellow Jackets and Franklin's Panthers stayed on even terms in the Potomac Valley Conference basketball race by registering their fourth victories against single defeats in games played last night at Moorefield and Franklin.

Coach Johnny Paugh's Moorefield quint turned back Romney High's Pioneers by the score of 58-29 while Coach Bard Harper's Franklin passers registered a 50-47 decision over Circleville before a capacity crowd that turned out to see the Pendleton County rivals tangle.

John Vance and Bill Harman provided most of the fireworks with 16 and 14 points and Fisher contributed 10 as Moorefield romped to victory. The Jackets held the long end of a 29-16 score at the half and sewed it up in the third stanza by running the count to 45-24.

Moorefield sank 24 shots from the field in 57 tries.

Paced by Hill who scored 13 points, Romney's girls defeated Moorefield's sextet, 26-17.

Circleville surprised Franklin in the first half by taking a 23-13 lead and was also out in front at the end of the third period, 37-34. Franklin trailed 43-42 at the automatic timeout and then put on its garrison finish to win.

Pope head the Panthers' assault with 19 points while Smith led Circleville with 14.

Circleville outscored Franklin from the field 18-16 but the Panthers held an 18-11 advantage at the foul line. The lineups:

HOLY CROSS, DePAUL TAKE GARDEN GAMES

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Holy Cross closed with a rush, ringing up 25 points in the final nine minutes to come from behind and defeat Manhattan, 65-54, in the second game of tonight's doubleheader college basketball at Madison Square Garden. A crowd of 15,331 saw the invading teams sweep the twin bill from the local quintets as De Paul of Chicago edged out St. John's of Brooklyn, 61-58, in the opener.

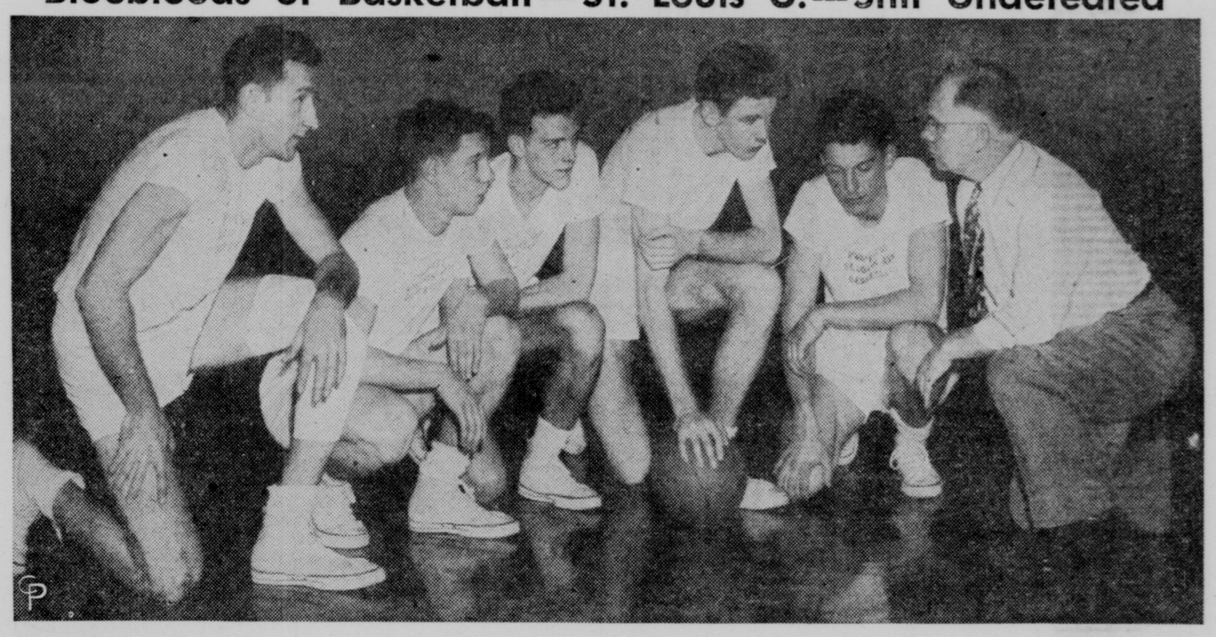

Giants Sign Koslo, Two Minor Leaguers

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (INS)—Receipt of signed contracts from pitcher Dave Koslo and two minor league recruits was announced tonight by the New York Giants.

The new additions to the signed personnel are George Spencer, right hand pitcher who won 11 and lost 8 for Knoxville last season; and Outfielder Pete Milne, who hit .278 in 120 games for the Giant "farm" club in Jersey City.

Koslo, high-ranking left hander in 1947, fell off in effectiveness last year, winning 8 and losing 10.

Midland Hunter Turns Poet And It Did Happen Again

College Fans Are Muzzled Dukes Were In Wrong Loop

By C. V. BURNS

The trials and tribulations of nimrods in Allegany County during the hunting season are described by David J. Corrigan of Midland, in poetical style, as follows:

I am just a happy Nimrod,
Who likes to have some fun
By wandering through the woods and fields
With my dog and gun.
The Fifteenth of November
Is always the big day
When everyone for miles around
Are up early and away.
To try to be first in the field
So as to get their limit
For you are out of luck, if you
Are late one little minute.
The scarcity of rabbits now
I'm afraid to say
Is simply something scandalous
We put up with today.
Where have all the rabbits gone?
We ask, then hold our breath
Until some one answers
They have all gone to their death.
I've hunted nigh on thirty years,
And now I must confess
The hunting here for many a year
Has been in dire distress.
They never replace our previous kills
No matter how small they be
All that interests them is
That hunting license fee.
So boys let's get together
I know you have the urge
And if no other solution be found
We sure as —ll can purge.

The sagging ring at the armory on Monday night brought back memories of several other occasions when "ring trouble" developed in local fistic shows.

During the Sesqui - Centennial bouts staged at the ball park by "Vic" Ricker in 1937 the posts gave way and the ring buckled.

And how about the night at SS. Peter and Paul gym when the ropes came down in a Casey amateur show.

The latter happened on Friday the 13th!

During the delay Monday night in the first bout caused by the sink in the ring floor the manager of the wax works aired over the public address system the record—"This Never Happened Again."

But it did—three times in one night!

Referee Jim Kelley reports that regulations governing the Western Maryland - American U. bouts at Westminster, Md., last week specifically state that:

"Protests from spectators are distinctly out of order and in themselves constitute a foul.

"In fairness to the contestants, silence must be maintained during each round. This silence, in addition to its advantages of fairness, also enables the referee to be heard without difficulty by the boxers. The proper time for applause is between rounds and bouts."

There are a number of the colleges that have scrapped the rule which forbids rooting during each round.

Can you imagine some of our leather-lunged galleryites being restrained from yelling such choice epithets as "ya bum" or "when is youse guys gonna start fightin?"

●—●—●

Kelley points out that in last week's dual meet everyone was addressed as Mister.

In one match Mr. Howard Shannon met Mr. Martin Ries and in another Mr. Watson Solomon met Mr. Thomas Greebank.

And the referee was introduced as Mr. James Kelley.

Albeit James Catanese would jump right out of those leopardskin trunks if he were introduced as Mister.

From California comes the Tournament of Roses Souvenir Edition of the Los Angeles Examiner and we don't know who to thank for sending it.

Other color pages include "Days of '49" depicting the Gold Rush Era and the take-off of the Navy's largest airplane, Lockheed's Constitution.

It's indeed a prize souvenir.

When Johnstown Catholic High School defeated LaSalle here last week it was the undefeated Pennsylvanians' fourth straight triumph.

Joe Ondrula, the center who scored 10 field goals and 26 points for Coach Joe Majer's team is a newly developed star. He took 20 shots in the game here and sank 10 of them. A .500 average indicates real sharpshooting.

After reading about the All-American Professional Basketball League teams losing so many games on the road a local fan remarked:

"It's too bad they can't take their own courts on tour."

So incensed was a Wheeling newspaperman over two Wheeling Blues (Jimmy Quinlan and Gene Britt) being injured in a recent game at Altoona that he ran a two-column cut of Walter Miller, the day before the return Altoona-Blues game at Wheeling and headed it "Altoona's Hatchet Man."

Britt and Quinlan played for Wheeling Monday night when the Blues beat Altoona, 91-73.

Matchmaker "Red" Mauk's nine-bout card at the armory Monday night was the first show with that many matches here since "Sparky" Chisholm put on that many May 10, 1948.

The Lee Stevens-Jack Evans bout will go down in local boxing records as the "Battle of the Bloody Nose."

Stevens, a free bleeder, seemed to block most of Evans' punches with his probiscis and the way the claret flowed it looked as though Evans was tapping the Blood Bank.

The Cumberland Dukes were in the wrong basketball league last Sunday.

They averaged 41 per cent on their shots in whipping Pittsburgh.

In the first 30 games played in the Basketball Association of America the players connected on 10,006 of 31,149 shots and that's only 32 per cent.

Billikens Voted Top Basketball Team In Nation

Kentucky Is Second 93 Vote In AP Poll

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP) — The midwest dominated the Associated Press basketball poll with five teams from that sector named among the top 10 college quintets for the week. No. 1 honors went to St. Louis University which has racked up 11 victories without a defeat.

The Billikens beat out Kentucky for top honors receiving 69 first place calls to only 16 for the Southeastern Conference champions. A total of 93 writers named the Billikens on all ballots to give the Missourians a winning 904 points. Kentucky, beaten only by St. Louis, 42-40, in 12 games, gained second place with 842 points. Each team was named no lower than fourth.

Hilltoppers Are Third

Western Kentucky's Hilltoppers, placed third with 545 points. The tall and talented Hilltoppers, undefeated in 12 starts through games of Monday, Jan. 17, received only two firsts but bagged 43 thirds and a goodly number of fourths and fifths to edge out unbeaten Minnesota for third.

Midwest aggregations to make the top 10 in addition to St. Louis and Minnesota were Oklahoma A. & M., Illinois and Hamline of Minnesota.

The Gophers, who whipped Iowa last night, 61-45, for their 12th in a row and fourth in Big Nine Conference play, collected three first place votes and 480 points. The Aggies, only other team to receive first place mention, being named the best by three scribes, were fifth with 289. The Missouri Valley cagers have won nine and lost two this season.

Villanova Placed 9th

Illinois (13-1) placed seventh, just behind San Francisco's Dons, whose 14-1 record earned them sixth place. Hamline (11-0), winner of the Denver and Los Angeles tournaments, was eighth. Villanova (11-0), was ninth. Utah (11-2) rounded out the top 10.

Payne Meets Shenparo In New York Fight

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP) — The reorganized Tournament of Champions, newly equipped with a network television outlet and a New York State boxing license, opens for business tomorrow night with a modest heavyweight bout between Rusty Payne of Pittsburgh and Curtis Sheppard of Baltimore.

The Payne-Sheppard bout is a rematch of a hectic brawl at Pittsburgh Oct. 11 that ended with Rusty scoring a ninth round knockout. Earlier Curtis, modestly titled "The Hatchet Man," had floored Payne with his right hand specialty. They had to drag Payne to the corner at the end of the fifth round.

King To Face Sierra

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18. (AP) — Arthur King, British Empire lightweight champion from Toronto, today was signed to replace featherweight king Sandy Saddler in a boxing show here next Monday.

Saddler was scheduled to tangle with Humberto Sierra in a 10-round fight. King agreed to take on Sierra.

Saddler suffered a head cut Sunday while knocking out young Finnegan in Panama.

Sentinels Play Barton Tonight At Braves' Gym

Allegany Tests Bruce, Ridgeley At Keyser

Deadlocked for the leadership of the W.M.I. Basketball League, Fort Hill and Allegany will go after their fourth straight victories tonight when they play Barton and Bruce away from home.

Allegany is scheduled to play Bruce in Westernport while the Barton High's Braves will play hosts to the Sentinels.

The Campers and Hilltoppers have 3-0 records in the league and Bruce and Barton have each won one and lost two.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's undefeated cagers will be angling for their tenth consecutive victory.

Ridgeley and Keyser will clash in an important Potomac Valley Conference game tonight at Keyser.

The Blackhawks, defending champions, won their only conference game from Piedmont, 47-21. Keyser has played three conference games, defeating Moorefield and Romney and losing to Piedmont.

Bruce will play Allegany at Campobello today in a W.M.I. Girls' League contest.

Central's Girls Top Beall, 28-18

GRID LEAGUE FAILS TO REACH DECISION

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 (AP)—All America Conference club owners huddled for six hours without a decision today to determine whether the three year old circuit will merge with the rival National loop or continue the costly professional football feud.

Twenty AAC representatives met at the office of Ben Lindheimer, chairman of the league's executive committee, in a showdown over the loop's future.

Lindheimer said that based on the day's discussion, the conference prospects for next season appeared "very bright." He did not elaborate as to whether this had to do with continuance of the AAC or a merger with the National League.

Lindheimer added that the meeting would be resumed at his office at 11 a. m. EST., tomorrow.

Fort Hill Girls Win Over Alumnae, 32-20

Fort Hill High School's girls' team won a challenge contest from the Fort Hill Alumnae last night on the Fort Hill court by the score of 32 to 20.

Wanda Cameron was high scorer for the victors with eight field goals and 16 points while Lechliter was runner-up with eight markers. Hudson topped the grads with seven points and Hilton collected six.

Scheib Asks $10,000, Refuses $8,000 Offer From Philadelphia A's

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18. (AP)—Righthander Carl Scheib who won 14 games for the Philadelphia Athletics last season and hit 2.98 as a pinch-hitter, said today he wants a $10,000 salary for his 1949 pitching chores.

The 22-year-old Gratz, Pa. native now living in suburban Willow Grove turned down an $8,000 offer from the American League club owned and managed by Connie Mack.

Scheib didn't mention anything specific but he hinted his '48 pay was not enough for a 14-game winner (he lost eight) and figures Mack should make up for the oversight.

Leahy Will Quit As Athletic Head

Will Retain Position As Irish Head Coach

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 18 (AP)—Frank Leahy said today he would step down this year as athletic director at Notre Dame but would retain his position as head coach of the Irish.

Leahy said his assistant, Ed (Moose) Krause, probably would succeed him as athletic director.

At the same time, Leahy said reports that he was considering accepting an offer to coach a professional football team were "absolutely false."

"I am very happy at Notre Dame and I contemplate making no change," he said.

It had been reported that Leahy would confer with officials of the Washington Redskins of the National Football League tomorrow relative to becoming head coach of the Redskins.

Leahy, here to attend a banquet of the Norfolk Sports Club, said he was going to Washington tonight after the banquet to see "a friend who is a stockholder in the Redskins but who also has a business of his own" and is not a Redskin "official."

He said he had scheduled no conferences with Redskin officials and that the visit to Washington "had no bearing on the matter."

Queried by local newsmen relative to his relinquishing the athletic directorship at South Bend, Leahy said "Yes, I expect that development will take place sometime during the year."

HOLY CROSS, DePAUL TAKE GARDEN GAMES

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Holy Cross closed with a rush, ringing up 25 points in the final nine minutes to come from behind and defeat Manhattan, 65-54, in the second game of tonight's doubleheader college basketball at Madison Square Garden. A crowd of 15,331 saw the invading teams sweep the twin bill from the local quintets as De Paul of Chicago edged out St. John's of Brooklyn, 61-58, in the opener.

Giants Sign Koslo, Two Minor Leaguers

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (INS)—Receipt of signed contracts from pitcher Dave Koslo and two minor league recruits was announced tonight by the New York Giants.

The new additions to the signed personnel are George Spencer, right hand pitcher who won 11 and lost 8 for Knoxville last season; and Outfielder Pete Milne, who hit .278 in 120 games for the Giant "farm" club in Jersey City.

Koslo, high-ranking left hander in 1947, fell off in effectiveness last year, winning 8 and losing 10.

Midland Hunter Turns Poet And It Did Happen Again

College Fans Are Muzzled Dukes Were In Wrong Loop

By C. V. BURNS

The trials and tribulations of nimrods in Allegany County during the hunting season are described by David J. Corrigan of Midland, in poetical style, as follows:

I am just a happy Nimrod,
Who likes to have some fun
By wandering through the woods and fields
With my dog and gun.
The Fifteenth of November
Is always the big day
When everyone for miles around
Are up early and away.
To try to be first in the field
So as to get their limit
For you are out of luck, if you
Are late one little minute.
The scarcity of rabbits now
I'm afraid to say
Is simply something scandalous
We put up with today.
Where have all the rabbits gone?
We ask, then hold our breath
Until some one answers
They have all gone to their death.
I've hunted nigh on thirty years,
And now I must confess
The hunting here for many a year
Has been in dire distress.
They never replace our previous kills
No matter how small they be
All that interests them is
That hunting license fee.
So boys let's get together
I know you have the urge
And if no other solution be found
We sure as —ll can purge.

The sagging ring at the armory on Monday night brought back memories of several other occasions when "ring trouble" developed in local fistic shows.

During the Sesqui - Centennial bouts staged at the ball park by "Vic" Ricker in 1937 the posts gave way and the ring buckled.

And how about the night at SS. Peter and Paul gym when the ropes came down in a Casey amateur show.

The latter happened on Friday the 13th!

During the delay Monday night in the first bout caused by the sink in the ring floor the manager of the wax works aired over the public address system the record—"This Never Happened Again."

But it did—three times in one night!

Referee Jim Kelley reports that regulations governing the Western Maryland - American U. bouts at Westminster, Md., last week specifically state that:

"Protests from spectators are distinctly out of order and in themselves constitute a foul.

"In fairness to the contestants, silence must be maintained during each round. This silence, in addition to its advantages of fairness, also enables the referee to be heard without difficulty by the boxers. The proper time for applause is between rounds and bouts."

There are a number of the colleges that have scrapped the rule which forbids rooting during each round.

Can you imagine some of our leather-lunged galleryites being restrained from yelling such choice epithets as "ya bum" or "when is youse guys gonna start fightin?"

●—●—●

Kelley points out that in last week's dual meet everyone was addressed as Mister.

In one match Mr. Howard Shannon met Mr. Martin Ries and in another Mr. Watson Solomon met Mr. Thomas Greebank.

And the referee was introduced as Mr. James Kelley.

Albeit James Catanese would jump right out of those leopardskin trunks if he were introduced as Mister.

From California comes the Tournament of Roses Souvenir Edition of the Los Angeles Examiner and we don't know who to thank for sending it.

Other color pages include "Days of '49" depicting the Gold Rush Era and the take-off of the Navy's largest airplane, Lockheed's Constitution.

It's indeed a prize souvenir.

When Johnstown Catholic High School defeated LaSalle here last week it was the undefeated Pennsylvanians' fourth straight triumph.

Joe Ondrula, the center who scored 10 field goals and 26 points for Coach Joe Majer's team is a newly developed star. He took 20 shots in the game here and sank 10 of them. A .500 average indicates real sharpshooting.

After reading about the All-American Professional Basketball League teams losing so many games on the road a local fan remarked:

"It's too bad they can't take their own courts on tour."

So incensed was a Wheeling newspaperman over two Wheeling Blues (Jimmy Quinlan and Gene Britt) being injured in a recent game at Altoona that he ran a two-column cut of Walter Miller, the day before the return Altoona-Blues game at Wheeling and headed it "Altoona's Hatchet Man."

Britt and Quinlan played for Wheeling Monday night when the Blues beat Altoona, 91-73.

Matchmaker "Red" Mauk's nine-bout card at the armory Monday night was the first show with that many matches here since "Sparky" Chisholm put on that many May 10, 1948.

The Lee Stevens-Jack Evans bout will go down in local boxing records as the "Battle of the Bloody Nose."

Stevens, a free bleeder, seemed to block most of Evans' punches with his probiscis and the way the claret flowed it looked as though Evans was tapping the Blood Bank.

The Cumberland Dukes were in the wrong basketball league last Sunday.

They averaged 41 per cent on their shots in whipping Pittsburgh.

In the first 30 games played in the Basketball Association of America the players connected on 10,006 of 31,149 shots and that's only 32 per cent.

Billikens Voted Top Basketball Team In Nation

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP) — The midwest dominated the Associated Press basketball poll with five teams from that sector named among the top 10 college quintets for the week. No. 1 honors went to St. Louis University which has racked up 11 victories without a defeat.

The Billikens beat out Kentucky for top honors receiving 69 first place calls to only 16 for the Southeastern Conference champions. A total of 93 writers named the Billikens on all ballots to give the Missourians a winning 904 points. Kentucky, beaten only by St. Louis, 42-40, in 12 games, gained second place with 842 points. Each team was named no lower than fourth.

Hilltoppers Are Third

Western Kentucky's Hilltoppers, placed third with 545 points. The tall and talented Hilltoppers, undefeated in 12 starts through games of Monday, Jan. 17, received only two firsts but bagged 43 thirds and a goodly number of fourths and fifths to edge out unbeaten Minnesota for third.

Midwest aggregations to make the top 10 in addition to St. Louis and Minnesota were Oklahoma A. & M., Illinois and Hamline of Minnesota.

The Gophers, who whipped Iowa last night, 61-45, for their 12th in a row and fourth in Big Nine Conference play, collected three first place votes and 480 points. The Aggies, only other team to receive first place mention, being named the best by three scribes, were fifth with 289. The Missouri Valley cagers have won nine and lost two this season.

Villanova Placed 9th

Illinois (13-1) placed seventh, just behind San Francisco's Dons, whose 14-1 record earned them sixth place. Hamline (11-0), winner of the Denver and Los Angeles tournaments, was eighth. Villanova (11-0), was ninth. Utah (11-2) rounded out the top 10.

St. Louis, Western Kentucky, Minnesota, Hamline and Villanova were unbeaten through Monday's games.

Following is the way the teams finished, with the tabulation based on 10 points for a first place vote, nine for second and so on down the line ending with one for tenth (first place votes in parentheses):

1. St. Louis (69)	904
2. Kentucky (16)	842
3. Western Kentucky (2)	545
4. Minnesota (3)	480
5. Oklahoma A. & M. (3)	289

Boston And Providence Swap Cage Players

BOSTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Six-foot-six George Nostrand joined the Boston Celtics basketball team today in a player trade which took him from Providence and sent Chuck Halbert and Mel Riebe to the Rhode Island team.

Nostrand, 25, formerly played with Cleveland and Toronto.

Riebe came to Boston last year from the defunct Cleveland team and Halbert was obtained in a trade last year which sent Ed Sadowski to Philadelphia.

Payne Meets Sheppard In New York Fight

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP) — The reorganized Tournament of Champions, newly equipped with a network television outlet and a New York State boxing license, opens for business tomorrow night with a modest heavyweight bout between Rusty Payne of Pittsburgh and Curtis Sheppard of Baltimore.

The Payne-Sheppard bout is a rematch of a hectic brawl at Pittsburgh Oct. 11 that ended with Rusty scoring a ninth round knockout. Earlier Curtis, modestly titled "The Hatchet Man," had floored Payne with his right hand specialty. They had to drag Payne to the corner at the end of the fifth round.

King To Face Sierra

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18. (AP) — Arthur King, British Empire lightweight champion from Toronto, today was signed to replace featherweight king Sandy Saddler in a boxing show here next Monday.

Saddler was scheduled to tangle with Humberto Sierra in a 10-round fight. King agreed to take on Sierra.

Saddler suffered a head cut Sunday while knocking out young Finnegan in Panama.

Sentinels Play Barton Tonight At Braves' Gym

Allegany Tests Bruce, Ridgeley At Keyser

Deadlocked for the leadership of the W.M.I. Basketball League, Fort Hill and Allegany will go after their fourth straight victories tonight when they play Barton and Bruce away from home.

Allegany is scheduled to play Bruce in Westernport while the Barton High's Braves will play hosts to the Sentinels.

The Campers and Hilltoppers have 3-0 records in the league and Bruce and Barton have each won one and lost two.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's undefeated cagers will be angling for their tenth consecutive victory.

Ridgeley and Keyser will clash in an important Potomac Valley Conference game tonight at Keyser.

The Blackhawks, defending champions, won their only conference game from Piedmont, 47-21. Keyser has played three conference games, defeating Moorefield and Romney and losing to Piedmont.

Bruce will play Allegany at Campobello today in a W.M.I. Girls' League contest.

Central's Girls Top Beall, 28-18

Lonaconing Sextet Takes Third Place

FROSTBURG, Jan. 18 — Central High School moved into third place in the W.M.I. Girls' Basketball League today by defeating Beall High School's sextet by the score of 28-18.

The victory was Central's first in the league against a single defeat. Beall has won one and lost two.

Johnson and McPartland pased the Beall attack with 13 and 10 points while Turner accounted for 10 of Beall's points.

Central held a 17-12 lead at halftime.

Can schoolrooms be "democratic"?

Answer: Yes, maintain the authors of an article in Sociology and Social Research. Not only can every pupil receive equal treatment, but the teaching itself can be "non-directive," at least with the older students. In a class of this type, students choose the subjects for research and conduct their own discussions, with the teacher serving only as referee and adviser. It is claimed this method, although difficult, helps students recognize their own needs and take the responsibility for learning how to meet them.

Are lady professors hard to please?

Answer: Yes, reports Gerald C. Carter of the University of Illinois in an article in School and Society. And it's just as true of personal characteristics as of lessons. Instructor at Purdue Univerity were asked to rate 5000 students on six "personality traits", and the women teachers uniformly rated students of both sexes lower than the male instructors did, although both rated women students higher than men. I should guess the women teachers, being less "sure of themselves" were more intolerant in judging others.

Are there people who cannot help being cruel?

Answer: In effect, yes. Since "aggression" (the urge to make others suffer) always follows the frustration of our natural desires, and since all of us are more or less frustrated, we all have aggressive impulses, and differ only in the outlets we find for them. "Well adjusted" people take out their aggression in fighting things that hamper human progress and neurotics in making themselves ill or unhappy. But a lot of people who have not found either of these outlets are driven to minor cruelty toward animals or helpless human beings.

Rally In Stock Market Stops Short Before Gaining Any Real Momentum

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—A rally in the stock market stopped short today before it developed any real momentum.

Business expanded when prices were moving up, enough to boost the day's sales to 770,000 shares from 720,000 yesterday.

American Telephone regained its balance after a three-day slide touched off by a Department of Justice anti-monopoly suit. Up more than a point at one time, A T & T closed ¾ higher at 146¾.

Commonwealth & Southern appeared on the tape frequently after an opening sale of 30,000 shares on a mark-up of ⅛ point. The stock held to the gain, closing at 3¼.

A number of other utility stocks improved a bit, including Consolidated Edison, Public Service Electric & Gas, Southern California Edison, Electric Power & Light, and Columbia Gas.

The steels didn't enjoy as much favor. Fractional losses were posted for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, and Youngstown Sheet.

Several chemicals stepped ahead smartly although on comparatively small turnover. Virginia-Carolina Chemical preferred stood out with a 7¾-point gain at 114¾, while smaller advances appeared for Virginia-Carolina Chemical common, Dow Chemical, Du Pont, and Allied Chemical.

Also higher were Woolworth, J. I. Case, Phelps Dodge, Air Reduction, American Woolen, American Tobacco, Great Northern preferred, Union Pacific, Texas Co., Mission Corp., American Air Lines and Twentieth Century-Fox.

Pushed down a little were General Motors, Caterpillar Tractor, Consolidated Natural Gas, General Electric, Philip Morris, Radio Corp., International Paper, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Gulf Oil, and Loew's.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .2 of one point to 65.5, the third average gain in a row. The three average advances, however, were hardly decisive. Many individual issues failed to go along and buying generally was characterized by a high degree of selectivity.

Only 955 issues were traded, of which 465 advanced and 227 declined.

A moderately brisk demand for railroad liens pushed the prices of many corporate bonds forward. Advances in selected issues ranged from one to nearly three points.

Sales totalled 3,441,000, biggest turnover since January 7, when $3,800,000 changed hands. Yesterday's volume reached $3,180,000.

Scout Leadership Training Program Planned At Keyser

District Needs More Personnel

KEYSER, W. Va. — A Scoutmaster's training course for persons in this area interested in scouting will get underway tonight at Potomac State School, 7 p. m., and will continue one night weekly through March 9, excluding "Scout Week," according to James H. Swadley, Jr., chairman of the New Creek District Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Directing the course will be James T. Handlan, Jr., and W. H. Michaels, members of the faculty of Potomac State School. K. S. McKee, dean of the school, will serve as coordinator.

The course is designed as part of the long range program for the organization and reactivation of troops throughout New Creek District.

The promotion of scout work in this area has been greatly handicapped due to the shortage of trained adult leaders, Swadley said. Attendance and completion of the course being offered will not only equip those interested in troop leadership but will provide a more thorough and complete knowledge of scouting for members of the troop committees, those interested in youth service, and all persons who now, or may in the future, desire to become interested in scouting, the chairman explained.

All organizations in Keyser and throughout the district are urged to have representation at the course. Each night's program will include not only intructional periods but scouting films and exhibits. At tonight's meeting the membership will be organized in a Scout Troop with as many patrols as the enrollment allows. With trained leaders heading the patrols the system will provide those enrolled with a practical knowledge of the operation of a scout troop, Swadley said.

Instructors who will assist Handlan and Michaels are Earl Black, field executive of the Potomac Council; William E. Kight, long outstanding in scouting in this area; Dr. Robert T. Coffman, commissioner of New Creek District; M. G. Thompson, chairman of Cumberland District; Harry Biggs, Piedmont, commissioner of Potomac Council; Chester Bishoff, scoutmaster of local Troop 39; W. F. Waller, senior sanitarian, State Health Department; Thomas Bess, Jr., scoutmaster of Troop 37; Lester McDowell, Edgell Grayson, David G. Nuzum, and Judson Hodges.

Moorefield Lions Hear Needs Of Hardy Schools

MOOREFIELD—R. S. Dispanet and Stanley Hawse, superintendent and assistant superintendent of Hardy county schools, addressed the Lions Club Monday on needs of the school system in Hardy county and the state.

Dispanet pointed out that Moorefield High School is already overcrowded and that four additional rooms are necessary now. With six additional class rooms needed within five years. At Mathias and Wardensville High Schools two additional rooms are needed at once and within five years another class room will be necessary.

The school head analyzed one room elementary schools as to the kind of water, condition of fire escapes, school furniture, toilet facilities, busses and showed the deficiencies in those categories in the state and estimated it would take $150,000,000 to replace the present inadequate schools with a modern school system.

In the business session of the Lions Club at Airport Inn, County Agent S. L. Dodd reported on the South Fork Road Improvement Committee and urged Lions to back a county wide road building program. A county wide committee with representatives from all sections of the county will be formed to advise on the construction of needed roads.

Irvin Bowman, chairman of the March of Dimes in the county, said the drive was underway and requested members to support the drive. Stanley Hawse, chairman of the glasses committee, reported that he had twelve applications for glasses and that four were pending at present.

Carleton Saville was added to the rolls of the club as a new member. number of tickets to the affair.

Four Persons Die In Somerset Fire

WINDBER, Pa.—Four members of a family of seven died and two were seriously injured when their one-room home, one and a half miles west of Cairnbrook in Somerset County, burned yesterday.

Only one in the family escaped injury—an 18-month-old baby boy.

Lawrence Snyder, 40, coal miner; and a daughter, Gertrude, 12, were taken to a Windber hospital. The girl's condition was reported as critical and the father's as fair.

Dead were the mother, Mrs. Anna Ross Snyder, 29, formerly of Huntingdon county; and her daughters, Nancy Janet, five, Elizabeth June, seven, and Charlotte, nine.

The charred bodies of Mrs. Snyder and Nancy and Elizabeth were found on the floor of the house. Charlotte died of burns in the Windber Hospital.

The baby, John, suffered no injuries but no one was able to explain how he escaped.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Psynik, neighbors, who discovered the fire and gave the alarm, said they found the baby on the ground ouside the house.

No other details were immediately available but officials thought the father might have carried John, Charlotte and Gertrude outside the burning house before he collapsed or was driven back by flames.

Keyser Council In Routine Session

KEYSER, W. Va.—At the regular meeting of the city council with Mayor John C. Freeland yesterday afternoon, the councilmen voted in favor of compensating the Vigilant Reel and Hose Company for payment for rent and lights in their temporary quarters, North Mineral Street.

A discussion was held relative to lowering the rate of speed on South Main Street in an effort to eliminate the number of traffic accidents in that section. It was pointed out by council there have been numerous accidents on South Main Street as a result of fast driving. Requests that speed limit be lowered were received from residents in that section of town.

It was agreed by the council that all city employes required to have a chauffer license should obtain such license and the city of Keyser would reimburse them.

An application to construct a frame building with inselbrick siding and a fire-proof composition roof in Cherry alley, submitted by Charles S. Briley, was tabled until councilmen can consult City Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr., relative to the fire-zone ordinance prohibiting the erection of buildings that are not fire-proof in the downtown area.

Permission was granted to Leighton Buick Company to hang a neon sign at their place of business, Lincoln Street.

Approval was granted to purchase a filing cabinet to be used in city's filtration plant.

District Needs More Personnel

KEYSER, W. Va. — A Scoutmaster's training course for persons in this area interested in scouting will get underway tonight at Potomac State School, 7 p. m., and will continue one night weekly through March 9, excluding "Scout Week," according to James H. Swadley, Jr., chairman of the New Creek District Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Directing the course will be James T. Handlan, Jr., and W. H. Michaels, members of the faculty of Potomac State School. K. S. McKee, dean of the school, will serve as coordinator.

The course is designed as part of the long range program for the organization and reactivation of troops throughout New Creek District.

The promotion of scout work in this area has been greatly handicapped due to the shortage of trained adult leaders, Swadley said. Attendance and completion of the course being offered will not only equip those interested in troop leadership but will provide a more thorough and complete knowledge of scouting for members of the troop committees, those interested in youth service, and all persons who now, or may in the future, desire to become interested in scouting, the chairman explained.

All organizations in Keyser and throughout the district are urged to have representation at the course. Each night's program will include not only intructional periods, but scouting films and exhibits. At tonight's meeting the membership will be organized in a Scout Troop with as many patrols as the enrollment allows. With trained leaders heading the patrols the system will provide those enrolled with a practical knowledge of the operation of a scout troop, Swadley said.

Instructors who will assist Handlan and Michaels are Earl Black, field executive of the Potomac Council; William E. Kight, long outstanding in scouting in this area; Dr. Robert T. Coffman, commissioner of New Creek District; M. G. Thompson, chairman of Cumberland District; Harry Biggs, Piedmont, commissioner of Potomac Council; Chester Bishoff, scoutmaster of local Troop 39; W. F. Waller, senior sanitarian, State Health Department; Thomas Bess, Jr., scoutmaster of Troop 37; Lester McDowell, Edgell Grayson, David G. Nuzum, and Judson Hodges.

Moorefield Lions Hear Needs Of Hardy Schools

MOOREFIELD—R. S. Dispanet and Stanley Hawse, superintendent and assistant superintendent of Hardy county schools, addressed the Lions Club Monday on needs of the school system in Hardy county and the state.

Dispanet pointed out that Moorefield High School is already overcrowded and that four additional rooms are necessary now. With six additional class rooms needed within five years. At Mathias and Wardensville High Schools two additional rooms are needed at once and within five years another class room will be necessary.

The school head analyzed one room elementary schools as to the kind of water, condition of fire escapes, school furniture, toilet facilities, busses and showed the deficiencies in those categories in the state and estimated it would take $150,000,000 to replace the present inadequate schools with a modern school system.

In the business session of the Lions Club at Airport Inn, County Agent S. L. Dodd reported on the South Fork Road Improvement Committee and urged Lions to back a county wide road building program. A county wide committee with representatives from all sections of the county will be formed to advise on the construction of needed roads.

Irvin Bowman, chairman of the March of Dimes in the county, said the drive was underway and requested members to support the drive. Stanley Hawse, chairman of the glasses committee, reported that he had twelve applications for glasses and that four were pending at present.

Carleton Saville was added to the rolls of the club as a new member. number of tickets to the affair.

Four Persons Die In Somerset Fire

WINDBER, Pa.—Four members of a family of seven died and two were seriously injured when their one-room home, one and a half miles west of Cairnbrook in Somerset County, burned yesterday.

Only one in the family escaped injury—an 18-month-old baby boy.

Lawrence Snyder, 40, coal miner; and a daughter, Gertrude, 12, were taken to a Windber hospital. The girl's condition was reported as critical and the father's as fair.

Dead were the mother, Mrs. Anna Ross Snyder, 29, formerly of Huntingdon county; and her daughters, Nancy Janet, five, Elizabeth June, seven, and Charlotte, nine.

The charred bodies of Mrs. Snyder and Nancy and Elizabeth were found on the floor of the house. Charlotte died of burns in the Windber Hospital.

The baby, John, suffered no injuries but no one was able to explain how he escaped.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Psynik, neighbors, who discovered the fire and gave the alarm, said they found the baby on the ground ouside the house.

No other details were immediately available but officials thought the father might have carried John, Charlotte and Gertrude outside the burning house before he collapsed or was driven back by flames.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17—(INS)—The big news today is that John Huston will direct "Quo Vadis," and will begin preparations immediately for the biggest screen spectacle since "Ben Hur" and "Gone With the Wind."

Keenan Wynn

Everything seems to be coming the way of the rangy, tall director who turned out to be Mr. Big on the list of the New York critics. They gave him the directorial honors of the year for "Treasure of the Sierra Madre."

In fact, John left today for New York to accept the award in person. But it will be a quick trip because he is due back pronto to huddle with Arthur Hornblow even though "Quo Vadis" won't go until June 2. There is much groundwork to be done, however, as the production will be made off the home base—exteriors in Italy and interiors at Elstree, the MGM studio outside of London.

• — • — •

No, this couldn't be—Brian Donlevy filming a yarn about the California gold rush in Florida! I just can't believe it's true. Yet, Donlevy bought a story, "John Winton," by Lloyd Shearer, in which he will star for his independent company, new colony productions, and he will film it in Florida.

Brian is talking to a group of Miami business men about making the gold rush epic in Florida, and, of course, they will give with the do-re-mi.

The second picture to be made by Donlevy's company is based on the life of George Washington, with Brian in the role of the father of our country.

• — • — •

I am greatly interested that Countess McCormack, widow of the great Irish tenor, John McCormack, is sponsoring the young tenor, Christopher Lynch. When we were in England, we were asked so many questions about Lynch, and we were shown his birthplace. He was a protege of John, and the Irish are keeping an eye on him.

The countess comes here February 20 to visit Mrs. Frank Seaver, and on February 27 she will give a tea for Christopher and his wife at the Beverly Hills hotel.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Errol Flynn showed up last week for work in a helicopter piloted by a friend. The craft landed on the back lot of MGM.

Mrs. Charles Boyer is back from New York with her young son and will spend a month here before she rejoins Charles in New York. The Boyers leave for Europe in May, where he will make a picture.

Keenan Wynn, who seldom carries any money around with him, had to borrow $50 from the manager of The Kings, so he could elope with Betty Butler. It was after banking hours.

Charles Laughton has a plan to go on tour and play Shakespeare for the paying customers. He's just back after many months in Europe.

Virginia Mayo and Michael O'Shea have just bought their second ranch, 1,000 acres in Van Nuys, where they will raise cattle. The other ranch is in Arizona.

Marshall Thompson has been notified to appear for registration for the draft by January 21, the date of his marriage to Barbara Long, sister of Richard.

The Jimmy Roosevelts made one of their infrequent night club appearances at Ciro's. I met Jimmy and his two boys not long ago at the Farmers Market and they are really strenuous youngsters.

From Rome I hear Gloria O'Connor, one of the famous twins, is being seen everywhere with Alan Curtis.

The marquess of Milford-Haven gave an interview in London in which he said that a title helps much in the United States in meeting people and in business. I fear he's right.

The Raymond Masseys go to Kingston, Ontario, Canada, in mid-February. At that time Raymond will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree at Queen's University.

Jerald Mayer, nephew of L. B., who has been producing shorts since he got out of the Navy, is taking a fling at stage production. He and Whitfield Cook have acquired revival rights to "The Green Bay Tree," and are planning to tour the west coast.

That's all today.

Cocktail Vs. Smorgasbord

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Swedish temperance people had harsh words for a "new" social device—the cocktail party. In a recent resolution, the Swedish Temperance Union noted that "the co-called cocktail party, a new form of alcoholic consumption, threatens to take root in Sweden."

"Contrary to the practice at other festive gatherings, guests at a cocktail party are not offered any non-alcoholic substitutes." the resolution stated.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing!

Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.

Break the laxative habit . . . with Carter's Pills . . . and be regular naturally.

When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit.

Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore for 33¢ today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Inauguration To Be Previewed On Networks Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—Preparations for the presidential inauguration scheduled for Washington on Thursday will make themselves apparent on the networks Wednesday night.

Of the broadcasts expected, MBS says that it will have an "inaugural preveiw" at 8:30 in which the capital scene on the eve of the event is to be described.

In addition, MBS will again go to Washington at 10:30 for the pre-inaugural concert, at which a whole host of guest stars are expected to appear. Parts if not all of this also have been scheduled for network television relay.

The Family Theater of MBS at 9:30 is to bring forth True Boardman's "World Without End."

Hattie McDaniel, who plays Beulah for CBS, and other members of her cast have been recorded for ABC relay in the weekly Bing Crosby show at 10.

Another MBS special, the third on its schedule, is to be the first annual awards to athletic stars, including Lou Boudreau. It will be at 10 o'clock.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Many Blatant Transgressions

I derive an obscure comfort from the knowledge that British radio, a high-minded operation untrammeled by advertising, suffers from at least one of the notable sins of our own. W. E. Williams, who writes radio reviews for "The London Observer" in a style of almost paralyzing grandeur, complained not long ago:

John Crosby

"There have occurred recently many blatant transgressions of the major law of good listening. The sinners, as usual, are celebrated comedians who, abetted by an invited audience, indulge in visual antics which they fail to communicate even in translation to the frustrated fireside listeners.... What good is an elastic face to us at the listening end? .... We are merely the dead-end kids of wireless and our patience is wearing pretty thin."

In free translation, this carefully modulated, well punctuated expression of British wrath means that British comedians do a lot of mugging in front of a studio audience too and that the British don't care for it any more than we do. Having settled that matter, one question remains. Do British audiences, when confronted by mugging comedians, go into hysterics like ours? I'll match our audiences against theirs—for sheer lung power, that is—any day.

Another small and surprising note from overseas. There are only two television stations operating outside the United States, one in England and another, on an experimental basis, in France. There are no others anywhere in the world.

•—•—•

A few small notes from the magic world of giveaway. Mrs. Carol Cusson, a 250-pounder from Long Beach, Calif., was elected "Fat Girl Queen" on a Queen for a Day contest in which all participants had to weigh at least 230 pounds. Loot for this honor included a bathroom scale, a steam cabinet and a reducing bicycle. Also, she got lunch, dinner and supper.

Robert Merrill and Jane Pickens were picked as outstanding performers in some sort of contest conducted by a chewing gum company. The prize: a year's supply of chewing gum.

An over-zealous but not very cautious press agent has shipped out a picture of Irene Beasley, who presides over the "Grand Slam" quiz program, intended to show how enormously popular that program is. Miss Beasley is shown seated at a desk which is piled high with fan mail. "Letters like this demonstrate the devotion of fans to 'Grand Slam,' says the caption. Most of the letters, however, are addressed to Arthur Godfrey.

Wyllis Cooper, the talented writef of the program "Quiet, Please," writes in to complain that the giveaway emcees—the Messrs. Parks, Seymour, Collier, Moore—seem to have established a new unit of currency—the ollar. "You just listen," challenges Cooper. "They all say it—two thousand ollars, one hundred ollars, fideollars. This is subversive."

I agree. Fide ollars is especially subversive. What can a man buy these days with only fide ollars?

Inauguration To Be Previewed On Networks Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—Preparations for the presidential inauguration scheduled for Washington on Thursday will make themselves apparent on the networks Wednesday night.

Of the broadcasts expected, MBS says that it will have an "inaugural preveiw" at 8:30 in which the capital scene on the eve of the event is to be described.

In addition, MBS will again go to Washington at 10:30 for the pre-inaugural concert, at which a whole host of guest stars are expected to appear. Parts if not all of this also have been scheduled for network television relay.

The Family Theater of MBS at 9:30 is to bring forth True Boardman's "World Without End."

Hattie McDaniel, who plays Beulah for CBS, and other members of her cast have been recorded for ABC relay in the weekly Bing Crosby show at 10.

Another MBS special, the third on its schedule, is to be the first annual awards to athletic stars, including Lou Boudreau. It will be at 10 o'clock.

X-Ray Unit To Visit Hyndman

HYNDMAN, Pa.,— Lloyd B. Keller has announced that free chest X-rays will be given at the school this afternoon beginning at 1 o'clock.

A mobile unit will tour Bedford County giving free X-rays as part of the work of the Bedford County Tuberculosis and Health Society. School children who had a positive reaction from a recent test given here will be given the benefit of the X-ray as will members of the faculty and other interested persons.

The unit staffed by three technicians, will take chest X-rays at the rate of 125 an hour. The caravan has a photo lab and reviewer, and it is planned to examine the "pictures" on the spot. If necessary, larger X-rays may be taken later.

The TB Society has pointed out that the X-rays will be valuable in detecting not only tubercular infection but heart ailments as well.

SWANTON PERSONALS

Fred George visited relatives in Cumberland Saturday.

Mrs. Bennie Sweitzer and Mrs. John B. Friend were recent guests of Mrs. Weston Friend.

X-Ray Unit To Visit Hyndman

HYNDMAN, Pa.,— Lloyd B. Keller has announced that free chest X-rays will be given at the school this afternoon beginning at 1 o'clock.

A mobile unit will tour Bedford County giving free X-rays as part of the work of the Bedford County Tuberculosis and Health Society. School children who had a positive reaction from a recent test given here will be given the benefit of the X-ray as will members of the faculty and other interested persons.

The unit staffed by three technicians, will take chest X-rays at the rate of 125 an hour. The caravan has a photo lab and reviewer, and it is planned to examine the "pictures" on the spot. If necessary, larger X-rays may be taken later.

The TB Society has pointed out that the X-rays will be valuable in detecting not only tubercular infection but heart ailments as well.

Card of Thanks

We take this means of expressing our deepest appreciation and sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness during our recent bereavement, the death of our dear husband and father, Richard W. Long. We are deeply grateful to those who sent floral tributes and to those who donated their cars for the funeral. We also want to thank Rev. J. F. Zimmerman.

Mrs. R. W. Long & Children.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and faher, Mr. Wilson Wagner, who departed this life five years ago, January 19, 1944.

Somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies,
He lives in the land of glory,
With the blue and gold of the skies.
And we who have known and loved him,
Whose passing has brought sad tears,
Will cherish his memory always,
To brighten the passing years.
Keep him, dear Lord, till we reach the shore,
Then let us have him to love once more.

Sadly missed by his Wife & Children

In sad but loving remembrance of my husband and our father, Albert F. Cage, who passed away one year ago, January 19, 1948.

Do not ask us if we miss him,
There's such a vacant place,
Often we think we hear his footsteps
And see his smiling face.
Days of sadness still come over us,
Tears in silence often flow,
Memory keeps him near us
Though he left us one year ago.

Devoted Wife and Children.

Card of Thanks

We take this means of expressing our deepest appreciation and sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness during our recent bereavement, the death of our dear husband and father, Richard W. Long. We are deeply grateful to those who sent floral tributes and to those who donated their cars for the funeral. We also want to thank Rev. J. F. Zimmerman.

Mrs. R. W. Long & Children.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and faher, Mr. Wilson Wagner, who departed this life five years ago, January 19, 1944.

Somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies,
He lives in the land of glory,
With the blue and gold of the skies.
And we who have known and loved him,
Whose passing has brought sad tears,
Will cherish his memory always,
To brighten the passing years.
Keep him, dear Lord, till we reach the shore,
Then let us have him to love once more.

Sadly missed by his Wife & Children

In sad but loving remembrance of my husband and our father, Albert F. Cage, who passed away one year ago, January 19, 1948.

Do not ask us if we miss him,
There's such a vacant place,
Often we think we hear his footsteps
And see his smiling face.
Days of sadness still come over us,
Tears in silence often flow,
Memory keeps him near us
Though he left us one year ago.

Devoted Wife and Children.

MRS. CORA I. SNYDER

OKONOKO, W. Va.—A funeral service was conducted for Mrs. Cora I. Snyder, 75, widow of Jacob Snyder, who died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Crone near Okonoko.

Rev. H. L. Shiley, Levels, officiated and burial was in Levels Cemetery.

She is survived by one son, Marion Snyder, Romney; two daughters, Mrs. William Royce and Mrs. Samuel Crones, both of Okonoko; two sisters, Mrs. O. W. Kerns, Okonoko, and Mrs. Marshall Elliott, Baltimore; one brother, Charles Sperow, Cumberland, four grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

She was a member of Bethel Methodist Church.

CHRISTOPHER J. WALBERT

FROSTBURG — Christopher J. Walbert, 55, native of Frostburg, died in his sleep yesterday morning at his home, 22 Centennial Street.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, attributed death to a heart condition.

A veteran of World War I, he was attached to Company H, 313th Infantry. He served in France for over a year and received his honorable discharge April 19, 1919.

Mr. Walbert was a past commander of Farrady Post, No. 24, American Legion, a past governor of Frostburg Lodge, No. 348, Loyal Order of Moose. He also belonged to the John R. Fairgrieve Post, No. 2462, V.F.W.; Frostburg Lodge, Fraternal Order of Eagles, the Disabled American Veterans and Zion Evangelica and Reformed Church.

A mine worker for many years he last worked as a foreman at a mine stripping operation in Barton for the Elk River Coal and Sales Company.

Surviving are his widow, the former Miss Clara Thomas, a son, George Walbert, Lonaconing; three daughters, Mrs. Ann Duckworth, LaVale; Mary Lou and Phyllis Walbert, at home; three brothers, John Walbert, Consol Village; Thomas, Michigan; Melchoir, Harrisburg, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, Consol Village.

MRS. OLIVE R. NORWOOD

KEYSER, W. Va. — Mrs. Olive Russell Norwood, 64. died Monday evening at her home, 77 Chestnut Street. She was born in Hampshire county, a daughter of the late Joseph Casper and Virginia Thrush Allamong.

She is survived by her husband, Frederick Theodore Norwood, a daughter, Mrs. Edgar Hannas, this city; a son, James P. Norwood, also of here; four brothers, Forrest Allamong, Hagerstown, Virgil Allamong, Morgantown, and Paul and Gladstone Allamong, both of here, and three sisters, Mrs. Leda Sherman and Mrs. Viola Guthrie, both of Bayard, and Mrs. Alta Porter, this city. Three granddaughters also survive.

The body is at the Rogers Funeral Home where it will remain until an hour before a service tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Evangelica United Brethren Church by Rev. Robert L. Bridgers, pastor. Interment will be in Queens Point Cemetery.

RICHARD F. MC COY

FRANKLIN, W. Va.—A funeral service was held yesterday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church for Richard McCoy, former managing editor of the Pendleton Times, who died Sunday night. Burial was in Franklin Cemetery.

MISS CAROLINE K. SHAFFER

FROSTBURG—Miss Caroline K. Shaffer, 156 East Main Street, died yesterday after a lingering illness. She had been bedfast six months.

Miss Shaffer was a daughter of the late Henry and Louisa K. Shaffer, one of Frostburg's pioneer families. She was educated in public schools here and attended Keymar College, Hagerstown, where she graduated in 1881. She belonged to St. Paul's Lutheran Church and was a charter member of the Ladies' Guild of the congregation.

Surviving are three sisters, Misses Grace S. and Louisa K. Shaffer, at home, and Mrs. W. L. VanOrmer, Cumbertland.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at the residence with Rev. Harold R. Stoudt, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiating. Burial will be in Allegany Cemetery.

GELTON J. PARSONS

PARSONS, W. Va.—Gelton J. Parsons, 60, died Sunday morning of a heart attack in Newport News, Va. He had been hospitalized two weeks.

Born in Hendricks, he was a son of the late Margarga and Florence Collett Parsons. He was employed for several years by the Western Maryland Railway and was later a superintendent in the Monongahela National Forest. Parsons went to Newport News eight years ago and was employed in the shipyards there until a year ago when he went into business for himself.

Parsons was a former member of the Board of Education and also served as mayor of Hambleton.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Julia Sayre Parsons; two daughters, Mrs. Patti Gene Kraus, New York City, and Miss Rosalind Parsons, at home; a son, Dale Parsons, also at home, and three brothers, Cleveland Parsons, Reedsville; Norval Parsons, Parsons, and Lovel Parsons, Elkins.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at the Iambleton Presbyterian Church by Rev. Harold D. Shiflet, pastor. Burial will be in the Collett Cemetery.

DEWEY L. MILLER

KEYSER, W. Va.—Dewey Layman Miller, 51, of 80 Gilmore Street, died Monday at Potomac Valley Hospital where he had been a patient three weeks.

A son of the late Herbert and Annie Duling Miller, he was born in Mineral county where he resided all his life. He was employed as a carman by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for 33 years until his retirement three years ago due to ill health.

Mr. Miller was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, Loyal Order of Moose and the Presbyterian Church.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Anna Rose Hawes, this city; a sister, Nina Miller, also of here, and three brothers, Earl Miller, Baltimore; Leo Miller, Cumberland, and Thomas Miller, this city. Two grandchildren also survive.

The body is at the Rogers Funeral Home where a service will be held today at 2 p. m. Rev. John C. B. McLaughlin, pastor of the Keyser Presbyterian Church, will officiate, assisted by Rev. I. S. Long, pastor of the Keyser Brethren Church. Burial will be in Queens Point Cemetery.

WILLIAM C. SUMMERFIELD

PARSONS, W. Va.,—William C. Summerfield, 53, husband of Agnes Watring Summerfield, Leadmine, died yesterday in Parsons Hospital.

He was a son of Columbus and Savina Jane Goff Summerfield and a veteran of World War I.

He is survived by two brothers, Charley Summerfield, Leadmine, and Howard Summerfield, Shaw; two sisters, Miss Lizzie Summerfield, Leadmine, and Mrs. Claude Keyser, Oakland; and four stepchildren, Cyrus Fansler, Tampa, Fla.; Lloyd Fansler and Mrs. Lena Duncan, both of Steubenville, Ohio, and Mrs. Anna Shaffer, Parsons.

A funeral service will be held Friday at 2 p. m. in Leadmine Methodist Church with the pastor, Rev. Cecil Miller, officiating. Burial will be in Bonmifield Cemetery near Leadmine.

MRS. MARGARET DAVIS

PARSONS, W. Va.—Mrs. Margaret Davis, 80, died yesterday in a Parsons rest home. She was born near Morgantown a daughter of the late Jecob and Nana Baker.

Her husband, Isaac Baker, died in 1945. She is survived by two sons, Jesse Davis, Oakland, Md., and James Davis, Weston.

Mineral County Court Opens

KEYSER, W. Va.—Judge Ernest A. See delivered the charge as the Mineral County Circuit Court opened here yesterday morning.

Judge See briefly reviewed the authority and duties of the jurors, gave a general statement of the laws of West Virginia defining misdemeanor and felonies, and reviewed the cases to be presented by Prosecuting Attorney Donald C. Hott.

The cases include murder, unauthorized use of an automobile and an attempt by youths to wreck a train by tampering with rails.

Traffic Safety Group Issues Accident Report

Most County Mishaps Occur On Route 40

In 17 traffic accidents in Allegany County last February and March no fatalities were recorded and nine persons were injured, according to a report released yesterday by the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

William H. Bishop, Jr., executive director of the commission, pointed out that information concerning accidents in this area during the period covered by the report may prove helpful in avoiding accidents during the next two months of this year.

Nine of the 17 accidents in this county occurred on Route 40, the report shows. Five occurred on Route 36 and three on Route 220. Two of the accidents on Route 36 occurred at night, with three persons hurt. One of the Route 40 accidents occurred at night and one person was injured. No accidents occurred on Route 220 at night.

There were only three fatal accidents in four western counties of the state during the report period, all of which happened at night.

Garrett County reported only 1 accident, a property damage mishap which occurred on Route 40. Washington County had seven accidents with five persons killed in two fatal crashes on Route 40, and a personal injury accident on Route 11. Frederick County, with a total of 36 accidents, had one fatality on Route 26 and eight personal injury accidents with 12 persons hurt.

Of a total of 61 accidents in the four counties covered by the report, three were fatal accidents with a death toll of six, 24 were personal injury accidents with 29 persons hurt and 39 were property damage accidents.

Twenty-nine of the 61 accidents occurred on Route 40, 12 on Route 15, six on 240, five on 36, four on 340, three on 220 and one each on 11 and 26.

Aviation Cadets To Be Tested Here

Capt. Jasper C. Hall, Headquarters Second Army, Fort Meade, visited the local Army and Air Force Recruiting Office yesterday to make arrangements for administering tests to applicants for the Aviation Cadet Training Program.

The Second Army Area aviation procurement project officer will visit the office on the second Wednesday of every month to give the tests to male citizens of the United States between the ages of 20 and 26½.

Those applying must have two years of college or be able to pass an equivalent test, he said. He added, however, the Air Force does not encourage men to drop out of school at mid term.

Capt. Hall will also make regular visits to the Hagerstown, Baltimore and Wilmington, Del., stations of the Maryland-Delaware Recruiting District.

Enlisting at the local station yesterday were Cecil W. Knotts, Aurora, W. Va., Regular Army; Ronald Lawrence, Hyndman, Pa., Air Force; James W. Rafferty, Frostburg, Regular Army, and John W. Baldwin, Route 1, city, Regular Army.

Inaugural Suggestion

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Rep. Combs (D-Tex), in another attack on Washington hotels which have raised rates during inaugural week, suggested today that all visitors keep their rent receipts for future reference.

Circuit Court Ends Criminal Cases

Attaches at Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday were clearing the way for civil suits to be heard after Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce heard the last of 16 criminal appeal cases yesterday afternoon. Nine criminal trials were conducted.

Of the criminal cases three remained open on the docket and were marked to be continued until the next term of court. Attaches said the criminal docket was one of the lightest in the history of the court. Hearings lasted only two days.

Rest Of January May Be Blustery, Golden Asserts

First Half Was Above Average

The worst of the January weather is probably still to come, Robert R. Golden, superintendent of Constitution Park and official weather observer, predicted last night on the basis of a 25-year study of January weather in this city.

Weather conditions during the first 15 days of January, he said, were a little better than average with a maximum temperature of 63 and a low of 20 for an average temperature of 41.5.

The 25-year average, he said, is 36.9 for the first part of January. The highest temperature reached in that time was in 1932 when the thermometer showed 80 degrees.

Just as surprising is the fact that zero temperatures were recorded on only one day in the first half of January—and that in 1942.

The warmest year for the period occurred in 1932 with an average of 53.5 and the coldest in 1940 when the average was 23.5.

Not Much Change

Average temperature in January, he added, has not changed much from the 31.2 average of the past 25 years. The 65-year average for January here is 31.5.

The period of January 16-31, Golden said, usually brings the worst weather here although the 25-year average shows an average temperature of 41 degrees.

The highest temperature for the second half of January was reached in 1947 when the thermometer hit 73 degrees. The coldest day was in 1925 when a low of 10 below was recorded.

Second half temperatures of zero or less were recorded in seven of the 25 years.

Brings Heavy Snows

Snow fell during the first half of January in four of the 25 years, in the second half in 13 years, in the middle in four years, over the entire month two of those years and none for two years.

January snowfall records for the period show 10 to 24 inch snowfalls in nine of the years, six to 10 inches in seven others, under six inches in seven years and none for two.

The heaviest snowfalls of January usually come in the second half. In two of the years, 19 inch fall were recorded during the second half. Other heavy snows included a 16-inch in the middle of the month and a 15-inch in the second half of the month.

Berlin Counter-Blockade Set Up By West Allies

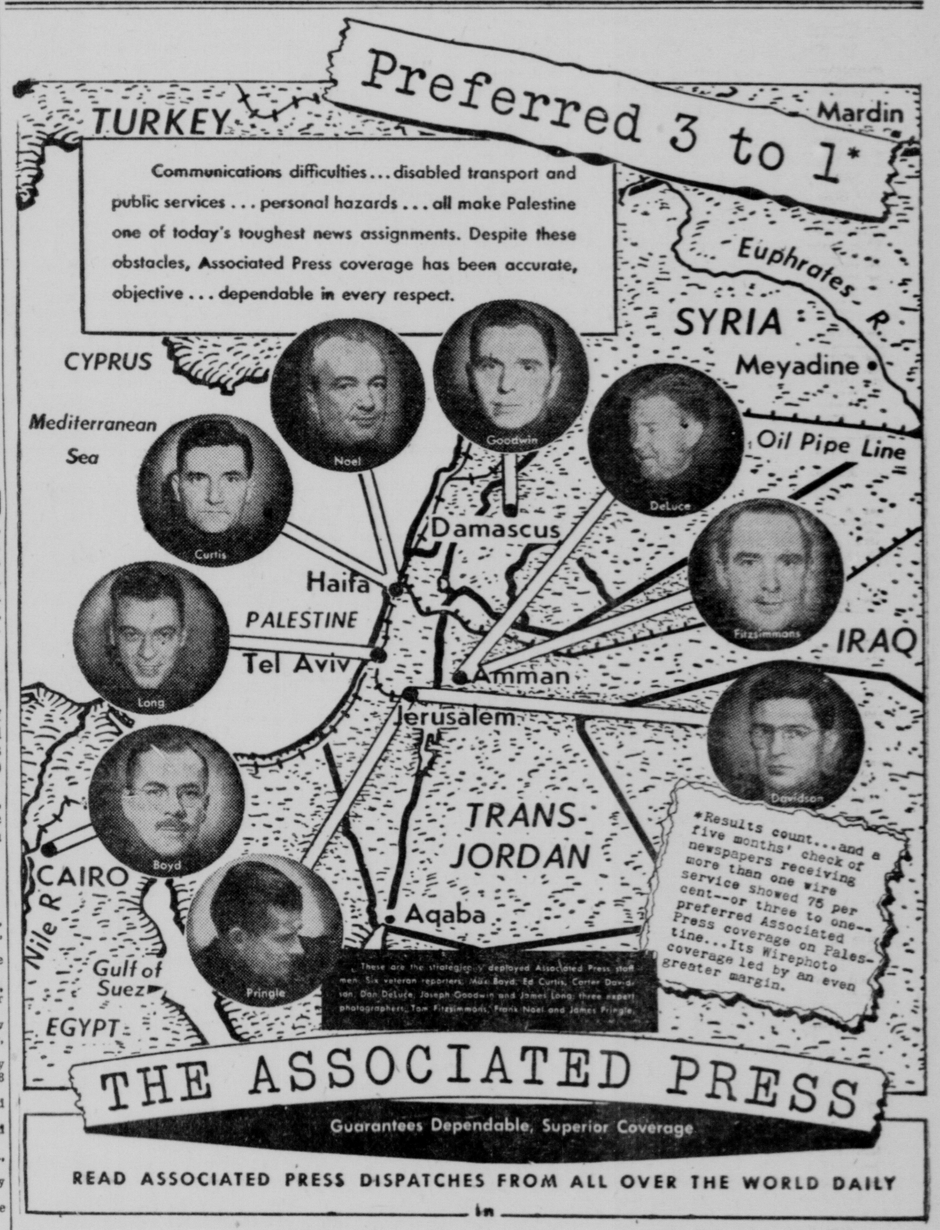

BERLIN, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Western Allies clamped a counter-blockade on the Russian zone of Berlin tonight.

The order came as the Russians tightened their blockade, disrupting cross-town traffic with a new policy of searching passengers in public vehicles crossing their zone line.

The Allied counter-blockade forbids shipments from the three western sectors into the Russian zone without a permit.

Schuman To Visit U. S.

PARIS, Jan. 18 (INS) — French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman announced tonight that he plans to visit Washington in March for discussions of the proposed North Atlantic defense pact.

Traffic Safety Group Issues Accident Report

Most County Mishaps Occur On Route 40

In 17 traffic accidents in Allegany County last February and March no fatalities were recorded and nine persons were injured, according to a report released yesterday by the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

William H. Bishop, Jr., executive director of the commission, pointed out that information concerning accidents in this area during the period covered by the report may prove helpful in avoiding accidents during the next two months of this year.

Nine of the 17 accidents in this county occurred on Route 40, the report shows. Five occurred on Route 36 and three on Route 220. Two of the accidents on Route 36 occurred at night, with three persons hurt. One of the Route 40 accidents occurred at night and one person was injured. No accidents occurred on Route 220 at night.

There were only three fatal accidents in four western counties of the state during the report period, all of which happened at night.

Garrett County reported only 1 accident, a property damage mishap which occurred on Route 40. Washington County had seven accidents with five persons killed in two fatal crashes on Route 40, and a personal injury accident on Route 11. Frederick County, with a total of 36 accidents, had one fatality on Route 26 and eight personal injury accidents with 12 persons hurt.

Of a total of 61 accidents in the four counties covered by the report, three were fatal accidents with a death toll of six, 24 were personal injury accidents with 29 persons hurt and 39 were property damage accidents.

Twenty-nine of the 61 accidents occurred on Route 40, 12 on Route 15, six on 240, five on 36, four on 340, three on 220 and one each on 11 and 26.

Aviation Cadets To Be Tested Here

Capt. Jasper C. Hall, Headquarters Second Army, Fort Meade, visited the local Army and Air Force Recruiting Office yesterday to make arrangements for administering tests to applicants for the Aviation Cadet Training Program.

The Second Army Area aviation procurement project officer will visit the office on the second Wednesday of every month to give the tests to male citizens of the United States between the ages of 20 and 26½.

Those applying must have two years of college or be able to pass an equivalent test, he said. He added, however, the Air Force does not encourage men to drop out of school at mid term.

Capt. Hall will also make regular visits to the Hagerstown, Baltimore and Wilmington, Del., stations of the Maryland-Delaware Recruiting District.

Enlisting at the local station yesterday were Cecil W. Knotts, Aurora, W. Va., Regular Army; Ronald Lawrence, Hyndman, Pa., Air Force; James W. Rafferty, Frostburg, Regular Army, and John W. Baldwin, Route 1, city, Regular Army.

Ernest Mitchell, 24, husband of Mrs. Bertha Brant Mitchell, 230 Massachusetts Avenue, who was killed April 14, 1945 in Germany, will arrive today at 11:50 a. m. and will be taken to the Hafer Funeral Home for a reburial service tomorrow at 2 p. m. Rev. Joseph Young, pastor of Melvin Methodist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Zion Memorial Burial Park. Military Honors will be in charge of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

DREYER FUNERAL

A funeral service for John G. Dreyer, 84, who died Saturday at his home, 450 North Centre Street, was held yesterday at the Hafer Funeral Home. Rev. Hixon T. Bowersox, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiated and burial was in Greenmount Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Milford Dreyer, Robert Dreyer, Daniel Dreyer, Harold Dreyer, Carl Zimmerla and Raymond Zimmerla.

CRAWFORD BURIAL

A funeral service for George Albert Crawford, 68, who died Thursday at his Oldtown home, was held Monday in the Oldtown Methodist Church with the pastor, Rev. Walter Twigg, officiating. Burial was in Oldtown Cemetery.

Pallbearers were William Iser, Belmont Athey, Ervin Schaidt, Joseph Schaidt, Gerald Lewis and Thurman Twigg.

Circuit Court Ends Criminal Cases

Attaches at Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday were clearing the way for civil suits to be heard after Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce heard the last of 16 criminal appeal cases yesterday afternoon. Nine criminal trials were conducted.

Of the criminal cases three remained open on the docket and were marked to be continued until the next term of court. Attaches said the criminal docket was one of the lightest in the history of the court. Hearings lasted only two days.

Rest Of January May Be Blustery, Golden Asserts

First Half Was Above Average

The worst of the January weather is probably still to come, Robert R. Golden, superintendent of Constitution Park and official weather observer, predicted last night on the basis of a 25-year study of January weather in this city.

Weather conditions during the first 15 days of January, he said, were a little better than average with a maximum temperature of 63 and a low of 20 for an average temperature of 41.5.

The 25-year average, he said, is 36.9 for the first part of January. The highest temperature reached in that time was in 1932 when the thermometer showed 80 degrees.

Just as surprising is the fact that zero temperatures were recorded on only one day in the first half of January—and that in 1942.

The warmest year for the period occurred in 1932 with an average of 53.5 and the coldest in 1940 when the average was 23.5.

Not Much Change

Average temperature in January, he added, has not changed much from the 31.2 average of the past 25 years. The 65-year average for January here is 31.5.

The period of January 16-31, Golden said, usually brings the worst weather here although the 25-year average shows an average temperature of 41 degrees.

The highest temperature for the second half of January was reached in 1947 when the thermometer hit 73 degrees. The coldest day was in 1925 when a low of 10 below was recorded.

Second half temperatures of zero or less were recorded in seven of the 25 years.

Brings Heavy Snows

Snow fell during the first half of January in four of the 25 years, in the second half in 13 years, in the middle in four years, over the entire month two of those years and none for two years.

January snowfall records for the period show 10 to 24 inch snowfalls in nine of the years, six to 10 inches in seven others, under six inches in seven years and none for two.

The heaviest snowfalls of January usually come in the second half. In two of the years, 19 inch fall were recorded during the second half. Other heavy snows included a 16-inch in the middle of the month and a 15-inch in the second half of the month.

Berlin Counter-Blockade Set Up By West Allies

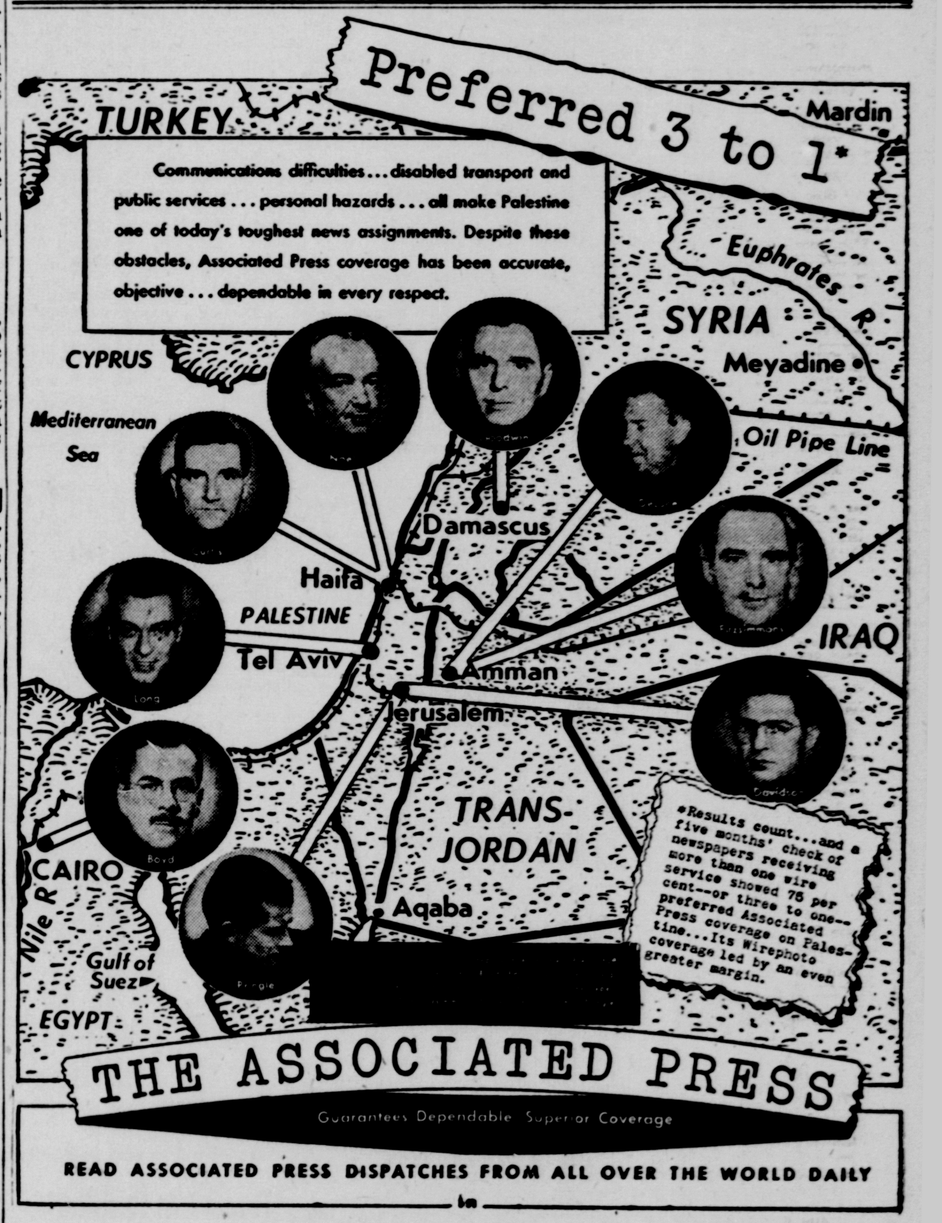

BERLIN, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Western Allies clamped a counter-blockade on the Russian zone of Berlin tonight.

The order came as the Russians tightened their blockade, disrupting cross-town traffic with a new policy of searching passengers in public vehicles crossing their zone line.

The Allied counter-blockade forbids shipments from the three western sectors into the Russian zone without a permit.

Schuman To Visit U. S.

PARIS, Jan. 18 (INS) — French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman announced tonight that he plans to visit Washington in March for discussions of the proposed North Atlantic defense pact.

Searchers Find Body Of Last Victim Lost In Tucker Mountains

Oldest Carr Boy Discovered In Clearing Near Section Where Brother Was Found

A grim six-day search ended yesterday as the frozen body of Eston Carr, 9, last of three boys lost in Tucker County, W. Va., mountains was found in the Beaver Creek section shortly after noon.

The body was lying in a clearing near a pine tree thicket a mile and a half from where the body of Robert Carr, 7, was found Sunday and close to where John Helmick, 16, was found alive but frozen. Nelson Renn, Bayard, W. Va., discovered the boy's body.

Helmick, who left his Davis, W. Va., home last Tuesday with the two boys on a visit to their parents was in a "very, very serious" condition in Elkins General Memorial Hospital. Relatives said he will probably lose his feet.

Nelson said he found the body just after he crawled through the pine thicket on his hands and knees. He said the body was lying near a log in the clearing and it appeared the boy tripped over the object and never got up.

Dead Several Days

Authorities said only that "the boy has been dead several days and apparently died before his brother, Robert." The body had been frozen solid but was beginning to thaw, Nelson said.

A stretcher was made from two stripling trees and a strand of rope. Nelson and H. R. Fulk, Jr., also Bayard, carried the body a short distance before giving it to others who carried it a mile and a half to a jeep. It was taken to a funeral home in Davis.

The finding ended a six-day search made by more than 1,000 men headed by Tucker County Sheriff D. E. Crosten and Conservation Officer Fielding Kyer. The two men walked over 200 miles in the rugged terrain during the six days.

As in the finding of Helmick and the younger Carr's body word of yesterday's discovery was several hours reaching the nearest community because of difficulty in getting out of the mountain terrain.

Dropped Exhausted

Nelson said from all appearance the boy never moved his feet after he fell over the log. Not a leaf was disturbed as would have been the case if the child had rolled or turned over, he said.

Sheriff Crosten said the three boys were found in a perfect triangle in the Little Black-Beaver Creek area and added "Eston apparently died first and the other two continued on. Then Robert died and Helmick walked until he fell over exhausted."

A money order in a sealed envelope was found in the boy's pocket yesterday, and Nelson said it was made out to his father. It appeared, he said, that the boy picked up the mail at the post office before starting on the trip.

Sheriff Crosten called all of the men in yesterday after learning the last victim was found. He said 150 men went into the woods yesterday, 40 of whom came from Bayard. It was Nelson's first day with the searchers.

Headquarters Set

Throughout the search the Davis Volunteer Fire Department house served as headquarters where searchers were checked in and out and fed. Sheriff Crosten said there was not a day that several members of the department was not in the woods searching.

Nelson was described as a veteran hunter who knew the woods in which the boys were found. Members said several parties were in the vicinity Monday but probably did not see the body because of a thick fog that limited visibility to 20 feet.

The Bayard searching party walked south from that community about 12 miles and followed Beaver Creek all the way to the spot where the boy was found. The first body was discovered on the right fork of the creek and Eston's body was found on the stream's left fork.

Tried To Build Fire

Searchers earlier found evidence that the trio bedded down in one spot for two nights and Sheriff Crosten said evidence was found yesterday that proved the three had torn their underwear into small strips in a vain effort to start a fire.

The last victim to be found was within 500 feet of a hunting lodge when he collapsed, authorities declared. They "could not be sure" if the boy realized he was so close to shelter or if he was wandering about in the night.

When the three boys were reported missing last Wednesday night, Sheriff Crosten promised the families that he would not rest until the trio was brought out of the woods. Yesterday after conducting the six-day search the officer was near collapse himself. He spent all of the days and most of the nights in the mountain area with searching parties.

Funeral services for the two Carr brothers was not yet arranged last night, but the father said the pair will be buried in a single casket. The bodies were at a Davis funeral home.

Attaches at the hospital yesterday informed the Sheriff that Helmick is suffering from "a lung condition." Members of the family said they had been informed it was double pneumonia. The sheriff was told by attaches that it will be several days before the exact condition of Helmick's frozen hands and feet are known.

Weather

There was very little change in temperature during the 24-hour period yesterday. The thermometer hovered between 42 and 43 all day. Predictions are for more than the unmeasurable amount of rain which came down early yesterday afternoon. The rain is expected to turn into snow with colder evening temperatures.

Early Dividends Slated For Flood Control Project

Chamber Group Hears Report On Plans

Although the Cumberland Flood Control project is a long-term task, benefits of even the early stages of the project will soon be apparent, the Flood Control committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce pointed out yesterday.

Work on the first phase of the project, construction of pressure conduits at Franklin, Knox, Pear and Wineow Streets, is expected to begin next month and be completed in July.

Since these conduits will relieve the pressure of water during flash floods, the first phase of the project will bring almost immediate benefits, it was pointed out.

Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer for the project, spoke to the committee and reviewed progress on the flood control project.

Plans are now being drawn up, he said, for four more pressure conduits, including Valley Street, which will open the second phase of the work.

The possibilities of development through the widening of Valley Street are splendid, Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber, said.

The committee suggested that it was time serious consideration be given to bridges to be included in the flood work.

Humbird School To Hold Family Fun Night Friday

Doll, Pet, Hobby Shows Are Planned

The Parent-Teacher Association and faculty of John Humbird School, Ella Avenue, will sponsor a Family Fun Night at the school Friday beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Rooms of the school have been converted into refreshment booths, game centers and exhibition halls.

A fish pond will be in operation and several cake walks will be held during the evening. Refreshments will include home-made candy, cakes and pies, candy bars and soft drinks.

Fancy work, toys and numerous items of children's clothing will be displayed.

One of the featured exhibits will be a doll show. Many types, nationalities and sizes of dolls, ranging in height from six inches to four feet, will be displayed.

Included in the hobby show will be collections of war souvenirs, model airplanes, vases, glassware and what-nots.

A pet show is also being arranged and movies will be shown in the school auditorium.

BIRTHS

Memorial Hospital announced the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Dolly, Mexico Farms, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. William Crites, 17 Mineral Street, Ridgeley, a daughter.

Sgt. and Mrs. C. L. Johnson, Bolling Air Firce Base, Washington, D. C., announce the birth of a son yesterday at Base Hospital. Sgt. Johnson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Johnson, 148 Frederick Street. The mother is the former Miss Juanita Kearchner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Kearchner, Princeton Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bender, Egg Harbor, N. J., announce the birth of a son, James Perry, January 8 in Atlantic City Hospital. Mrs. Bender is the former Miss Nancy Shelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Shelton, Bethlehem, Pa., former residents of this city, and a sister of Mrs. Richard J. Bruce, 626 Washington Street.

Dr. and Mrs. James E. Printy, Rossford, Ohio, announce the birth of a daughter Monday in Mercy Hospital, Toledo. Mrs. Printy is the former Miss Jeanne Geatz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman F. Geatz, 11 South Smallwood Street.

END OF SEARCH-- A six-day search in the West Virginia Mountains near Davis, W. Va., ended yesterday as a 150-man posse found the body of Eston Carr, 9, last of three victims lost in the area since Tuesday. Members of the searching party are seen carrying the body out of the Beaver Creek area yesterday where it was found in the top picture. In the bottom picture a wooden cross bearing the name of Robert Carr, 7, whose body was found Sunday is being used to dedicate the spot. The insert shows Robert Carr on the left and Eston holding a dog during a swimming party last summer.

Wishing Wells Aid In Polio Campaign

March of Dimes Wishing Wells have been placed in operation on Baltimore Street and at the Kelly and Celanese plants here.

American Federation of Labor unions have manned the Well on Baltimore Street for several days and were succeeded yesterday afternoon by A. E. Johnson and Patrick Zembower, of Local 26, United Rubber Workers will assist in the drive another day this week.

Johnson, who is president of Local 26, said a Wishing Well was placed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company gates yesterday and will be manned at shift changes. He reported good results yesterday.

James Martin and John Estes, two Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, officials will man the Baltimore Street Wishing Well today from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m.

A third Wishing Well was placed in the main cafeteria of the Celanese plant yesterday and will be manned by members of the union.

George W. Lucas, who is in charge of the Wishing Well section of the March of Dimes campaign, said Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will be in charge of the Well Thursday and the Lions Club Saturday.

Collections, only fair at present, are improving, it was reported.

City Exchange Club Hears Mrs. Annan

The organization of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children was explained by Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary, last night at the regular weekly dinner meeting of the Cumberland Exchange Club at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

She thanked the club for their past aid particularly in giving funds to those needing help in speech clinics and in providing hearing aids.

Since the League's organization in 1934, Mrs. Annan said, between three and four thousand county children have been examined and treated. The average yearly caseload is about 600, she said.

She particularly emphasized support of the March of Dimes for treatment of infantile paralysis victims. She explained that when county funds are low, the national chapter has an epidemic fund to draw on. However, she said, the increase in polio epidemics has about depleted national funds.

Mrs. Annan was introduced to the club by Jack Robb, March of Dimes chairman for the second year. President Carl Daum presided.

Treated At Hospital

Howard Leydig, 30, Hyndman, Pa., was treated at Allegany Hospital last night for a right ankle laceration received when he stepped on a broken jug.

Authorities Seek Information On Accident Victim

Robert Day, 65, Dies In Hospital

State Police were still looking last night for information concerning Robert Day, 65, who died last night at 6:10 in Allegany Hospital from injuries received when he was hit by an automobile near the intersection of Route 40 and Locust Grove, January 8.

Day was injured, Police said, when he "staggered" in front of an automobile driven by Franklin H. Stahlman, 25, Ellerslie, who took him to the hospital.

When first questioned, Day identified himself as Bob Day, of Thomas Street, according to police, who said they could not confirm the address.

Deputy County Medical Examiner H. V. Deming said death was caused by a severe concussion of the brain due to being hit by an automobile. The dead man also suffered a ruptured left kidney, fractured ninth and tenth ribs on the left side, a gathering in the left side of his chest and serum on the brain.

Day fell into a coma after admittance to the hospital and later was in a semi-conscious state, hospital attaches stated.

In a search still going on at midnight, Trooper Jack Browning visited a Charles Wood, Oldtown Road, who said Day had been staying with him at the time of the accident. He indicated the man had a brother in Mt. Savage, Va. A teletype inquiry of State Police in that area was not answered last night according to local authorities.

Mrs. Mildred Welch, this city, said Day used to stay at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Welch, 107 Offutt Street, at intervals of a few days. She estimated he had been in the city for about 35 years but had told no one of his background.

Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who investigated the accident at the time it happened, had termed it "unavoidable" and pressed no charges pending the outcome of Day's injuries. Police indicated there would be an investigation today.

The body has been taken to the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

Young GOP Club To Elect Tonight

The Young Men's Republican Club will hold its annual nomination and election of officers tonight at 8 o'clock at the club home, 125 Frederick Street.

Heading the club during 1948 were E. M. Kirk, president; Watson Trail, vice president, and W. B. Dyche, treasurer.

Fred Crowe Is Named To Head Food Dealers

Windish Installs Officers, Directors

Fred Crowe, Frostburg, was elected president of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland at a meeting last night in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Other officers for the ensuing year are Frank Warnick, this city, vice president; and J. Goodloe Jackson, this city, who was re-elected to his fifth term as secretary-treasurer.

New members of the board of directors are G. R. Mulligan, Mt. Savage, and Wilbur V. Rice, this city.

Re-elected for another one-year term were George Dressman, LaVale; G. H. Coleman, Frostburg; Henry Crosser, Lonaconing; James E. Kenny, Westernport; R. H. Yokum, Cresaptown; M. R. Lewis, Oldtown; P. H. Gallagher, Barton, and F. A. Smouse, Oakland.

Albert E. Windish, outgoing president, conducted the installation ceremony.

Jackson reported that members of the board of the Independent Retail Food Distributors of Maryland, meeting Sunday afternoon in Baltimore, selected Frederick as the site for the state convention, to be held May 8-9.

The program included a panel discussion and a film on the subject of retail clerk training.

Those taking part in the discussion were Carl McIntyre and Ralph Frantz, grocers, and William Knierlem and Charles Smith, clerks. Windish acted as moderator.

Approximately 100 attended the meeting, the largest attendance in recent months.

Local Briefs

Maj. John R. Connelly and Capt. Arthur S. Wenborn will discuss the mission and organization of the Ordnance at the second monthly meeting of the 208th ORC Composite Group tomorrow at 8 p. m. in City Hall Auditorium.

The will of Isabelle N. Worgan, Luke, who died November 12, 1948, was admitted to probate yesterday in Orphan's Court. The estate was left to her children John M. Worgan, a son, was granted letters of administration on the estate.

Catherine A. Andrews, 209 North Mechanic Street, was granted an absolute divorce and custody of two minor children yesterday in Circuit Court in her suit against James W. Andrews.

The Cresaptown American Legion Auxiliary No. 209 will meet at the Club House tonight at 7:30.

2 VFW Meetings Are Planned

Veterans of Foreign Wars, Henry Hart Post, No. 1411 were informed of two committee sessions that will be held this month when they attended the monthly meeting of the post last night at 7:30 o'clock.

The local session was called by James R. Stemple, past commander who will meet with the degree team in the post home January 30. The other session will be a meeting of District 3, VFW, at Queen's Point Memorial Post, McCoole, Sunday at 2 p. m. George Banzhoff, district commander, called the session.

Carl Ryan, president of the post drum corps, said a drive will be made to increase the unit's strength and added regular drill sessions have been resumed on Monday nights at 7:30 o'clock.

The post membership for 1949 was listed at 914, according to figures released last night. The sick committee was notified that Bruce Richardson and George Lydinger are patients in Newton D. Baker General Hospital and that James Shoemaker has been discharged from that hospital.

An oyster supper was served following the meeting, prepared under the direction of James Robinson, Bruce Castleman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bailey and George Banzhoff.

Kimble Declines Comment On Charter

State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) said last night he has no suggestions or comments to make on the city charter measure, introduced in the House of Delegates yesterday by the Allegany County Delegation, until the delegation finishes work on the bill and sends it over to the Senate.

Kimble said he had been requested by members of the Cumberland Charter Commission last week to introduce the bill in the Senate but that "for some reason" the delegation wanted to introduce it first in the House.

The state senator said he decided against introducing a duplicate bill because at least 400 extra copies of the 57-page measure would have to be printed.

That would be "a waste of time, effort and money," Kimble declared.

Parish Is Granted Residence Permit

D. B. Parish, Pattersons Creek, W. Va., secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a one-half story residence at the rear of 500 Dilley Street, facing Fairview Avenue.

The structure will measure 24 by 26 feet, with a concrete block foundation, brick and frame walls and a composition shingle roof. Work will be done by the owner, at an estimated cost of $5,000.

The Board of Zoning Appeals last week granted Parish permission to locate the residence at that site.

Delegation Introduces Charter Bill In House

Bill Introduced To Increase Size Of School Board

Two Of Five Members Would Be Women

State Senator Robert B. Kimble yesterday introduced a bill into the Senate at Annapolis to specify that the Allegany County Board of Education be increased from three to five members.

At least two of the members would be women, according to the measure.

Terms of the first board, to be appointed by the governor in May, 1949, would be staggered from one to five years, so that thereafter one appointment may be made each year for a five-year term.

Members of the board are now allowed $100 annually for their expenses in attending board meetings. Kimble said last night the bill provides for increasing the allowance up to $200.

The measure was referred to a "select committee" composed of Kimble and Senators David McLaughlin (Washington County) and Edward Storm (Frederick County.)

In an earlier announcement several weeks ago, Kimble said the bill would provide for three of five members to be members of the majority party and the other two to be members of the party polling the next highest vote.

Appointments would be made by the governor as under the present law. The current law also provides that one of three members must be of the minority party.

DAV Hits Workshop

In other action yesterday, the Associated Press reported that the Annapolis Chapter of Disabled American Veterans contended the Maryland Workshop for the Blind seeks "unwarranted authority" to license vending stands operated by the blind in state's public buildings.

The DAV Chapter went on record as opposing a bill before the House of Delegates to give the Workshop exclusive authority to issue the licenses and provide equipment for the stands.

A resolution sent to all senators and delegates by the DAV unit said:

See Offers Measure

"It is evident and apparent that the Maryland Workshop for the Blind seeks enactment of the bill to further its own profit and gain at the expense and detriment of individual blind persons who are desirious of operating such vending stands."

The workshop bill was introduced by Delegate Charles M. See (R-Allegany who is blind himself. See is a member of the Maryland Workshop Board of trustees.

Action Is Deferred Pending Conference

The Allegany County Delegation yesterday submitted the proposed new city charter to the House of Delegates, which referred the measure back to the delegation.

Delegation Chairman Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., said last night that the bill was presented as drawn up by the Cumberland Charter Commission but that "a number of amendments" will be needed.

He added that the delegation plans no action until after its scheduled conference with the Charter Commission at City Hall January 29. State Senator Robert B. Kimble is also expected to attend that conference.

The measure provides for a council-manager form of government and home rule.

Whitworth said the delegation is not prepared as yet to comment on the proposal.

The delegation will hold hearings on the proposed charter if any are requested, Whitworth said.

Council Grants Request

The measure was introduced yesterday afternoon, four hours after Mayor Thomas S. Post and the City Council met in special session and granted the request of the Charter Commission to submit the document to the General Assembly for action.

Although no comment was made pro or con during the session concerning provisions of the charter, it was agreed by all members of the city's governing body that the new charter, if passed by the state legislature, should be placed before the citizens of Cumberland for acceptance or disapproval by referendum, as provided in the charter itself.

If passed by the state legislature, the proposed charter will be placed before the voters of the city in a special election in June.

No Official Stand Taken

The commissioners specifically stated that by granting the request of the charter group to introduce the bill, they were not voicing their approval or disapproval of the proposed basic law.

After the meeting, however, Mayor Thomas S. Post and the commissioners were contacted concerning their views.

Mayor Post stated that he had studied the provisions of the proposal and was in favor of it. He added that although he does not think the charter meets all requirements, he believes it is a definite advancement.

The Mayor also declared that under the home rule bill to be presented by the Maryland League of Municipalities, Cumberland would be able to amend the charter group's basic law as it was deemed necessary.

Police Commissioner William V. Keegan, however, voiced strong objection to the provision which removes the police and fire chiefs, and their assistant chiefs, from placement under Civil Service.

Under the proposed charter, after the present heads have left their offices, through retirement or resignation, their successors will be appointed by the city manager in the "unclassified service."

Keegan Gives Views

Commissioner Keegan said: "The council has just taken the Police and Fire Department out of politics and now the proposed charter will put them back. These appointments are going to become another political football".

Referring to the probable $7,500 to $10,000 salary of the city manager as provided under the proposed charter, Keegan asked: "Where are we going to get the money for his wages? The people are already taxed to death now".

Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, who introduced the motion, stated that in doing so in the special session he was neither for nor against the charter. He declared he believed the citizens should have a chance to decide whether they want to accept it or not.

The opinions of Water Commissioner William J. Edwards and Street Commissioner Edgar Reynolds were similar to the position of Buchholtz.

Seven Secure Applications For Smoke Exam

Filing Deadline Is Friday Afternoon

Seven applicants for the deputy smoke inspector examination have secured blanks at the office of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery but none has returned completed papers as yet, a check revealed yesterday.

Deadline for returning the papers and medical examination reports is Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The examination will be held by the Board of Civil Service Commissioners next Wednesday, January 26, at 7 p. m. at Fort Hill High School.

Other Civil Service examinations scheduled at the same time are those for police officer and stenographer to the chief of police.

Ullery said 16 applicants have taken out papers for the police officer test and that three of the 16 have returned completed forms.

One young woman has secured blanks for the stenographer test, which is limited to women between the ages of 21 and 35.

Probationary police officers receive a salary of $190 monthly, while the stenographer position pays $183.50 monthly.

The Mayor and Council will set the salary of the deputy smoke inspector, who will be employed by contract under probationary rules and regulations. Applicants for that position must be over 21.

Applicants for any of the three examinations must have been residents of Cumberland for the past three years.

Local Persons Plan To Attend Inauguration

Finance Commissioner and Mrs. William H. Buchholtz and their young son, William, Jr., will leave tomorrow to attend the inauguration of President Truman in Washington.

They will be accompanied by the commissioner's mother, Mrs. William Buchholtz, and his wife's aunt, Mrs. Emma Smith.

Buchholtz is president of the Young Democrat Club of Allegany County.

Others planning to attend include William L. Wilson, Jr., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Allegany County; W. Ewald Ruehl and family; and Jacob R. Wolf, a Spanish-American War veteran who is former troop commander of the Third U. S. Cavalry Veterans Association.

Mr. Wolf, who served in the Philippines from 1898 to 1902, is the present secretary-treasurer of the association. Now retired, he was formerly employed in the division accountant's office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Fey Introduces Bill For Mobile Library Unit

$25,000 Would Be Authorized In Levy

Delegate John T. Fey, (R-Allegany) yesterday introduced a bill into the House of Delegates which would authorize the Board of County Commissioners to include in the levy $25,000 to establish a mobile library unit.

The bill was referred to the Allegany County Delegation.

The library unit would serve all sections of the county except incorporated communities. The commissioners would be authorized to employ one or more persons to staff the unit, as necessary.

Delegation Chairman Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., said the county commissioners requested introduction of the measure.

Hearings will be held by the delegation if requested.

Meanwhile, Whitworth said the delegation has approved an enabling act to permit increase of the Frostburg Fire Department tax from five cents up to 12 cents.

The bill, introduced by Delegate Noel Speir Cook, Frostburg, will be reported out favorably today to the House floor for its second reading, the chairman said.

Frostburg firemen said the requested increase, first to be made in 20 years, would raise their annual operating revenue from $3,000 to about $8,000. The department is one of the few in Allegany County which depends solely on city taxation for support.

Meanwhile, Whitworth said the House will adjourn tonight until Monday to permit legislators to attend the inauguration ceremonies tomorrow in Washington, D. C.

He said he believes Cook is the only member of the delegation planning to attend.

Searchers Find Body Of Last Victim Lost In Tucker Mountains

Oldest Carr Boy Discovered In Clearing Near Section Where Brother Was Found

A grim six-day search ended yesterday as the frozen body of Eston Carr, 9, last of three boys lost in Tucker County, W. Va., mountains was found in the Beaver Creek section shortly after noon.

The body was lying in a clearing near a pine tree thicket a mile and a half from where the body of Robert Carr, 7, was found Sunday and close to where John Helmick, 16, was found alive but frozen. Nelson Renn, Bayard, W. Va., discovered the boy's body.

Helmick, who left his Davis, W. Va., home last Tuesday with the two boys on a visit to their parents was in a "very, very serious" condition in Elkins General Memorial Hospital. Relatives said he will probably lose his feet.

Nelson said he found the body just after he crawled through the pine thicket on his hands and knees. He said the body was lying near a log in the clearing and it appeared the boy tripped over the object and never got up.

Dead Several Days

Authorities said only that "the boy has been dead several days and apparently died before his brother, Robert." The body had been frozen solid but was beginning to thaw, Nelson said.

A stretcher was made from two stripling trees and a strand of rope. Nelson and H. R. Fulk, Jr., also Bayard, carried the body a short distance before giving it to others who carried it a mile and a half to a jeep. It was taken to a funeral home in Davis.

The finding ended a six-day search made by more than 1,000 men headed by Tucker County Sheriff D. E. Crosten and Conservation Officer Fielding Kyer. The two men walked over 200 miles in the rugged terrain during the six days.

As in the finding of Helmick and the younger Carr's body word of yesterday's discovery was several hours reaching the nearest community because of difficulty in getting out of the mountain terrain.

Dropped Exhausted

Nelson said from all appearance the boy never moved his feet after he fell over the log. Not a leaf was disturbed as would have been the case if the child had rolled or turned over, he said.

Sheriff Crosten said the three boys were found in a perfect triangle in the Little Black-Beaver Creek area and added "Eston apparently died first and the other two continued on. Then Robert died and Helmick walked until he fell over exhausted."

A money order in a sealed envelope was found in the boy's pocket yesterday, and Nelson said it was made out to his father. It appeared, he said, that the boy picked up the mail at the post office before starting on the trip.

Sheriff Crosten called all of the men in yesterday after learning the last victim was found. He said 150 men went into the woods yesterday, 40 of whom came from Bayard. It was Nelson's first day with the searchers.

Headquarters Set

Throughout the search the Davis Volunteer Fire Department house served as headquarters where searchers were checked in and out and fed. Sheriff Crosten said there was not a day that several members of the department was not in the woods searching.

Nelson was described as a veteran hunter who knew the woods in which the boys were found. Members said several parties were in the vicinity Monday but probably did not see the body because of a thick fog that limited visibility to 20 feet.

The Bayard searching party walked south from that community about 12 miles and followed Beaver Creek all the way to the spot where the boy was found. The first body was discovered on the right fork of the creek and Eston's body was found on the stream's left fork.

Tried To Build Fire

Searchers earlier found evidence that the trio bedded down in one spot for two nights and Sheriff Crosten said evidence was found yesterday that proved the three had torn their underwear into small strips in a vain effort to start a fire.

The last victim to be found was within 500 feet of a hunting lodge when he collapsed, authorities declared. They "could not be sure" if the boy realized he was so close to shelter or if he was wandering about in the night.

When the three boys were reported missing last Wednesday night, Sheriff Crosten promised the families that he would not rest until the trio was brought out of the woods. Yesterday after conducting the six-day search the officer was near collapse himself. He spent all of the days and most of the nights in the mountain area with searching parties.

Funeral services for the two Carr brothers was not yet arranged last night, but the father said the pair will be buried in a single casket. The bodies were at a Davis funeral home.

Attaches at the hospital yesterday informed the Sheriff that Helmick is suffering from "a lung condition." Members of the family said they had been informed it was double pneumonia. The sheriff was told by attaches that it will be several days before the exact condition of Helmick's frozen hands and feet are known.

Early Dividends Slated For Flood Control Project

Chamber Group Hears Report On Plans

Although the Cumberland Flood Control project is a long-term task, benefits of even the early stages of the project will soon be apparent, the Flood Control committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce pointed out yesterday.

Work on the first phase of the project, construction of pressure conduits at Franklin, Knox, Pear and Wineow Streets, is expected to begin next month and be completed in July.

Since these conduits will relieve the pressure of water during flash floods, the first phase of the project will bring almost immediate benefits, it was pointed out.

Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer for the project, spoke to the committee and reviewed progress on the flood control project.

Plans are now being drawn up, he said, for four more pressure conduits, including Valley Street, which will open the second phase of the work.

The possibilities of development through the widening of Valley Street are splendid, Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber, said.

The committee suggested that it was time serious consideration be given to bridges to be included in the flood work.

Humbird School To Hold Family Fun Night Friday

Doll, Pet, Hobby Shows Are Planned

The Parent-Teacher Association and faculty of John Humbird School, Ella Avenue, will sponsor a Family Fun Night at the school Friday beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Rooms of the school have been converted into refreshment booths, game centers and exhibition halls.

A fish pond will be in operation and several cake walks will be held during the evening. Refreshments will include home-made candy, cakes and pies, candy bars and soft drinks.

Fancy work, toys and numerous items of children's clothing will be displayed.

One of the featured exhibits will be a doll show. Many types, nationalities and sizes of dolls, ranging in height from six inches to four feet, will be displayed.

Included in the hobby show will be collections of war souvenirs, model airplanes, vases, glassware and what-nots.

A pet show is also being arranged and movies will be shown in the school auditorium.

END OF SEARCH-- A six-day search in the West Virginia Mountains near Davis, W. Va., ended yesterday as a 150-man posse found the body of Eston Carr, 9, last of three victims lost in the area since Tuesday. Members of the searching party are seen carrying the body out of the Beaver Creek area yesterday where it was found in the top picture. In the bottom picture a wooden cross bearing the name of Robert Carr, 7, whose body was found Sunday is being used to dedicate the spot. The insert shows Robert Carr on the left and Eston holding a dog during a swimming party last summer.

Wishing Wells Aid In Polio Campaign

March of Dimes Wishing Wells have been placed in operation on Baltimore Street and at the Kelly and Celanese plants here.

American Federation of Labor unions have manned the Well on Baltimore Street for several days and were succeeded yesterday afternoon by A. E. Johnson and Patrick Zembower, of Local 26, United Rubber Workers will assist in the drive another day this week.

Johnson, who is president of Local 26, said a Wishing Well was placed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company gates yesterday and will be manned at shift changes. He reported good results yesterday.

James Martin and John Estes, two Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, officials will man the Baltimore Street Wishing Well today from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m.

A third Wishing Well was placed in the main cafeteria of the Celanese plant yesterday and will be manned by members of the union.

George W. Lucas, who is in charge of the Wishing Well section of the March of Dimes campaign, said Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will be in charge of the Well Thursday and the Lions Club Saturday.

Collections, only fair at present, are improving, it was reported.

City Exchange Club Hears Mrs. Annan

The organization of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children was explained by Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary, last night at the regular weekly dinner meeting of the Cumberland Exchange Club at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

She thanked the club for their past aid particularly in giving funds to those needing help in speech clinics and in providing hearing aids.

Since the League's organization in 1934, Mrs. Annan said, between three and four thousand county children have been examined and treated. The average yearly caseload is about 600, she said.

She particularly emphasized support of the March of Dimes for treatment of infantile paralysis victims. She explained that when county funds are low, the national chapter has an epidemic fund to draw on. However, she said, the increase in polio epidemics has about depleted national funds.

Mrs. Annan was introduced to the club by Jack Robb, March of Dimes chairman for the second year. President Carl Daum presided.

Treated At Hospital

Howard Leydig, 30, Hyndman, Pa., was treated at Allegany Hospital last night for a right ankle laceration received when he stepped on a broken jug.

Authorities Seek Information On Accident Victim

Robert Day, 65, Dies In Hospital

State Police were still looking last night for information concerning Robert Day, 65, who died last night at 6:10 in Allegany Hospital from injuries received when he was hit by an automobile near the intersection of Route 40 and Locust Grove, January 8.

Day was injured, Police said, when he "staggered" in front of an automobile driven by Franklin H. Stahlman, 25, Ellerslie, who took him to the hospital.

When first questioned, Day identified himself as Bob Day, of Thomas Street, according to police, who said they could not confirm the address.

Deputy County Medical Examiner H. V. Deming said death was caused by a severe concussion of the brain due to being hit by an automobile. The dead man also suffered a ruptured left kidney, fractured ninth and tenth ribs on the left side, a gathering in the left side of his chest and serum on the brain.

Day fell into a coma after admittance to the hospital and later was in a semi-conscious state, hospital attaches stated.

In a search still going on at midnight, Trooper Jack Browning visited a Charles Wood, Oldtown Road, who said Day had been staying with him at the time of the accident. He indicated the man had a brother in Mt. Savage, Va. A teletype inquiry of State Police in that area was not answered last night according to local authorities.

Mrs. Mildred Welch, this city, said Day used to stay at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Welch, 107 Offutt Street, at intervals of a few days. She estimated he had been in the city for about 35 years but had told no one of his background.

Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who investigated the accident at the time it happened, had termed it "unavoidable" and pressed no charges pending the outcome of Day's injuries. Police indicated there would be an investigation today.

The body has been taken to the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

Young GOP Club To Elect Tonight

The Young Men's Republican Club will hold its annual nomination and election of officers tonight at 8 o'clock at the club home, 125 Frederick Street.

Heading the club during 1948 were E. M. Kirk, president; Watson Trail, vice president, and W. B. Dyche, treasurer.

Fred Crowe Is Named To Head Food Dealers

Windish Installs Officers, Directors

Fred Crowe, Frostburg, was elected president of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland at a meeting last night in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Other officers for the ensuing year are Frank Warnick, this city, vice president; and J. Goodloe Jackson, this city, who was re-elected to his fifth term as secretary-treasurer.

New members of the board of directors are G. R. Mulligan, Mt. Savage, and Wilbur V. Rice, this city.

Re-elected for another one-year term were George Dressman, LaVale; G. H. Coleman, Frostburg; Henry Crosser, Lonaconing; James E. Kenny, Westernport; R. H. Yokum, Cresaptown; M. R. Lewis, Oldtown; P. H. Gallagher, Barton, and F. A. Smouse, Oakland.

Albert E. Windish, outgoing president, conducted the installation ceremony.

Jackson reported that members of the board of the Independent Retail Food Distributors of Maryland, meeting Sunday afternoon in Baltimore, selected Frederick as the site for the state convention, to be held May 8-9.

The program included a panel discussion and a film on the subject of retail clerk training.

Those taking part in the discussion were Carl McIntyre and Ralph Frantz, grocers, and William Knierim and Charles Smith, clerks. Windish acted as moderator.

Approximately 100 attended the meeting, the largest attendance in recent months.

Catherine A. Andrews, 209 North Mechanic Street, was granted an absolute divorce and custody of two minor children yesterday in Circuit Court in her suit against James W. Andrews.

The Cresaptown American Legion Auxiliary No. 209 will meet at the Club House tonight at 7:30.

2 VFW Meetings Are Planned

Veterans of Foreign Wars, Henry Hart Post, No. 1411 were informed of two committee sessions that will be held this month when they attended the monthly meeting of the post last night at 7:30 o'clock.

The local session was called by James R. Stemple, past commander who will meet with the degree team in the post home January 30. The other session will be a meeting of District 3, VFW, at Queen's Point Memorial Post, McCoole, Sunday at 2 p. m. George Banzhoff, district commander, called the session.

Carl Ryan, president of the post drum corps, said a drive will be made to increase the unit's strength and added regular drill sessions have been resumed on Monday nights at 7:30 o'clock.

The post membership for 1949 was listed at 914, according to figures released last night. The sick committee was notified that Bruce Richardson and George Lydinger are patients in Newton D. Baker General Hospital and that James Shoemaker has been discharged from that hospital.

An oyster supper was served following the meeting, prepared under the direction of James Robinson, Bruce Castleman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bailey and George Banzhoff.

Kimble Declines Comment On Charter

State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) said last night he has no suggestions or comments to make on the city charter measure, introduced in the House of Delegates yesterday by the Allegany County Delegation, until the delegation finishes work on the bill and sends it over to the Senate.

Kimble said he had been requested by members of the Cumberland Charter Commission last week to introduce the bill in the Senate but that "for some reason" the delegation wanted to introduce it first in the House.

The state senator said he decided against introducing a duplicate bill because at least 400 extra copies of the 57-page measure would have to be printed.

That would be "a waste of time, effort and money," Kimble declared.

Parish Is Granted Residence Permit

D. B. Parish, Pattersons Creek, W. Va., secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a one-half story residence at the rear of 500 Dilley Street, facing Fairview Avenue.

The structure will measure 24 by 26 feet, with a concrete block foundation, brick and frame walls and a composition shingle roof. Work will be done by the owner, at an estimated cost of $5,000.

The Board of Zoning Appeals last week granted Parish permission to locate the residence at that site.

Delegation Introduces Charter Bill In House

Bill Introduced To Increase Size Of School Board

Two Of Five Members Would Be Women

State Senator Robert B. Kimble yesterday introduced a bill into the Senate at Annapolis to specify that the Allegany County Board of Education be increased from three to five members.

At least two of the members would be women, according to the measure.

Terms of the first board, to be appointed by the governor in May, 1949, would be staggered from one to five years, so that thereafter one appointment may be made each year for a five-year term.

Members of the board are now allowed $100 annually for their expenses in attending board meetings. Kimble said last night the bill provides for increasing the allowance up to $200.

The measure was referred to a "select committee" composed of Kimble and Senators David McLaughlin (Washington County) and Edward Storm (Frederick County.)

In an earlier announcement several weeks ago, Kimble said the bill would provide for three of five members to be members of the majority party and the other two to be members of the party polling the next highest vote.

Appointments would be made by the governor as under the present law. The current law also provides that one of three members must be of the minority party.

DAV Hits Workshop

In other action yesterday, the Associated Press reported that the Annapolis Chapter of Disabled American Veterans contended the Maryland Workshop for the Blind seeks "unwarranted authority" to license vending stands operated by the blind in state's public buildings.

The DAV Chapter went on record as opposing a bill before the House of Delegates to give the Workshop exclusive authority to issue the licenses and provide equipment for the stands.

A resolution sent to all senators and delegates by the DAV unit said:

See Offers Measure

"It is evident and apparent that the Maryland Workshop for the Blind seeks enactment of the bill to further its own profit and gain at the expense and detriment of individual blind persons who are desirous of operating such vending stands."

The workshop bill was introduced by Delegate Charles M. See (R-Allegany who is blind himself. See is a member of the Maryland Workshop Board of trustees.

Action Is Deferred Pending Conference

The Allegany County Delegation yesterday submitted the proposed new city charter to the House of Delegates, which referred the measure back to the delegation.

Delegation Chairman Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., said last night that the bill was presented as drawn up by the Cumberland Charter Commission but that "a number of amendments" will be needed.

He added that the delegation plans no action until after its scheduled conference with the Charter Commission at City Hall January 29. State Senator Robert B. Kimble is also expected to attend that conference.

The measure provides for a council-manager form of government and home rule.

Whitworth said the delegation is not prepared as yet to comment on the proposal.

The delegation will hold hearings on the proposed charter if any are requested, Whitworth said.

Council Grants Request

The measure was introduced yesterday afternoon, four hours after Mayor Thomas S. Post and the City Council met in special session and granted the request of the Charter Commission to submit the document to the General Assembly for action.

Although no comment was made pro or con during the session concerning provisions of the charter, it was agreed by all members of the city's governing body that the new charter, if passed by the state legislature, should be placed before the citizens of Cumberland for acceptance or disapproval by referendum, as provided in the charter itself.

If passed by the state legislature, the proposed charter will be placed before the voters of the city in a special election in June.

No Official Stand Taken

The commissioners specifically stated that by granting the request of the charter group to introduce the bill, they were not voicing their approval or disapproval of the proposed basic law.

After the meeting, however, Mayor Thomas S. Post and the commissioners were contacted concerning their views.

Mayor Post stated that he had studied the provisions of the proposal and was in favor of it. He added that although he does not think the charter meets all requirements, he believes it is a definite advancement.

The Mayor also declared that under the home rule bill to be presented by the Maryland League of Municipalities, Cumberland would be able to amend the charter group's basic law as it was deemed necessary.

Police Commissioner William V. Keegan, however, voiced strong objection to the provision which removes the police and fire chiefs, and their assistant chiefs, from placement under Civil Service.

Under the proposed charter, after the present heads have left their offices, through retirement or resignation, their successors will be appointed by the city manager in the "unclassified service."

Keegan Gives Views

Commissioner Keegan said: "The council has just taken the Police and Fire Department out of politics and now the proposed charter will put them back. These appointments are going to become another political football".

Referring to the probable $7,500 to $10,000 salary of the city manager as provided under the proposed charter, Keegan asked: "Where are we going to get the money for his wages? The people are already taxed to death now".

Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, who introduced the motion, stated that in doing so in the special session he was neither for nor against the charter. He declared he believed the citizens should have a chance to decide whether they want to accept it or not.

The opinions of Water Commissioner William J. Edwards and Street Commissioner Edgar Reynolds were similar to the position of Buchholtz.

Seven Secure Applications For Smoke Exam

Filing Deadline Is Friday Afternoon

Seven applicants for the deputy smoke inspector examination have secured blanks at the office of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery but none has returned completed papers as yet, a check revealed yesterday.

Deadline for returning the papers and medical examination reports is Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The examination will be held by the Board of Civil Service Commissioners next Wednesday, January 26, at 7 p. m. at Fort Hill High School.

Other Civil Service examinations scheduled at the same time are those for police officer and stenographer to the chief of police.

Ullery said 16 applicants have taken out papers for the police officer test and that three of the 16 have returned completed forms.

One young woman has secured blanks for the stenographer test, which is limited to women between the ages of 21 and 35.

Probationary police officers receive a salary of $190 monthly, while the stenographer position pays $183.50 monthly.

The Mayor and Council will set the salary of the deputy smoke inspector, who will be employed by contract under probationary rules and regulations. Applicants for that position must be over 21.

Applicants for any of the three examinations must have been residents of Cumberland for the past three years.

Local Persons Plan To Attend Inauguration

Finance Commissioner and Mrs. William H. Buchholtz and their young son, William, Jr., will leave tomorrow to attend the inauguration of President Truman in Washington.

They will be accompanied by the commissioner's mother, Mrs. William Buchholtz, and his wife's aunt, Mrs. Emma Smith.

Buchholtz is president of the Young Democrat Club of Allegany County.

Others planning to attend include William L. Wilson, Jr., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Allegany County; W. Ewald Ruehl and family; and Jacob R. Wolf, a Spanish-American War veteran who is former troop commander of the Third U. S. Cavalry Veterans Association.

Mr. Wolf, who served in the Philippines from 1898 to 1902, is the present secretary-treasurer of the association. Now retired, he was formerly employed in the division accountant's office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Fey Introduces Bill For Mobile Library Unit

$25,000 Would Be Authorized In Levy

Delegate John T. Fey, (R-Allegany) yesterday introduced a bill into the House of Delegates which would authorize the Board of County Commissioners to include in the levy $25,000 to establish a mobile library unit.

The bill was referred to the Allegany County Delegation.

The library unit would serve all sections of the county except incorporated communities. The commissioners would be authorized to employ one or more persons to staff the unit, as necessary.

Delegation Chairman Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., said the county commissioners requested introduction of the measure.

Hearings will be held by the delegation if requested.

Meanwhile, Whitworth said the delegation has approved an enabling act to permit increase of the Prostburg Fire Department tax from five cents up to 12 cents.

The bill, introduced by Delegate Noel Speir Cook, Prostburg, will be reported out favorably today to the House floor for its second reading, the chairman said.

Prostburg firemen said the requested increase, first to be made in 20 years, would raise their annual operating revenue from $3,000 to about $8,000. The department is one of the few in Allegany County which depends solely on city taxation for support.

Meanwhile, Whitworth said the House will adjourn tonight until Monday to permit legislators to attend the inauguration ceremonies tomorrow in Washington, D. C.

He said he believes Cook is the only member of the delegation planning to attend.
